SEC. 24. Other West Coast lumber (Western hemlock and true fir). The maximum prices for other West Coast lumber (Western hemlock and all species of true fir) per one thousand feet board measure where shipment originates at a mill shall be as follows:

["F. O. B. mill" deleted by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

(a) For boards and lath: same as Douglas fir prices.

(b) For all other items, unless specifically provided for: deduct $1.00 per MBM from maximum price for corresponding item in Douglas fir (section 23).

[Paragraphs (a) and (b) amended by Am. 2]

SEC. 25. General notes. (Applies to entire Article V.)

1. Additions for special provisions permitted by this sec. 25 may be made only when the special provisions are not included in the desired grade and are specifically requested by the buyer. When additions are made for paragraphs 300, 301, 302, 303, and 305, the mill must furnish, with a copy retained in each seller's files, an official certificate of grade by the W. C. L. A., P. L. I. B., or any agency approved by the Portland Office of the Office of Price Administration. This certificate must be attached to the original invoice, except on truck orders involving more than one shipment where a certificate must be furnished either upon completion of the order, or at the end of every thirty-day period during the time of shipment on such specific order. This rule applies regardless of quantity, except that an order for less than 10,000 board feet for truck shipment direct to the job may be covered by mill certificate only.

When the buyer specifies inspection by his own or any other agency (which agency must have been approved by the Portland office), the purchaser may pay the cost of inspection without adjustment of the seller's price provided the purchaser shows that he has customarily borne the cost of inspection since October 1, 1941.

[Note 1 amended by Am. 2 and Am. 5, 9 F.R. 1016, effective 2-1-44]

2. For hemlock, no addition may be made for paragraph 302, the grade of select structural, or any stress grade higher than 1450F.

[Footnote 2 amended by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

XV. [Revoked]

[Note XV revoked by Am. 4, 8 F.R. 16249, effective 12-6-43]

XVI. No charge may be made for "hit or miss" dressing. Where charge is established in any table for surfacing ¼" off or for Industrial Standard sizes, such charge is the maximum addition that may be made to the A. L. S. surfaced price for any surfacing thicker or wider than A. L. S. sizes. If a table does not provide a charge for surfacing ¼" off or to Industrial Standard sizes, an addition of $2.00 per M BM may be made for surfacing thicker or wider than A. L. S., only if the table charge for surfacing is specifically for American Lumber Standard sizes. This addition may not be made for hit and miss surfacing, or when machine is set for both width and thickness to full nominal rough size shown in W. C. L. A. Grading and Dressing Rules No. 12.

[Note XVI amended by Am. 4; Am. 9, 9 F.R. 9720, effective 8-14-44; Am. 10, 9 F.R. 11112, effective 9-8-44; Am. 13, 10 F.R. 5099, effective 5-4-45 and Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

XVII. Grade definitions.

1. "E" grade. This grade covers the "droppings" from "D" which would otherwise be wasted, and covers flooring, ceiling, dropsiding, rustic, shiplap, and finish.

The grade will admit the following defects which will not seriously impair the lumber for the use intended with a trim waste not to exceed 25%.

Splits, checks and shake	Not serious.
Tongue and groove	Scant.
Stain	White specks.
Rot	Small spots.
Pitch pockets	Large.

Knot holes, wane and other defects that do not prevent use as cheap flooring, sheathing, finish, etc., in 4' lengths and longer.

2. No. 4. This grade covers the down-fall from 1" and thicker No. 3 which would otherwise be wasted. It may be either rough or surfaced. The defects which include splits, checks, shake, skips, rot, stain, worm holes, pitch pockets, knot holes, wane or other defects which in combination will not impair the lumber for the purpose intended.

3. Shims. Shims are boards that are too thin to be surfaced to standard sizes. They may be of such thicknesses as will surface to 7/16", ½", 9/16", ⅝", or 11/16", H & M, or rough if full thickness. Shims are graded as No. 3 and better or according to the grading rules applying to the similar grade of standard size boards.

[Note 3 amended by Am. 5, 9 F.R. 1016, effective 2-1-44]

XVIII. For bundling: add $1.00 per M to tables 1 and 2 only.

[Note XVIII amended by Am. 2]

XIX. For stenciling when required by the buyer, on 10 percent or more pieces, bundles or packages, of any shipment, to an extent beyond grade marking and/or the simple identification of pieces or lots, add fifty cents per M feet to price of items on which stenciling is required. This charge may not be made for grade marking or for grade or lot identification even though a stencil is employed for such marking.

[Note XIX added by Am. 5; amended by Am. 9 and Am. 10]

XX. Where a footnote under one price table requires the use of a price from another table, then such other table from which the price is obtained shall govern in all respects, including applicable footnotes.

XXI. All rough lumber shall be of sufficient width and thickness to permit dressing S4S to American Lumber Standards.

[Notes XX and XXI added by Am. 5, 9 F.R. 1016, effective 2-1-44]

XXII. For any surfacing that does not remove the item surfaced from being classified as rough lumber, insofar as the table of estimated weights is concerned, no charge may be made for surfacing if rough weight is used. Alternatively, mill may charge for surfacing (where table permits) but in doing so, freight charges must be estimated on net surfaced size under "Shipping Weight Formula for Sizes not Listed."

[Note XXII added by Am. 9; amended by Am. 10 and Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

XXIII (a). The maximum prices for the following grade paragraphs in any table in which these grades are priced apply only to direct-mill shipments (see section 3 (a)) and only where final delivery is to shipyard operations, builders, or repairers of ships, barges or other water transportation equipment: paragraph 284, barge framing; 285, barge planking and decking; 287, ship plank; 288 and 289, scaffold plank, except that maximum prices for paragraphs 288 and 289 may be charged on direct-mill shipments to railroad car builders, railroad car and equipment repair shops, railroad companies or other operators, builders or repairers of essential transportation or communication equipment or to producers and refiners of crude oil.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

(b) The maximum prices in table 13 for ladder and other stock graded under paragraph 295 apply only to direct-mill shipments (see section 3(a)) and only where final delivery is to manufacturers of ladders or ladder repair shops.

(c) The maximum prices in any table for paragraph 296 (pole stock), apply only to direct-mill shipments (see section 3 (a)) and only where final delivery is to manufacturers of agricultural implements.

(d) The maximum prices for paragraphs 292, 294 and 294.1 in any table in which these grades are priced apply only to direct-mill shipments (see section 3 (a)) and only where final delivery is to manufacturers of tanks or other containers historically requiring the use of tank or pipe stave grades.

(e) Exceptions to this note XXIII may, when warranted, be granted upon direct application by the prospective purchaser to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

[Note XXIII added by Am. 13]

XXIV. (a) For open car loading when required by buyer and when material is of a type ordinarily loaded in box cars, a charge of $7.50 per car may be made including the cost of stakes and all other material required to firmly secure the load. Timber 6" thick, wider than 8", and all timbers thicker than 6" are not subject to this charge.

(b) When the conditions in paragraph (a) above are met and where in addition to open car loading the buyer requires packaging in sling-lots or otherwise whereby the load is divided into individual parcels for the purpose of facilitating mechanical unloading, an additional charge of $6.50 per car may be made to cover the cost of all labor and material used in so packaging.

(c) No payment may be made by the buyer under this note when cars of lumber are routed through a custom mill.

[Note XXIV added by Am. 13 and amended by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

XXV. Where purchases are made in random widths and/or thicknesses, shipments may be invoiced at appropriate table prices for the individual widths and thicknesses actually shipped.

[Note XXV added by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

ARTICLE VI—PRICE TABLES FOR EXPORT—"N" LIST

Shipments of Douglas fir and other West Coast lumber originating at a mill, sold for export to or for a destination outside the Continental United States (except Canada and the territories and possessions of the United States, exclusive of the Philippine Islands) including sales or shipments in the course of being exported from the United States or any territory thereof to any foreign nation, may be graded in accordance with "N" Export Grading Rules adopted by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association and British Columbia Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers, Ltd., 1929, and sold at maximum prices to be determined as follows:

A. On sales to departments or agencies of the Government of the United States, apply to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

B. On sales to all other qualified buyers:

1. Where delivery is made f. a. s. vessel at mill's customary loading point, use the prices in the following tables. [All transportation costs and other charges (if any) incident to placing lumber f. a. s. vessel at mill's customary deep-water loading point are for the account of the mill.]

2. Where delivery is made at a point other than mill's customary deep-water loading point (for inland mills this means nearest deep-water loading point), the maximum price is arrived at as follows: Deduct from the prices in the following tables $2.50 per M BM plus transportation cost to customary deep-water loading point; then add actual transportation costs necessary to place lumber f. o. b. car or f. o. b. barge or f. a. s. vessel at such non-customary loading point, and, if delivered f. a. s. vessel, an additional $2.50 per M BM.

ADJUSTABLE PRICING OF CERTAIN COTTON TEXTILES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Supplementary Order No. 114 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 3 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) To what sales and deliveries permission applies. Adjustable pricing permission is granted to converters and processors (other than the producer) and to wholesalers and jobbers (1) in connection with contracts (and deliveries pursuant thereto) and on or after August 7, 1945, for the sale of any cotton textiles listed in Section 5 which have been purchased (or are made from fabrics or yarns which have been purchased) under a reservation of right by their suppliers as permitted by this order, and (2) in connection with contracts (and deliveries pursuant thereto) made for the sale of cotton textiles listed in Supplementary Order 131,[2] which have been purchased (or are made from fabrics or yarn which have been purchased) on or after the date upon which the producer's increase granted in that order is effective.

2. Section 3 (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) Limit on amount reserved. Where goods have been purchased under a reservation of right by the supplier, the amount which the seller reserves the right to charge shall be limited to the same percentage (to be applied in this case to the sellers' maximum prices), as the percentage which, under this order, is specified in a supplier's contract with him as the limit on the additional charge which he may have to pay. In the case of fabrics subject to Maximum Price Regulation No. 127 made from grey goods for which revised prices have been established in Supplementary Order No. 131, the seller may reserve the right to charge the difference between the maximum price based upon the grey goods maximum price in effect on June 1, 1945 and the maximum price computed in accordance with the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 127 using as basic grey goods cost the revised price for grey goods set forth in Supplementary Order No. 131. In the case of varnished insulation fabric subject to Maximum Price Regulation No. 358, the seller may reserve the right to increase his price by the difference between the maximum price of the grey goods in effect on June 1, 1945 and the revised price for the same grey goods set forth in Supplementary Order No. 131. In the case of wholesalers and jobbers of fabrics for which revised prices have been established in Supplementary Order No. 131, who deliver such fabrics under contracts entered into after August 31, 1945, the amount which the seller reserves the right to charge shall be limited to the amount of the difference between his supplier's maximum price on June 1, 1945 and the revised maximum price granted to his supplier after that date.

3. Section 3 (e) is amended to read as follows:

(e) Adjustable pricing permission restricted to products listed in section 5 and in Supplementary Order No. 131. Processors, converters, manufacturers and distributors should especially note that the adjustable pricing permission granted by this order does not apply to any processed or converted goods which are not listed in the Table in section 5 of this Revised Supplementary Order No. 114 or are not listed in Supplementary Order No. 131. Thus, for example, the permission does not apply to dyed yarns, to coated fabrics, or to garments, even if they are made or processed from goods to which the permission does apply.

4. Section 4 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Seller required to give notices to purchaser. Any seller who seeks to exercise the adjustable pricing permission provided for in this revised supplementary order must, in connection with each contract of sale, deliver to the purchaser the following statement in writing, appropriately completed.[3]

For as long as permitted by OPA, ---------- (name of the seller) reserves the right to charge the buyer for any goods delivered pursuant to this contract the difference between the ceiling price in effect on June 1, 1945 and any higher ceiling price which may thereafter be established: Provided, That the additional charge will in no event exceed ------ percent of the ceiling price in effect on June 1, 1945 (or ------ cents per yard, in the case of finished goods made from grey goods for which revised prices have been established under Supplementary Order No. 131). The seller is required by OPA to inform the buyer that the buyer must disregard the foregoing adjustable pricing clause and any additional charge made pursuant to it in determining his ceiling price for resale of the goods purchased under the present contract or for any commodities processed or manufactured from these goods, unless and until specifically authorized otherwise by OPA.

5. Section 5 is amended to read as follows:

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

[Gen. RO 18,[1] Amdt. 5 to Supp. 1]

DISTRIBUTION OF BASES TO CERTAIN FORMER MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES

Schedule III of Supplement No. 1 to General Ration Order 18 is amended in the following respects:

1. The fourth paragraph of section E of the "Instructions" is amended to read as follows:

For example, you might decide to engage in a combination of operations consisting of the production of general bakery products (B2) and the service of coffee and tea (C5). You might decide that you want a 14,300 pound annual sugar base to produce B2 products. 14,300 pounds is equal to 60% of the maximum base which may be assigned under General Ration Order 18. The other rationed foods bases that you select to produce B2 products must be in the same proportion as the base selected for sugar. Since your B2 bases are equivalent to 60% of the maximum permissible bases for B2 products, then you should request a monthly sugar base of not more than 160 pounds of sugar (40% of the maximum permissible base in GRO 18) for the service of tea, coffee, and other C5 products. Thus your percentages for the two operations (B2 and C5) total exactly 100%.

2. The seventh paragraph of section E of the "Instructions" is amended to read as follows:

NOTE. The rationed food bases assigned to you for a particular operation cannot be used interchangeably in your combination of operations. If you receive a base of 160 pounds of sugar for use in the service of coffee and tea, you may not use that sugar base to produce baked goods.

This amendment shall become effective October 23, 1945.

Issued this 19th day of October 1945.

Maximum Price Regulation No. 422 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 2 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) What stores are covered. Your store is covered by this regulation if it is a Group 3 or 4 store as defined below and if you are a retailer who buys and resells food products, generally without materially changing their form, for the most part to ultimate consumers who are not commercial, industrial or institutional users. For the purposes of this regulation, "Great Lakes marine suppliers" shall be considered as retailers. The provisions of this regulation apply to "retail route sellers" only with respect to fresh fruits and vegetables. This regulation does not apply, however, to automatic vending machines, farmers selling produce grown on their own farms, or to sales of "specially prepared dietetic foods" by "health food stores" or "health food departments."

2. Section 16 (i) is added to read as follows:

(i) On and after October 25, 1945, "Great Lakes marine suppliers" are made subject to this regulation in accordance with section 2 (a). If you are a "Great Lakes marine supplier" who is covered by this regulation, you must, by the opening of business on Thursday, October 25, 1945, have figured your ceiling price in accordance with sections 3 and 4 for each item of "dry groceries" which you have in stock at that time. For each such item which you do not have in stock at that time, you must figure your ceiling price in accordance with section 5. You must figure your ceiling price in accordance with sections 7 and 8 for each item of "perishables." However, in doing so, you must substitute the date October 25, 1945 for the date August 5, 1943, whenever it appears in sections 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8.

3. Section 36 (i) is added to read as follows:

(i) Great Lakes marine supplier. "Great Lakes marine supplier" means a person operating a selling establishment which buys and resells food products for the most part to "operators of a lake vessel or vessels," for consumption aboard such vessel or vessels, with delivery from shore locations by use of truck or launch facilities. TITLE 43—PUBLIC LANDS: INTERIOR

Chapter I—General Land Office

[Circ. 1486b]

PART 240—PUBLIC LAND RECORDS

FILING OF TOWNSHIP PLATS

Section 240.3, as amended by Circular 1597 of March 5, 1945, is further amended to read as follows:

§ 240.3 Filing of township plats. Upon acceptance of a survey by the General Land Office, the original plat will be returned to the district cadastral engineer and the triplicate copy sent to the register of the appropriate district land office, by registered mail, with a return receipt requested. The duplicate copy will be retained in the General Land Office. The district cadastral engineer and the register will, immediately upon receipt of the plat, place it of record in their open files. Such plat will then be available to the public as a matter of information only, with respect to the technical data and land descriptions appearing thereon, and copies of such plat and the related field notes will be furnished upon payment of costs as provided in this part. When the register is directed to file the plat without the usual public notice, he will regard such plat as officially filed in his office on the date he signs the registry return receipt. Such return receipt will constitute notice to the General Land Office that the plat has been officially filed on that date.

If public notice of the filing of the plat is to be given, the Commissioner shall prepare the notice for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER and simultaneously mail a copy of the notice to the register. Unless otherwise directed, the register will regard such plat as officially filed in his office, and the lands as subject to entry and disposal, at the time and in the manner specified in the copy of the notice received by him.

The register will give publicity to the filing of the plat as follows:

(a) He will at once post the approved notice in a conspicuous place in his office. The notice must be kept posted until the plat has been officially filed and for such additional time, if any, as may be allowed by the notice for the presentation of preference right claims.

(b) He will send a copy of the notice to the postmaster in the town in which the district land office is situated and the postmasters of the post offices nearest the land, to the clerk or clerks of courts of record in the town where the land office is located and in the county where the land is situated, and to such officers of any adjoining county or counties deemed advisable by him.

(c) He will also furnish, as a matter of news, copies of the notice to the newspapers published in the town where the land office is situated and in the neighborhood of the land, particularly in the county in which the land is located, and to newspapers known to have a circulation in the vicinity of the land.

Where there is no district land office in a State, the Commissioner will prepare all necessary notices, and will give substantially the same publicity to the filing of the plat as is indicated above.

[Docket No. G-622]

UNITED GAS PIPE LINE CO.

ORDER REOPENING PROCEEDING AND FIXING DATE FOR FURTHER HEARING

OCTOBER 17, 1945.

It appears to the Commission that:

(a) By the Commission's Opinion No. 124 and accompanying order entered July 5, 1945, in Docket No. G-622, United Gas Pipe Line Company ("Applicant") was authorized to construct and operate the following-described facilities:

(1) Approximately 143 miles of 24-inch O. D. natural-gas transmission pipeline beginning at a gasoline plant to be constructed by Applicant in the Carthage gas field near Carthage, Panola County, Texas, and extending in an easterly direction to a point of connection with Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company's existing main 24-inch natural-gas transmission line at the latter's Monroe, Louisiana, compressor station, thence in a northeasterly direction to a point of connection with Applicant's existing pipeline facilities in the Monroe gas field at Applicant's Sterlington compressor station, together with appurtenant facilities, including three measuring stations and a parallel telephone line;[1]

(2) Approximately 4½ miles of 18-inch outside diameter natural-gas transmission pipeline beginning at the gasoline plant of The Chicago Corporation in the Carthage gas field and extending to a point of connection with the above-described 24-inch pipeline at the discharge side of Applicant's proposed gasoline plant in the Carthage field, together with appurtenant facilities, including a gas measuring station and a parallel telephone line.

(b) The Commission's aforesaid order of July 5, 1945, authorized Applicant to: (1) transport for Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company ("Tennessee Company"), by means of the above-described facilities, a maximum of 114,000 Mcf of natural gas per day (subject to further order of the Commission) from the Carthage field in Texas to Tennessee's Monroe, Louisiana, compressor station and (2) transport for the duration of the war emergency period by means of such facilities a maximum of 65,000 Mcf of natural gas per day (subject to further order of the Commission) from the Carthage field in Texas to the Monroe field area in Louisiana for service to customers presently being served by Applicant.

(c) On October 1, 1945, applicant filed a supplemental application requesting the Commission to amend or supplement its order entered July 5, 1945, in Docket No. G-622 so as to authorize Applicant:

(1) In order to provide an emergency supply of natural gas to the Memphis Natural Gas Company ("Memphis Company") from sources outside the Monroe field until such time as the facilities which the Commission authorized the Memphis Company to construct and operate in Docket Nos. G-522 and G-549[2] are completed and placed in operation, to transport from the Lisbon field to Memphis Company, under an "Interim Agreement" dated September 6, 1945, through Applicant's Sarepta-Sterlington line, approximately 4,250,000 Mcf of natural gas during the first 12 months of service, and also to sell to Memphis Company under such agreement an additional 4,250,000 Mcf of natural gas during such first 12 months of service, such gas to be delivered to Memphis Company from Applicant's Sarepta-Sterlington line at a point in the Monroe field. During the term of the "Interim Agreement", Applicant proposes to transport into the Monroe area from the Carthage field through its Carthage-Sterlington pipeline volumes of gas equivalent to those sold and transported to Memphis Company through the Sarepta-Sterlington line in order to maintain deliveries to Applicant's other customers now being served from the Sarepta-Sterlington line.

(2) To transport through the Carthage-Sterlington pipeline and sell to Southern Natural Gas Company ("Southern Natural") under an agreement dated September 7, 1945, approximately 26 per cent of Southern Natural's natural-gas requirements until October 31, 1965. Applicant states that approximately 19,003,000 Mcf will be sold to Southern Natural during the first 12 months of service.

(3) To transport through the Carthage-Sterlington pipeline and sell to Mississippi River Fuel Corporation ("Mississippi River Fuel") under an agreement dated September 7, 1945, the same percentage of the latter's requirements as is provided for in an existing agreement, until November 1, 1966, except that Applicant may be required to deliver a greater percentage of such requirements. The estimated quantity of gas proposed to be transported and sold to Mississippi River Fuel during the first 12 months of service is 18,470,000 Mcf.

(4) Sell approximately 6,650 Mcf of natural gas annually to United Gas Corporation for resale to the town of Calhoun, Louisiana.

(5) Construct and operate the following-described facilities: (i) For the delivery of gas to United Gas Corporation for resale at Calhoun, Louisiana—approximately eight-tenths (0.8) mile of pipeline, 2 inches in diameter, with appurtenant connection, valves and measuring station. Also connections to serve farm tap consumers along the route of the line.

(ii) For the delivery of gas to Southern Natural—approximately 1,700 feet of pipeline, 16 inches in diameter, extending from the terminus of Applicant's Sterlington-Perryville pipeline to the point of delivery to Southern Natural in the Monroe field known as that Company's Logansport Receiving Station; and a metering station at such point of delivery.

(iii) The installation of three check metering stations, at or near the site of its Sterlington, Louisiana, compressing station, to measure the gas delivered from the Carthage-Sterlington pipeline into Applicant's other lines.

The Commission finds that: It is necessary and appropriate in the public interest that the record in the above-docketed proceeding be reopened for the purpose of taking evidence with respect to the matters involved and issues presented by the supplemental application filed herein.

The Commission orders that:

(A) The record in the above-docketed proceeding be and it is hereby reopened for the purpose of taking evidence, respecting the matters involved and the issues presented by the supplemental application filed herein, at a public hearing to be held commencing October 24, 1945, at 10 a. m. in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, D. C.

(B) All interveners in this matter may participate in the reopened proceeding in accordance with leave heretofore granted by the Commission.

(C) Interested State commissions may participate in said hearing as provided in § 67.4 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

[Region II Order G-6 Under RMPR 251]

CONSTRUCTION WORK IN BINGHAMTON, NEW YORK, AREA

An opinion accompanying this order issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of Federal Register.

In the judgment of the Regional Administrator of Region II of the Office of Price Administration, the maximum prices established and the regulations prescribed by this order are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250 and 9599, and do not exceed the general level of prices fixed by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, and the general level of prices in the area.

Therefore, under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region II of the Office of Price Administration by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and by section 9 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, this order is hereby issued.

SECTION 1. Transactions covered by this order. This order covers all sales of composition re-siding and re-roofing on an installed basis, together with accessories on residential structures in the area hereinafter described. It also includes related and incidental construction work when sold by installers of re-siding and re-roofing, whether such sale is made as a part of a general contract or not.

The term "composition re-siding" includes asphalt shingle re-siding, asbestos cement re-siding, insulated brick or stone re-siding and roll brick re-siding but shall not include wood shingles or wood re-siding.

The term "re-roofing" includes composition re-roofing such as asphalt shingles and mineral surface roll re-roofing and smooth surface roll re-roofing but does not include wood, metal or slate re-roofing.

The term "related" and "incidental" construction work means any installation of building materials or construction work other than installed re-roofing and re-siding, when sold by installers of re-roofing and re-siding.

SEC. 2. Relationship of this order to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. (a) The provisions of this order supersede sections 6, 7 and 8 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 with respect to sales of re-roofing and composition re-siding on an installed basis on residential structures and with respect to related and incidental construction work sold by installers of composition re-siding and re-roofing on an installed basis. All other provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 are applicable to transactions subject to this order unless otherwise provided in this order.

(b) On and after the effective date of this order, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell, offer to sell or deliver composition re-siding and re-roofing on residential structures on an installed basis or related and incidental construction work as herein defined at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this order: Provided, That deliveries made not more than thirty days after the effective date of this order on bona fide contracts executed prior to the effective date of this order shall not be considered to be violations of this order.

(c) An employer paying or about to pay labor rates higher than those in effect for him on the effective date of this order by reason of the predetermination of wage rates by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act or any order or authorization of the Wage Adjustment Board, National War Labor Board or Economic Stabilization Director, may file an application for an amendment of this order to reflect such increased labor rates. Such a petition for amendment shall conform in all respects to the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, except that it shall be filed with the New York Regional Office or the Office of Price Administration.

On all sales of re-roofing on silos, an additional charge of $50.00 may be added to the maximum price as computed under the provisions of this order.

SEC. 5. Guaranteed price. A seller may sell a composition re-siding or re-roofing job covered by this order on the basis of a guaranteed price, but such guaranteed price must not be higher than the maximum price figures in accordance with the pricing methods and requirements of this order.

SEC. 6. Related and incidental construction work. If on any job, any installed building materials are furnished or any construction service performed by the seller, other than composition re-siding and re-roofing, the cost of such work shall not be included in the cost of installed composition re-siding and re-roofing, but shall be separately priced and billed on all invoices. The maximum price of any such related and incidental work shall be determined under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251.

SEC. 7. Measurements. It shall be the seller's responsibility to measure with reasonable accuracy the area or footage to be covered. A "measurement with reasonable accuracy" shall be considered to have been made if the price based on such estimate does not vary by more than 10% from the maximum price computed under the terms of this order.

SEC. 8. Notification. Every person making sales subject to this order shall, if requested by the purchaser, make available to the purchaser a copy of this order and a copy of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. Upon completion of any contract for installed re-siding and/or re-roofing, and/or related and incidental construction work, the seller, if requested by the purchaser, must furnish to him an itemized statement showing the number of squares, the maximum price per square of re-siding and re-roofing installed, a list of all extras and the quantities and price of each and a separate statement of any related and incidental construction work other than installed re-siding and re-roofing giving a description of such work and an itemized statement of the prices thereof. The seller shall also include in such statement the date on which the installation was completed, the names and addresses of the sellers and buyers and the terms of sale.

SEC. 9. Evasion. Any practice or device which results in a higher price to the purchaser of composition re-siding and re-roofing on an installed basis and/or related and incidental construction work than is permitted by this order is as much a violation as an outright over ceiling charge and subjects the seller to all the penalties provided by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251.

SEC. 10. Records. All sellers of installed composition re-siding and re-roofing and/or related and incidental construction work covered by the terms of this order must keep records concerning each sale subject to this order, including the name and address of the purchaser, the location of the job, the date of the transaction, a description of the materials and services involved, the number of squares and price per square of re-siding and re-roofing, a list of all extras permitted under Tables I and II of this order with the quantity and price of each, and a separate statement of any related and incidental construction work. All such records shall be made available for inspection by representatives of the Office of Price Administration so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

SEC. 11. Revocation or Amendment. This order may be revised, amended, revoked or modified at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

This order shall become effective October 16, 1945.

(a) What this order does. This adopting order establishes dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for specified solid fuels when sold and delivered by dealer in the area set out herein. These fuels are described and the maximum prices are set forth in paragraph (d) hereof.

This addition may not be made to the prices named for stoker pea, since the price already includes this 10¢ increase. At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 17th day of October 1945.

In the matter of Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company, Miami Power Corporation, the Union Light, Heat and Power Company, File No. 70–1137; and Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, File No. 54–117; and Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation and its subsidiary companies, Respondents, File No. 59–72.

The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company, a public utility subsidiary of Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, a registered holding company, having filed an application under section 6 (b) and amendments thereto for exemption from the provisions of sections 6 (a) and 7 of the act of the issue and sale, pursuant to the competitive bidding provisions of Rule U-50, of $45,500,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds and the issue of 270,000 shares of new preferred stock and the offer of exchange of such stock for its outstanding preferred stock and the sale of the unexchanged portion of such new preferred stock to underwriters; and

The Commission having by order dated October 5, 1945, granted said application, except as to the price to be paid for said bonds and new preferred stock, the redemption prices therefor, the interest and dividend rates thereon, respectively, the underwriters' spread on the bonds and its allocation, the compensation to be paid the underwriters for their agreement to purchase the unexchanged portion of the new preferred stock and their services in effectuating exchanges, and all legal fees and expenses to be paid in connection with the proposed transaction, as to which matters jurisdiction was reserved; and

The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company having filed an amendment to the application in which it is stated that in accordance with the permission granted by the said order of this Commission dated October 5, 1945, it offered such bonds and the unexchanged shares of the preferred stock for sale pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 and received certain combination and separate bids, described below. The interest and dividend rates on the bonds and the preferred stocks, respectively, the over-all price offered to be paid to the company by each of the bidders, the compensation to be paid the underwriters for their agreement to purchase the unexchanged shares of preferred stock and their services in effectuating exchanges, and the annual cost of money to the company computed to reflect the foregoing, are as follows:

	Interest or dividend rate	Price to company	Underwriters' compensation	Annual cost of money
Bond bids	Percent			Dollars	Percent
Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.	2¾	$100.5859		1,238,191.96	2.721

It is further stated that The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company has accepted the combination bid, as set out above, of Morgan, Stanley and W. E. Hutton & Company as representatives of and on behalf of a group of underwriters. The combination bid is stated to result in a total "annual cost of money" to the company, as determined by the bidding specifications, of approximately $6300 less than the best combination of separate bids. The bonds are to be resold to the public at a price of 101% of their principal amount, which represents a spread of .66009%. The unexchanged shares of the preferred stock are to be sold to the public at $106 per share, the price paid to the company, as set out above.

The Commission having examined said amendment and having considered the record herein, including the objections of Halsey, Stuart & Company to the acceptance of the combination bid set out above, and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the prices to be paid for said bonds and the unexchanged shares of the preferred stock, the redemption prices therefor, the interest and dividend rates thereon, respectively, the underwriters' spread on the bonds and its allocation, the compensation to be paid the underwriters for their agreement to purchase the unexchanged portion of preferred stock and their services in effectuating exchanges, and the expenses incurred in connection with the proposed transactions;

It is ordered, That jurisdiction heretofore reserved over the prices to be paid for the bonds and the unexchanged shares of preferred stock, the redemption prices therefor, the interest and dividend rates thereon, respectively, the underwriters' spread on the bonds and its allocation, the compensation to be paid the underwriters for their agreement to purchase the unexchanged shares of the preferred stock and their services in effectuating exchanges, and the expenses incurred in connection with the proposed transactions, be, and the same hereby is, released, and said application be, and the same hereby is, granted, subject, however, to the terms and conditions prescribed in our Rule U-24 and to our previous reservation of jurisdiction over all legal fees to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

SECTION 1. Definitions. The terms used herein shall have the same definitions as are set forth in the orders. In addition, for the purpose only of classifying and accounting for milk under the terms of the orders, other terms shall have the meanings set forth in this section.

(a) "The orders" means Order No. 27 as amended, issued by the Secretary,[1] and revised official Order No. 126 as amended, issued by the Commissioner.[2]

(b) The term "pooled", when used in conjunction with milk, butterfat, skim milk, or other dairy product, means that the butterfat in such product or the skim milk in such product was at some time received from producers in the form of milk at a pool plant.

(c) The term "exempt", when used in conjunction with milk, butterfat, skim milk, or other dairy product, means that the milk equivalent of the butterfat in such product or the skim milk in such product is exempt from the computation of the uniform price, pursuant to § 927.7 of the orders.

[2] Not filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

(e) "Milk" means (1) the product delivered to a plant by dairy farmers as cow's milk, or (2) the product composed of skim milk and of not less than 3 percent nor more than 15 percent butterfat. In sections 2, 3, and 4 of these rules and regulations, when the fermented cream is referred to, the term "sour cream" will be used.

(k) "Frozen cream" (sometimes referred to as storage cream), means pooled cream which has met the requirements necessary for the classification of the milk equivalent of such cream as Class II–B frozen cream pursuant to § 927.4 (c) (5) of the orders.

SEC. 2. Procedure for accounting for the receipt and disposition of butterfat, and plant loss. Milk shall be classified and accounted for on a monthly basis in accordance with the form in which the butterfat from such milk is held at or moved from the plant at which classification is to be determined pursuant to § 927.4 (a) (3) of the orders. Before classifying milk the butterfat in milk shall be accounted for in accordance with provisions of this section and shall be classified in the same classes as the milk equivalent of such butterfat is required, pursuant to § 927.4 of the orders, to be classified. Any deductions or additions required in any paragraph shall be made to the result obtained after all additions or deductions required in the preceding paragraphs have been made.

(a) Tabulate the total pounds of butterfat in the opening inventories in each product and received at the plant in each product. Butterfat should be shown separately in packaged and bulk forms. The total of all butterfat so tabulated shall be known as the total butterfat to be accounted for.

PART 602—GENERAL ORDERS AND DIRECTIVES

BITUMINOUS COAL AVAILABLE FOR EXPORT

Pursuant to SFAW Regulation No. 31, as amended, SFAW has approved the export of tonnages of strip and lower grade bituminous coal produced in northern West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Alabama, and certain coal in surplus supply in Oklahoma, New Mexico and West Kentucky. Substantially all of such coal is mine run. This office has repeatedly emphasized that consumers and retail dealers desiring to purchase such coal may do so. Demand for this coal may have been stimulated by curtailment of production due to the recent widespread work stoppages in the bituminous mines.

Retail dealers and consumers are hereby notified that if they desire to purchase any of the coal available for export from the United States, they should communicate with the SFAW Area Distribution Manager for the district in which the coal is produced.

Issued this 18th day of October 1945.

C. J. POTTER.

PROHIBITION OF SHIPMENTS OF BITUMINOUS COAL TO INDUSTRIAL CONSUMERS HAVING 45 DAYS' OR MORE SUPPLY

On October 17, 1945, SFAW issued a notice of direction to all persons shipping bituminous coal produced in Districts 1–4 inclusive, and 6–8, inclusive, and to certain dock operators. By the second paragraph of that direction, shippers of coal produced in Districts 1–4, inclusive, and 6–8, inclusive, and all commercial dock operators except commercial dock operators located on the Great Lakes, are prohibited from shipping during any calendar month, any bituminous coal to any industrial consumer whose days' supply of coal, as of the last day of the preceding month, is 45 days or more.

Shippers who have surplus coal available after meeting all orders required or permitted to be filled under SFAW Regulation No. 27, as amended, and outstanding orders and directions, are required to report such surplus tonnage to the Area Distribution Manager for the district in which the coal is produced. The Area Distribution Manager is authorized to permit distribution of such surplus tonnage to consumers having 45 days' or more supply of coal on hand if, in the judgment of the Area Distribution Manager, such tonnage is not more urgently required by other consumers or retail dealers. Shippers, when reporting surplus tonnage, may request permission from the Area Distribution Manager to ship such surplus in whole or in part to industrial consumers whose days' supply of coal is 45 days or more.

In the event that a consumer whose days' supply of coal is 45 days or more will experience extreme hardship from the application of the prohibition contained in the direction because of inability to obtain his full monthly coal requirements or for other reasons, the shipper supplying coal to such consumer may request the SFAW Area Distribution Manager for the district in which the coal is produced for relaxation of the prohibition. The Area Distribution Manager is authorized to relax the prohibition when it is demonstrated that such relaxation is required to eliminate extreme hardship but in no event shall such consumer be permitted to obtain from all sources more than 50 per cent of his monthly consumption requirements.

Issued this 18th day of October 1945.

C. J. POTTER,

PREFERENCE SHIPMENTS ON BITUMINOUS COAL

(Notice of direction to shippers of coal produced in Districts 2, 7 or 8 moving via the Great Lakes, issued September 14, 1945.) Shippers of coal produced in Districts 1, 3, 4 or 6 shall first fill commitments for coal moving via the Great Lakes to any dock or other unloading facility except those located at the points set forth above. (Notice of direction to shippers of coal produced in Districts 1, 3, 4 or 6 moving via the Great Lakes, issued October 15, 1945.)

2. Second preference—shippers of coal produced in any district shall accord a second preference to orders for special purpose coal to the extent set forth in § 602.702 of SFAW Regulation No. 27, as amended.

3. Third preference—shippers of coal produced in Districts 1–4, inclusive, 6–11, inclusive, or 13 shall accord a third preference to orders to the extent set forth in § 602.703 of SFAW Regulation No. 27, as amended.

4. Fourth preference—shippers of coal produced in Districts 1–4, inclusive, 6–11, inclusive, shall accord a fourth preference to orders for coal moving via the Great Lakes not entitled to first preference, as indicated above.

After making shipments in accordance with the above preference schedules, shippers of bituminous coal may then make shipments in accordance with the provisions of SFAW Regulation No. 27, as amended.

Issued this 18th day of October 1945.

Deputy Solid Fuels Administrator for War.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 3, as Amended Oct. 22, 1945]

§ 944.23 Priorities Regulation 3—(a) Purpose of this regulation. This regulation states the rules for the use of preference ratings, what kind of purchase orders or services may be rated and how a rating may be put on an order. It also places restrictions on the use of ratings and includes lists of products for which ratings may not be used at all. In general this regulation should be consulted before using a rating whether it was gotten directly from the War Production Board or from a customer.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this regulation:

(1) "Person" and "material" mean the same thing they do in Priorities Regulation 1.

(2) "Assignment" of a preference rating. A preference rating is assigned to a person when the War Production Board or someone that it has authorized issues an order or preference rating certificate giving him the right to use the rating.

(3) "Application" of a preference rating. A preference rating is applied when the person to whom it is assigned uses the rating. A rating is applied also when any governmental agency which is authorized by the War Production Board rates an order for delivery of material directly to it.

(4) "Extension" of a preference rating. A preference rating is extended when it is used by the person to whom it is applied or extended by another person.

(c) Use of ratings in general. (1) When a regulation, preference rating order or preference rating certificate assigns a rating to any person, either by naming him or by describing the class of persons to which he belongs, that person may apply the rating to get delivery of material or the performance of certain services. Also, a person may under certain conditions extend a rating which has been applied or extended to his deliveries of material, but not one applied to services. More detailed rules as to how and when ratings may be applied or extended are set out below in this regulation.

(2) When a War Production Board order or certificate states the quantities and kinds of material or the particular services which are rated, the person to whom it is assigned may use the rating to get only that quantity and kind of material or that particular service named in the order or certificate. If the quantities of material are not stated in the order or certificate assigning the rating it may be applied only to get the minimum amount needed.

(3) No person may place rated orders for more material than he is authorized to rate even though he intends to cancel some of the orders or reduce the quantity of material ordered to the authorized amount before it is all delivered.

(d) When AAA or MM ratings may be extended for material. The following provisions of this paragraph (d) apply to all extensions of AAA or MM preference ratings to get deliveries of material, unless they are modified by or are inconsistent with the provisions of any particular order.

(1) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(2) When a person has received a AAA or MM rated order for the delivery of material, he may extend the AAA or MM rating to get the material which he will deliver on that order, or which will be physically incorporated in material which he will deliver. If the material is to be processed, this includes the portion of it which would normally be consumed or converted into scrap or by-products in the course of processing.

(3) If a person has made delivery of material, or has incorporated it into other material which he has delivered on an AAA or MM rated order, he may extend the AAA or MM rating to replace it in his inventory. However, if after delivering the material he still has a practicable working minimum inventory he may not extend the AAA or MM rating to replace the material delivered; and if by making the delivery his inventory is reduced below this minimum, the AAA or MM rating may be extended to get only the amount necessary to restore the inventory to a practicable working minimum. Any material ordered to replace in inventory must be substantially the same as the material which the person delivered or incorporated in the material which he delivered, except for minor variations in size, shape or design.

(4) A person to whom a rating of AAA or MM has been applied or extended to get material may not extend that AAA or MM rating to get any material for his own plant improvement expansion or construction, or to get machine tools or other items which he will carry as capital equipment, or to get business machines for his own use whether purchased or leased, or to get maintenance, repair or operating supplies for his own use.

(d–1) CC ratings may not ordinarily be extended. CC ratings may not be extended by a supplier to get production materials needed to make the item sold to his customer, or to replace in inventory materials used to make the item or to get containers or closures needed to pack the item. A distributor, warehouse, retailer, or other person who resells the item without further fabrication may extend the CC rating where he does not have the item in inventory, but may not extend the rating to replace the item in inventory.

A textile converter receiving a CC rating from his customer for finished fabric may extend the rating to get the gray fabric (including the portion of it which would normally be consumed or converted into scrap or by-product in the course of processing) which he will deliver in finished state on that order, or to replace in inventory fabric used to fill the order. However, if after delivering the material he still has a practicable working minimum inventory he may not extend the CC rating to replace the material delivered; and if by making the delivery his inventory is reduced below this minimum, the CC rating may be extended to get only the amount necessary to restore the inventory to a practicable working minimum. Any material ordered to replace inventory must be substantially the same (except for the finishing) as the material which the person delivered, except for minor variations in construction.

(e) Additional restrictions upon use of ratings for certain materials. Because of special circumstances which exist with respect to certain materials and products, the use of preference ratings to get items on List A attached to this regulation is restricted as follows:

(1) Items as to which preference ratings have no effect; List A. Any item on List A may be produced or delivered without regard to preference ratings. No person shall apply or extend any rating to get any of these items and no person selling any such item shall require a rating as a condition of sale. Any rating purporting to be applied or extended to any such item shall be void and no person shall give any effect to it in filling an order.

(2) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(3) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(f) Use of ratings for services—(1) Ratings may not be used for personal services. Preference ratings may never be used to get labor or personal services as distinct from services performed in the course of a regular business involving the use of plant, machinery or equipment owned by the person furnishing the services. For example, ratings may be used to get a repair job done in a repair shop as explained below but may not be used to compel an individual employee to work on a repair job or to obtain the services of a consulting engineer.

(2) Three cases where ratings may be used for services. There are only three situations in which a preference rating may be used to get services, as distinct from the production or delivery of material:

(i) A rating assigned for the purpose. If the War Production Board assigns a rating to a named person to get specified services, he may use the rating for that purpose.

(ii) For processing. When a person has a rating which he may use to get processed material, he may (unless prohibited by another regulation or order) furnish the unprocessed material to a processor and use the same rating to get it processed.

(iii) For repairs. A rating assigned on Form WPB–541 (formerly PD–1A), or WPB–542 (formerly PD–3A), or any other rating which may be applied to the delivery of specific repair parts or materials, may also be applied to the installation of the repair parts or materials or to the repair job alone if it is found that installing the parts or materials is not necessary. However, in the case of ordinary plumbing, heating, electrical, automotive or refrigeration repairs, a rating may not be applied to repair work even if the rating is expressly applicable to repair parts or materials. As used in this subparagraph "repair" means to fix a plant, machinery or equipment after it has broken down or when it is about to break down. "Repair" does not mean upkeep or maintenance service such as periodic inspection, cleaning, painting, lubricating, etc.

(3) Ratings for services only may not be extended. A person to whom a rating for services, as distinct from the production or delivery of material, has been applied or extended may not extend the rating for any purpose.

(g) How to apply or extend a rating. (1) When a person applies or extends a preference rating he must put the rating (and symbol, if appropriate) on the order together with a certification signed as prescribed in Priorities Regulation 7. He may use the standard certification set out in that regulation, or if he prefers the following:

CERTIFICATION

The undersigned purchaser hereby represents to the seller and to the War Production Board that he is entitled to apply or extend the preference ratings indicated opposite the items shown on this order, and that such application or extension is in accordance with Priorities Regulation 3 as amended, with the terms of which the undersigned is familiar.

The person who receives the certification shall be entitled to rely on it as a representation of the buyer unless he knows or has reason to know that it is false.

(4) When a person applies or extends a rating he shall also include on his purchase order or contract any information which may be required by any applicable War Production Board order.

(5) Each person who applies or extends a rating must keep at his regular place of business all documents including purchase orders and preference rating orders and certificates which authorize him to apply or extend the rating. These documents, orders and certificates must be kept in such a way that they can be readily segregated and furnished to representatives of the War Production Board for inspection.

(6) When either certification authorized in this paragraph (g) is used it will not be necessary to use any other certification in order to apply or extend a preference rating, nor will it be necessary to furnish a copy of any preference rating order no matter what any regulation, preference rating order or preference rating certificate says unless it expressly states that this regulation does not apply.

(7) No person shall knowingly purport to apply or extend a preference rating to any order unless he is entitled to do so. No person shall apply or extend a rating for material or services after he has received the material or after the services have been performed, and any person who receives such a rating shall not extend it.

(h) Provisions applicable to extensions; deferment and grouping. No matter what any applicable preference rating order or certificate may say,

(1) No person may extend any rating to replace inventory after three months have passed from the time he could have first extended it;

(2) When a person has two or more ratings of the same grade which were assigned by different preference rating certificates or orders he may combine them and extend them to one delivery; and

(3) When a person has two or more ratings of different grades, or where they were assigned by the same or different certificates or orders, he may extend them to deliveries under one purchase order. However, the purchase order must show the amount of each material to which a particular grade of rating is extended. If the type and quantity of the material is such that the supplier can readily determine the exact effect of the extension of the rating on his production and delivery schedule from percentage figures alone, then the purchase order may show the amount of the material to which the particular grade of rating is extended on a percentage basis; otherwise, it must be shown as a separate item. In order to avoid production or delivery of material in quantities smaller than the minimum commercially practicable a person may combine ratings of different grades and extend the rating of the lowest grade to the total production or delivery.

(i) Restrictions in other orders. When any person applies or extends a rating he shall be subject to any applicable rule or restriction which may be set forth in the order of the War Production Board which assigns the rating or any other order which regulates transactions in the material or the facilities for which he is using the rating. This includes restrictions as to the kind and amount of material to which ratings may be applied or extended, requirements for written approval of any particular transaction, restrictions on certain uses of material or facilities and any other rules which may be applicable to the particular transaction. However, the rules of paragraph (g) (6) apply unless some other order or certificate expressly says that they do not.

Interpretation 1 of Priorities Regulation 3

[Revoked Nov. 17, 1943.]

EFFECT OF LIST A ON UNFILLED ORDERS

The restrictions on the use of ratings for the items on List A apply to orders for such items which had been placed before the date the item was put on the list but were not yet filled. (Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 3: Revoked Oct. 1, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 4: Revoked Oct. 1, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 5

RESTRICTIONS OF OTHER ORDERS

(a) Restrictions of other orders on use of ratings or delivery. The provisions of paragraph (e) relate only to the items which appear on the list. When any other order of the War Production Board restricts the use of preference ratings to obtain any product, or restricts delivery of a product in any way, those restrictions are applicable even though that product is not listed in Priorities Regulation 3 (§ 944.23).

(b) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 6

EFFECT OF PREFERENCE RATING CERTIFICATE REFERRING TO PRODUCT OF A PARTICULAR MANUFACTURER

(a) When a preference rating certificate in assigning a rating to a product describes the product by its trade name or by the manufacturer's name and catalogue number, the rating may ordinarily be used to get the product from any manufacturer if the model actually obtained is substantially identical in size, operation and function with that named in the certificate.

(b) The rule stated in the preceding paragraph is consistent with the statement in paragraph (c) (2) of Priorities Regulation 3 (§ 944.23), that a preference rating may be applied only to the specific quantities and kinds of material authorized. Ordinarily a reference in a preference rating certificate to a particular product of a particular manufacturer is no more than a shorthand way of describing the product. It is safe to assume, unless the certificate clearly states otherwise, that what is being rated is a certain kind and size of product which may be obtained from any manufacturer who makes that kind and size. If it is intended to confine the rating to a particular product of a particular manufacturer, the certificate should say so explicitly. (Issued Sept. 8, 1943.)

INTERPRETATION 7: Revoked Oct. 1, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 8: Revoked Oct. 1, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 9: Revoked Oct. 1, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 10

USE OF RATING TO OBTAIN LEASED MACHINERY

(a) A preference rating which has been assigned for the delivery of an item of machinery or equipment may be used to lease the equipment as long as the following conditions are fulfilled:

(1) The lease must be a long-term semipermanent arrangement where both parties contemplate the comparatively permanent installation of the machine or equipment. For instance, a rating could be used to obtain a machine under lease where the lease was for one year, with provision for renewal at the end of each year, and both parties expected that the lease would be renewed from time to time. However, the rating could not be used to obtain a machine for a month's use.

(2) If the rating is limited by specific dollar amount it may be used only to lease machinery or equipment whose fair market value is no greater than the amount specified.

(b) If the instrument assigning the ratings specifies a lease rather than a purchase, it is not necessary to comply with the above conditions. (Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 11: Revoked Oct. 1, 1945.

RECORDS OF EXPORTERS

Paragraph (f) (5) of Priorities Regulation No. 3 requires each person who applies or extends a rating to keep all documents including preference rating orders and certificates which authorize him to apply or extend the rating at his regular place of business. The Foreign Economic Administration and its predecessors, the Board of Economic Warfare and the Office of Economic Warfare, have assigned preference ratings to exporters for export by endorsing appropriate legends upon export licenses. The original of every export license, however, is required by other government regulations to be surrendered to export officials at the time of shipment. Consequently, persons who receive their assignments of preference ratings on export licenses are not in a position to retain the original of the export license and thus are not required to do so by paragraph (g) (5) except only in those cases where other government regulations do not require the surrender to the government of the documents referred to. However, such persons must keep any copies of the export licenses which are returned to them for their files. (Issued August 24, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 13

TIME LIMIT ON USE OF RATINGS

Preference ratings may not be extended to replace material in inventory after three months from the time delivery was made to the customer. This is the rule of paragraph (h) (1) of the regulation.

When a rating is being applied (except a blanket rating such as one assigned by CMP Regulation 5) or when any rating is extended for some purpose other than to replace inventory, this may be done only within a reasonable time after the rating was received. Generally speaking, more than three months is deemed to be an unreasonable delay in the use of a rating. In a particular case there may be circumstances which make a reasonable time shorter or longer than three months. For example,

(1) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(2) A rating assigned in connection with an export license may be applied as long as the license is valid and expires when the license expires or is revoked. (For explanation of this rule see Interpretation 2, Directive 27.)

(3) When a rating is applied to a long term contract (such as the construction of a ship), it may be extended for material needed to fill the contract, even though more than three months have elapsed.

(4) If the purpose for which the rating was assigned no longer exists, the rating may not be applied even though three months have not elapsed.

(5) When a rating is extended by a person to get material to deliver to his customer, or to incorporate in such material, the time within which it may be done will, in general, be controlled by the delivery date on his customer's order.

The fact that a person has not been able to get his rated order accepted by a supplier does not lengthen the time within which he may use his rating.

Nothing in this interpretation means that any AA rating still has any effect. All AA ratings become ineffective in every respect on September 30, 1945. (Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 14: Revoked Apr. 23, 1945.

REFERENCES IN LIST A TO ORDERS WHICH HAVE BEEN REVOKED

In many items on List A of Priorities Regulation 3 reference is made to specific WPB orders or schedules for a definition of the specific items covered by the lists. Sometimes the order or schedule referred to is revoked without any change in the listing on List A. When one of these orders or schedules is revoked, the listing of the item on List A, nevertheless, remains in full force and effect, and the item as listed on List A has the same meaning as before the revocation of the order. PART 3270—CONTAINERS

[Conservation Order M–221, as Amended Oct. 22, 1945]

TEXTILE BAGS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States, has created a shortage in the supply of new and used textile bags for defense, for private account and for export, and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 3270.23 Conservation Order M–221—(a) What this order does. This order places limitations on the manufacture, delivery and use of textile bags. There are various restrictions on bag makers, such as the requirement of standard size bags for packing certain commodities (paragraph (e)). The bag makers' inventories of cotton textiles are also restricted (paragraph (c)). There are also various general restrictions on the delivery and use of new and used textile bags, such as the prohibition against converting and delivery of new and used textile bags (paragraph (j)), and the requirements on the users' inventories of such bags (paragraphs (k) (1) and (k) (2)). There are also special restrictions on the use of new textile bags such as requirements that only certain products may be packed in such bags (paragraphs (n) and (o)). There are also certain special restrictions covering used textile bags, such as requirements on commercial emptiers with respect to the time limit on holding empty bags (paragraph (s)).

(b) Definitions. Wherever used in this order: (1) "Textile bag" means any hand or machine sewed bag made for commercially packing, storing or shipping some commodity and manufactured of cotton, burlap or other textile fabric including open mesh fabrics woven from cotton or twisted paper yarns, but excepting bags made from flannel, shopping bags, carry-out bags, combination textile paper bags (bags made of textile laminated with paper) and spiral tubing.

(2) "New textile bag" means any textile bag when neither the fabric nor the bag has been previously used.

(3) "Used textile bag" means any textile bag when the bag or fabric has been previously used.

(4) "Bag maker" means any person engaged in the business of manufacturing new textile bags.

(5) "Dealer" means any person whose principal business is that of buying, selling or reconditioning empty textile bags.

(6) "User" means any person who acquired 500 or more empty new or used textile bags for use in his business during 1942 or who acquires such amount during any subsequent calendar year.

(7) "Commercial emptier" means any person who, in the preceding three months, acquired in his business and emptied 400 filled textile bags.

(8) "Export" means any shipment from the United States (the 48 states, the District of Columbia, the territories, the island possessions of the United States and the Panama Canal Zone).

(9) "Agricultural products" includes, but is not limited to, beans; chocolate; coffee; cotton; feed; flour; fruits; grain; meal; nuts; potatoes; poultry grits; rice; salt; seeds; starch; sugar; tobacco; vegetables.

(10) [Deleted Aug. 29, 1945.]

RESTRICTIONS ON BAG MAKERS

(c) Inventories of cotton textiles. No bag maker shall accept delivery of any cotton textiles as defined in Order M–317 which will increase his inventory of such cotton textiles to more than his reasonable requirements for the next 60 days, except that whenever such inventory is less than a 60-day supply, he may accept the minimum delivery customarily required by his supplier. For the purpose of this paragraph, a bag maker shall be deemed to "accept delivery" of such cotton textiles when he either takes legal title to such textiles or physical possession or control of them (whichever event occurs first) except that he may exclude from his inventory those textiles which are in transit to him or in transit to the finisher for his account. However, in addition to the above inventory restrictions, a bag maker's inventory as defined above plus such cotton textiles in transit to him or in transit to the finisher for his account must not exceed at any time his reasonable requirements for the next 90 days.

(d) Rules applicable to inventory restrictions. All bag makers owned or controlled directly or indirectly by the same person shall be deemed to be a single bag maker for the purpose of applying the inventory restrictions of this order. Any bag maker who accepts cotton textiles at more than one plant must apply the inventory restrictions of this order to the collective operations of all its plants. In the case where a bag maker is also engaged in the business of manufacturing cotton textiles, the inventory restrictions of this order shall apply to such a bag maker as if his operations as a bag maker are done by a separate person.

(e) Bag sizes for certain commodities. Except for bags to be exported, empty or filled, no bag maker shall manufacture any new textile bag designed for packing any commodity listed below, except in any size of more than 100 lbs., or in any of the sizes specified below for that commodity.

Commodity	Bag size (net weight capacity unless otherwise specified)
Beans	2–5–10–25–50–100 lbs.
Cement (standard portland)	94 lbs.
Flour (milled wheat)[1]	2–5–10–25–50–100 lbs.
Meal	2–5–10–25–50–100 lbs.
Plaster (gypsum)	2–5–10–25–50–100 lbs. (gross weight).
Potatoes[2]	2–5–10–15–25–50–100 lbs.
Processed feed (mixed, mill)	2–5–10–25–50–100 lbs.
Rice	2–3–5–10–15–25–50–100 lbs.
Salt	2–4–10–25–50–60–100 lbs.

Starch (corn)	2–5–10–25–50–100 lbs.
Sugar (refined cane, beet)	2–5–10–25–50–100 lbs.

[1] "Flour (milled wheat)" means any flour product produced by milling wheat, including blends of wheat flours and bleached, promated, enriched, phosphated, and self-rising flours, but excluding durum wheat products (semolina), farina, pancake flour, and cake flour.

[2] These restrictions do not apply to open mesh bags used for packing potatoes.

[3] Additional sizes are permitted as follows: 8 lb. or ½ bu. of hybrid seed corn; 3 bu. for cotton seed.

(f) [Deleted Aug. 29, 1945.]

RESTRICTIONS ON DELIVERY OR USE OF NEW OR USED TEXTILE BAGS

(g) Joint responsibility. No person shall sell or deliver cotton textiles or new or used textile bags which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted or used in violation of the terms of this order.

(h) Use of preference rating—(1) Bag makers. A bag maker obtains his burlap for the manufacture of textile bags under the provisions of Order M–47 which allocates certain quantities of burlap to him, and no preference ratings are needed by him for such purchases. A bag maker's purchase of certain cotton textiles for the manufacture of textile bags is controlled by the provisions of Orders M–317 and M–317A which set aside a percentage of a cotton mill's production of certain cotton textiles for purchase by the bag makers, and in most cases no preference rating will be needed by the bag makers for such purchases.

(2) Users of textile bags. No preference rating shall be applied or extended to obtain delivery of new or used textile bags, except a rating which has been specifically assigned for textile bags by the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration for the direct or ultimate delivery of such bags either filled or empty to them.

(i) [Deleted Aug. 29, 1945.]

(j) Converting or delivery of textile bags. Except as stated below, no person shall commercially convert any new or used jute, burlap or cotton textile bag into an article for any other use than as a bag, and no person shall commercially deliver any new or used jute, burlap or cotton textile bag, if he knows or has reason to believe that such bag will be used for any purpose other than as a bag. These restrictions shall not apply to (1) used cotton liners; (2) used cotton textile bags which are commonly known in the trade as "No. 2 quality bags", that is, bags which are caked, badly stained, badly torn (including ragged tops or large hand-sewn holes), or double-marked (printed on both inside and outside of bag); (3) used jute or burlap textile bags which have no commercial use as bags, with or without mending.

(k) Users' inventories—(1) New textile bags. No user shall accept delivery of or have set aside for his account, any new textile bags which will increase his inventory of new textile bags (including those held by others for his account as well as those he has on hand) to more than a practicable minimum working inventory for packing the commodities which are permitted to be packed in such bags by this order. Except in the case of bags required by a user for packing a seasonal commodity, (whether or not produced by him) (see Interpretation 1 to Priorities Regulation 32) such inventory shall not exceed the aggregate number of new empty textile bags which will be required to carry on his business during the next sixty days.

(2) Used textile bags. No user shall accept delivery of, or have set aside for his account, any used textile bags which will increase his inventory of used textile bags (including those held by others for his account as well as those he has on hand) to more than a practicable minimum working inventory for the uses which are not prohibited by this order. Except in the case of bags required by a user for packing a seasonal commodity (whether or not produced by him) (see Interpretation 1 to Priorities Regulation 32) such inventory shall not exceed the aggregate number of used empty textile bags which will be required to carry on his business during the next sixty days.

(l) [Deleted Aug. 29, 1945.]

(m) [Deleted Aug. 29, 1945.]

SPECIAL RESTRICTIONS ON NEW TEXTILE BAGS

(n) Products permitted for new burlap bags. No person shall use any new textile bag made of burlap for packing fish meal, fish scrap, tankage, meat scraps or for any purpose other than the packing of the following permitted products: agricultural products; abrasives; crushed oyster shells; fertilizer; meat; mohair; petroleum waxes; stearic acid; wool or wool products; or chemicals for export. These restrictions do not apply to surplus new military sand bags which may be used to pack any product.

(o) Products permitted for new cotton bags and open mesh bags made of cotton or twisted paper yarn—(1) Permitted products. No user shall use any new textile bag made of cotton or open mesh bag made of cotton or twisted paper yarn for packing fish meal, fish scrap, tankage, meat scraps, or for any purpose other than the packing of the following permitted products: agricultural products; abrasives; chemicals; cements; coins; currency; fertilizer; glue; gypsum; malt; meat; paste; plaster; samples; sand; securities; shell fish; small parts; tire chains; or such other uses as may be authorized by the War Production Board in writing pursuant to paragraph (o) (2) below.

(2) Authorizations for other uses. Applications for authorizations for other uses shall be made by letter in triplicate addressed to the Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M–221. Authorizations to make such use of textile bags will be granted only on the basis of the essential need for new bags, the availability of the supply and the availability of used bags or substitute containers.

(p) Certification. No person shall sell or deliver any new textile bags in quantities of over 1,000 unless he has received from the purchaser a certificate signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation 7. This certificate shall be in substantially the following form, and once filed by a purchaser with a supplier covers all future deliveries from the supplier to that purchaser:

The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties for misrepresentation, that he is familiar with Order M–221 of the War Production Board, and that all purchases from you of items regulated by that order, and the use of the same by the undersigned, will be in compliance with the order as amended from time to time.

The standard certificate provided for in paragraph (d) of Priorities Regulation 7 cannot be used in place of the above certificate nor may the certificate be waived in accordance with paragraph (f) of that regulation.

SPECIAL RESTRICTIONS ON USED TEXTILE BAGS

(q) Processing of used bags for sale. No dealer, user, or commercial emptier shall sell or deliver any used textile bag to any person for his own use unless the bag has been processed and repaired and all holes, including trier or probe holes, properly mended or patched. Nothing in this paragraph shall prevent the delivery of any bag for the purpose of repair or for delivery to the owner. For the purposes of this provision, "process" means to clean a used textile bag by washing, vacuuming, or any other method sufficient to prepare the bag for further reuse.

(r) [Deleted Aug. 29, 1945.]

(s) Time-limit on holding empty bags. Within 60 days after emptying any number of textile bags, a commercial emptier shall use, or transfer to dealers or users, an equal amount of empty used textile bags from his inventory. Such disposition may be deferred beyond the 60-day period in the following cases:

(1) Seasonal reuse. If the commercial emptier needs the bags for packing a seasonal product (whether or not produced by him), he may retain them until the product becomes available for packing, subject, however, to the inventory restrictions of paragraph (k) (2) above.

(2) Carload accumulation. If, in accordance with his past practice, the commercial emptier wishes to accumulate a carload quantity of such bags for return to users for further packing of the kind of product last packed in them, he may retain such bags until he has accumulated a carload quantity.

GENERAL EXCEPTIONS

(t) Bags for certain Government agencies. The provisions of this order (except paragraphs (c), (d), and (h) (2)) shall not apply to (1) textile bags manufactured to meet the packaging specifications of, and for delivery to or for the account of the Government agencies or persons listed below, or (2) textile bags for delivery of a product for the account of any of the agencies or persons listed below, provided the packing specifications call for textile bags, or (3) the purchase, acceptance, use or export of textile bags by these agencies or persons: Army, Navy, United States Post Office, Federal Reserve System, United States Treasury Department, any agency procuring for delivery pursuant to the act of Congress of March 11, 1941 entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Lend-Lease Act), Veterans' Administration and Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration of the United States.

(u) Export of empty bags. No permission from the War Production Board is necessary to export empty new or used textile bags. The War Production Board has assigned an export quota to the Foreign Economic Administration and no person is permitted to export such bags to any destination other than Canada unless authorized by the Foreign Economic Administration. Application for export licenses should be sent to the Foreign Economic Administration, Bureau of Supplies, Requirements & Supply Branch, Washington 25, D. C. General information and instructions for export are contained in the Comprehensive Export Schedule issued by the Foreign Economic Administration.

(v) Exception for mailing bags. The provisions of this order (except paragraphs (c), (d), (h) (2)) shall not apply to any textile bag which is purchased or used for commercial shipment of articles in the United States mails. In any case where a textile bag which was purchased for such mailing purposes is not used for these purposes, then the use of the bag is subject to the provisions of this order.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

(w) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-221.

(x) Appeals. Appeals from Order M-221 shall be filed by addressing a letter to the War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-221. The letter of appeal need not follow any particular form. It should state informally, but completely, the particular provision appealed from, the precise relief desired, the reasons why denial of the appeal would result in excessive and individual hardship, and such other statistical and narrative information as may be pertinent.

(y) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(z) Budget approval. The application and reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[RMPR 122, Amdt. 36]

SOLID FUELS SOLD AND DELIVERED BY DEALERS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Section 1340.255 (a) (10) is amended to read as follows:

(10) "Purchaser of the same class" means a purchaser belonging to a commercially recognizable group of purchasers to whom it was the customary practice of a dealer in December 1941 to sell or offer to sell a certain kind, size or grade of solid fuel at the same price level. If a single purchaser from a dealer is recognizable as different from other purchasers for commercial reasons and the dealer observed a uniform relation to prices charged other groups of purchasers the single purchaser may also constitute a class. Purchasers may be recognizable as a commercial group or as different for commercial reasons because of the use for which the solid fuel is intended, as for domestic, commercial, industrial use, or the business in which the purchaser is engaged, or by reason of being located in different areas, or purchasing different quantities, or under different conditions of sale other than difference in price alone but including methods and terms of delivery. These are examples and individual dealers may have had other commercially recognizable groups of purchasers; it would depend upon a dealer's own practices.

CHESTER BOWLES,
Administrator.

PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[FPR 1,[1] Amdt. 4 to Supp. 13]

PACKED FRUITS, BERRIES AND VEGETABLES (1945 AND LATER PACKS)

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Section 13 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 13. Individual adjustment of processors' maximum prices—(a) For sales to purchasers other than government procurement agencies—(1) When adjustments may be made. Either on his own motion or upon application in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1,[2] the Price Administrator may adjust a processor's maximum price for any item determined under this supplement for sales to purchasers other than government procurement agencies, where it appears that:

(i) The maximum price is (a) below the mid-point of the price range applicable to the item, in the case of a product covered by section 5, or (b) below the median price at which sales of the item (regardless of brand) may be made to purchasers other than government procurement agencies by processors located in the general processing area, in the case of a product covered by section 6;

(ii) The processor would be entitled to a price increase under the standards set forth in subparagraph (2), below; and

(iii) In the judgment of the Price Administrator, an increase in the processor's maximum price would be in furtherance of the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250, 9328 and 9599.

(2) Amount of adjustment. The maximum price, as adjusted under this section, shall in no event be higher than the mid-point of the price range applicable to the item, in the case of a product covered by section 5, or the median price at which sales of the item (regardless of brand) may be made to purchasers other than government procurement agencies by processors located in the general processing area, in the case of a product covered by section 6. Subject to this limitation and the limitation of subparagraph (1) (iii), above, the adjusted maximum price shall not exceed the following amount (less the amount of any direct subsidy payment, payable per unit of the finished product, the amount of which has previously been announced by the Commodity Credit Corporation or other agency responsible for the administration of the subsidy and which is applicable to the particular goods):

(i) Processing costs for the item if the processor's percentage of net operating profits (before income and excess profits taxes) to net sales of packed fruits, berries and vegetables, during the most recent fiscal year, was 6 percent or higher; or

(ii) Total costs for the item, if the processor's percentage of net operating profits (before income and excess profits taxes) to net sales of packed fruits, berries and vegetables, during the most recent fiscal year, was less than 6 percent but no lower than 3 percent; or

(iii) Total costs for the item plus a profit equal to 3% of the adjusted maximum price, if the processor's percentage of net operating profits (before income and excess profits taxes) to net sales of packed fruits, berries and vegetables, during the most recent fiscal year, was lower than 3 percent.

(b) For sales to government procurement agencies—(1) When adjustments may be made. Either on his motion or upon application in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, the Price Administrator may adjust a processor's maximum price for any item determined under this supplement for sales to government procurement agencies when the processor has entered into or proposes to enter into a government contract or subcontract thereunder, where it appears that:

(i) The maximum price is (a) below the mid-point of the price range applicable to the item (after application of the provisions of section 10 (j)), in the case of a product covered by section 5, or below the median price at which sales of the item (regardless of brand) may be made to government procurement agencies by processors located in the general processing area, in the case of a product covered by section 6;

(ii) The processor would be entitled to a price increase under the standards set forth in subparagraph (2), below; and

(iii) In the judgment of the Price Administrator, an increase in the processor's maximum price would be in furtherance of the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250, 9328 and 9599.

(2) Amount of adjustment. The maximum price, as adjusted under this section, shall in no event be higher than the mid-point of the price range applicable to the item (after application of the provisions of section 10 (j)), in the case of a product covered by section 5, or the median price at which sales of the item (regardless of brand) may be made to government procurement agencies by processors located in the general processing area, in the case of a product covered by section 6. Subject to this limitation and the limitation of subparagraph (1) (iii), above, the adjusted maximum price shall not exceed the following amount:

(i) Processing costs for the item if the processor's percentage of net operating profits (before income and excess profits taxes) to net sales of packed fruits, berries and vegetables, during the most recent fiscal year, was 6 percent or higher; or.

(ii) Total costs for the item if the processor's percentage of net operating profits (before income and excess profits taxes) to net sales of packed fruits, berries and vegetables, during the most recent fiscal year, was less than 6 percent but no lower than 3 percent; or

(iii) Total costs for the item plus a profit equal to 3 percent of the adjusted maximum price, if the processor's percentage of net operating profits (before income and excess-profits taxes) to net sales of packed fruits, berries and vegetables, during the most recent fiscal year, was lower than 3 percent.

(3) Contracts pending authorization of prices. While an application for authorization of a maximum price under section 10 (c) is pending, the processor may file written notice with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., of his intention to seek an adjustment under this paragraph (b) if the maximum price subsequently authorized is less than the price for sales to government procurement agencies proposed by him in his application and named in the notice. When such a notice is filed, contracts, bids, payments, and deliveries may be made on the basis of the price named in the notice, provided that the contract in each case stipulates that final settlement (including any necessary refunds) shall be made consistently with the maximum price as finally established. If the maximum price authorized is less than the amount to which it may be adjusted under this paragraph (b), and the processor files his application for adjustment within 30 days after the maximum price is authorized, any adjustment granted shall be effective from the date of the filing of the notice of intention.

(4) Contracts pending disposition of application for adjustment. Upon the filing of an application for adjustment under this paragraph (b) or within 30 days prior thereto, and until final disposition of the application, contracts may be entered into or proposed and bids submitted at the price or prices requested in the application, and deliveries may be made under such contracts, except that the processor may not receive and the buyer may not pay the amount by which the price exceeds the maximum price unless and until an order granting a higher price has been issued. The processor shall include in any sale, contract to sell, or offer to sell at the price requested in an application the following:

(i) His maximum price for sales of the item to government procurement agencies.

(ii) A statement that the quoted price is subject to approval of the Office of Price Administration.

(iii) A statement that an appropriate application has been filed, or will be filed within 30 days, with the Office of Price Administration.

Any government agency may appear as an interested party in the case of any such application.

(c) Time, form and place of filing application. No application for adjustment shall be filed before the processor has completed at least 75% of his current pack of the product. Applications shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., in duplicate on Office of Price Administration Form No. 6039–2526, and shall contain the information specified in that form. Copies may be obtained from any field office of the Office of Price Administration or from the Wholesale-Retail and Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Food Price Division, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. The Office of Price Administration may request the processor to file any additional cost data based upon operating experience.

(d) Determination of limitations on adjustment in certain cases—(1) Items covered by section 5 for which price ranges are not named. In the case of a product covered by section 5, if no price range is named for the particular item, for the purpose of making adjustments the Price Administrator may determine a corresponding price range for that item by application of the appropriate conversion factors to the price range named for the nearest container type and size.

(2) Items covered by section 6 which are not basic items. In the case of a product covered by section 6, if the particular item (regardless of brand), is not the "basic item" of that product, for the purpose of making adjustments the Price Administrator may determine the applicable median price at which sales of the item (regardless of brand) may be made to the appropriate class of purchasers by processors located in the general processing area, by customary differential from the reported maximum prices for the basic item of the same product sold by processors in the same or nearest general processing area.

"Basic item" of any product means the item (regardless of brand) for which the greatest number of maximum prices have been reported.

(e) Determination of adjustments for grower-processors and cooperative processors. For the purposes of this section, "net operating profits (before income and excess profits taxes) to net sales of packed fruits, berries and vegetables" for a grower-processor or cooperative processor means the amount by which net sales of these products exceeded total costs computed on the basis of the raw material costs, for the crop year represented by its most recent fiscal year, which he was required to use in figuring his maximum prices under Supplement 7 to Food Products Regulation No. 1.[2]

However, if the cooperative processor by agreement with its patrons accounts to such patrons for the amount received for a particular product (or products) through a "product pool", the term means the amount by which net sales of that product (or products) exceeded total costs computed on the basis of raw material costs figured in the manner described above.

In determining adjustments under this section, "processing costs for the item" or "total costs for the item" shall be computed in each case on the basis of the raw material cost which the grower-processor or cooperative processor is required under this supplement to include in the maximum price for the item.

(f) Definitions. When used in this section:

(1) "Net sales" means total sales less return sales of finished product.

(2) "Processing costs for the item" means current:

(i) Actual cost per unit of all ingredients (other than raw agricultural commodities) and of packaging materials, for which maximum prices have been established, figured at no more than the current maximum prices applying to the class of purchasers to which the processor belongs, or, if no maximum prices have been established, figured at no more than their current market prices;

(ii) Actual cost per unit of all raw agricultural ingredients, included in the Commodity Credit Corporation's purchase and resale program, figured at no more than the Commodity Credit Corporation's resale prices for the area in which the processor's customary receiving point is located, in the case of adjustments under paragraph (a), above, and figured at no more than the Commodity Credit Corporation's purchase prices for the area in which the processor's customary receiving point is located, in the case of adjustments under paragraph (b), above.

(iii) Actual cost per unit of all other raw agricultural ingredients, for which maximum prices have been established, figured at no more than the current maximum prices applying to the class of purchasers to which the processor belongs;

(iv) Actual cost per unit of all other raw agricultural ingredients, for which no maximum prices have been established but for which the Department of Agriculture has announced prices recommended for payment to growers or support prices, figured at no more than these prices, or, if no recommended or support prices have been announced, figured at no more than their current market prices;

(v) Direct labor costs per unit, figured at no more than lawful current rates;

(vi) Transportation costs per unit by the usual mode of transportation, from the processor's customary supplier to his factory with respect to any cost used in (i), above, and from his customary receiving point to his factory with respect to any cost used in (ii), (iii), or (iv), above, if that cost is not a delivered cost and if these charges are customarily incurred; and

(vii) Other costs of processing per unit, such as indirect labor (figured at no more than lawful current rates), depreciation, factory rental, insurance, machinery repairs, and other cost factors generally pertaining to processing operations, but not including general administrative and selling expenses.

(3) "Total costs for the item" means processing costs plus current general administrative and selling expenses per unit.

(4) "Median price" means the middle price of a series of prices arranged in order of size or, if the series consists of an even number of prices, the simple arithmetic average of the two middle prices.

(5) "Government contract" means any contract with the United States or any agency thereof or with the Government or any agency thereof of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act To Promote the Defense of the United States."

(6) "Subcontract" means any purchase order or agreement to make or furnish any commodity needed for the performance of another Government contract or subcontract thereunder.

(g) Effect of prior adjustments. In determining adjustments under this section, changes in prices resulting from the granting of prior adjustments to other processors under this section shall, so far as practicable, be disregarded.

(h) Relationship with Revised Supplementary Order No. 9. No application for adjustment filed after October 20, 1945, under Revised Supplementary Order No. 9[4] with respect to maximum prices of processors for sales to government procurement agencies of commodities covered by this supplement will be granted.

This amendment shall become effective October 20, 1945.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget, in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

In § 1340.207, paragraph (d) is redesignated (e) and new paragraph (d) is added to read as follows:

(d) (i) The administrator may by order grant an adjustment of maximum prices for truck shipment from rail connected mines, when it appears that:

(i) Due to inadequacy of truck-loading facilities there exists or threatens to exist a shortage in the supply of truck coal in the area in which the mine is located; and

(ii) More extensive use of existing truck-loading facilities or construction of new facilities would substantially reduce or eliminate such shortage.

(2) In determining whether an adjustment should be granted under this paragraph (d), the Office of Price Administration will consider the additional costs incurred or to be incurred by reason of the inadequacy of the mines' truck-loading facilities and the resulting loss in margin because of the more extensive use or construction of such facilities as compared to its margin on rail shipments. In no event shall an adjustment granted under this paragraph (d) exceed an amount necessary to compensate for such additional costs or be such as to place the mine in a more favorable margin position than it would AUTHORITY: § 1389.608 issued under 56 Stat. 23, 765; 57 Stat. 566; Pub. Law 383, 78th Cong.; Pub. Law 108, 79th Cong.; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7671; E.O. 9328, 8 F.R. 4681; E.O. 9599, 10 F.R. 10155.

SECTION 1. Scope of this regulation. This regulation covers sales of a specified group of low priced essential garments by sellers at all levels of distribution.

(a) What garments are covered. As used in this regulation, the word "garment" means any commodity covered by the regulation, as described below.

(1) Garments produced from fabrics obtained under WPB Order M-328B, Schedules C, J, K or Supplement XIII of Schedule A. This regulation applies to all garments whose principal materials were obtained with priority assistance granted under WPB Order M-328B, Schedules C, J, K or Supplement XIII of Schedule A.

(2) Other garments. In addition to the garments described in (1), this regulation applies to every garment of a type listed in Appendix A which the manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer sells at or below the "cut-off" prices set forth in Appendices B, C or D for each type of garment made of cotton, wool or synthetic fabrics, respectively.

(b) What sales are covered. This regulation applies to all sales including sales at retail, sales at wholesale, sales by manufacturers and sales by manufacturing-retailers. These types of sales are defined as follows:

(1) Sales at retail. All sales to individual ultimate consumers by persons who sell garments in substantially the same form in which they purchase them are "sales at retail". Sales to industrial, commercial or institutional users are also "sales at retail" if made by persons who sell principally to individual ultimate consumers.

(2) Sales at wholesale. All sales to persons other than ultimate consumers by persons who sell garments in substantially the same form in which they purchase them are "sales at wholesale". "Sales at wholesale" also include sales to industrial, commercial or institutional users if they are made by persons who sell principally to persons other than individual ultimate consumers.

(3) Sales by a manufacturer. All sales by the person who fabricated the garment being sold, or who furnished the principal materials from which the garment was fabricated, are "sales by a manufacturer" unless they are "sales by a manufacturing-retailer", as defined in (4) below.

(4) Sales by a manufacturing-retailer. All sales to ultimate consumers by the person who fabricated the garment being sold, or who furnished the principal materials from which the garment was fabricated, are "sales by a manufacturing-retailer", if such person customarily sells to ultimate consumers most of the garments so fabricated.

(c) Where this regulation applies. This regulation covers sales in the 48 States and in the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. Maximum prices for sales by manufacturers and manufacturing-retailers.

(a) Over-riding ceiling price. Each manufacturer and manufacturing-retailer must find his maximum price for garments covered by this regulation according to the instructions given in paragraph (b) of this section: except, however, that in no case may a manufacturer or a manufacturing-retailer establish a maximum price for any garment produced from fabrics obtained with priorities assistance under War Production Board Order M-328B, Schedules C, J, K or Supplement XIII of Schedule A, which exceeds the lower of: (1) the "cut-off" price listed for that garment in Appendix B, C or D of this regulation, or (2) the "highest price line limitation" provided in the regulation under which the maximum price for that garment is established in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Maximum prices. Subject to the limitation set forth in paragraph (a), each manufacturer and manufacturing-retailer finds his maximum price for the garments covered by this regulation in accordance with the provisions of the existing price regulation which governs his sales of these garments. This means, for example, that for any men's or boys' tailored clothing garments specified in Appendices A and B of this regulation, the manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer determines his maximum price in accordance with the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation 177. Similarly, for any women's outerwear garments covered by this regulation, the manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer determines his maximum price in accordance with the provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 287. However, in the case of garments covered by Maximum Price Regulation 570,[2] Maximum Price Regulation 572 and Revised Maximum Price Regulation 287,[3] the manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer may, in determining his maximum price, add to the direct cost of each garment the direct labor cost incurred in attaching labels, as provided in section 6 (d) of this regulation.

SEC. 3. Maximum prices for sales at wholesale. This section sets forth dollar-and-cents maximum prices for all sales at wholesale except that the maximum prices of garments which have been or are being sold at a "special sale" must be determined under section 5.

Dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for regulating sales at wholesale are set forth in Table I below. This table shows the net ceiling price for a regular sale at wholesale which corresponds to the manufacturer's net selling price (after deduction of all available discounts) or net ceiling price, whichever is lower, for the garments f. o. b. manufacturer's place of business. When the wholesaler has found his manufacturer's net selling price (after deduction of all available discounts) in column 1 of the table, the corresponding figure in column 2 is his net ceiling price for a regular sale at wholesale.

NOTE: This table is applicable whether the manufacturer's net selling price is on a "per dozen" or a "per garment" basis. Where the manufacturer's net selling price in column 1 is a price per dozen, the corresponding wholesaler's net price in column 2 is his price per dozen garments. Where the manufacturer's net selling price in column 1 is a price per garment, the corresponding wholesaler's net price in column 2 is his per garment price.

SEC. 4. Maximum prices for sales at retail. Dollar and cents ceiling prices for sales at retail are set forth in Tables II and III below. Table II is used to find the retail ceiling prices of the garments made of wool and of rayon or synthetic fabrics listed in Appendices C and D, respectively. Table II is in two parts, (a) and (b). Table II (a) is to be used when the supplier's price is on a "per dozen" basis. Table II (b) is to be used when the supplier's price is on a "per garment" basis. Table III is used to find the retail ceiling prices of the garments made of cotton fabrics listed in Appendix B.

These tables show the retail ceiling price which corresponds to the "supplier's price" f. o. b. the supplier's place of business. As used in this section, "supplier's price" means the supplier's net selling price (after the deduction of all available discounts) or his net ceiling price, whichever is lower, if the supplier is a manufacturer. It means the supplier's net ceiling price if the supplier is a wholesaler. When the retailer has found his "supplier's price" per dozen or per garment, whichever is appropriate, in column 1 of the appropriate table, the corresponding price in column 2 is his retail ceiling price per garment. (This price should be already marked on the garment when the retailer receives it.)

SEC. 5. Maximum prices for garments which have been bought or sold at a "special sale." This section provides a method for establishing ceiling prices for garments which previously have been, or are being sold, at a "special sale." A "special sale" is a sale outside the normal channel of distribution by a person who sells the garment in substantially the same form in which he purchased it.

(a) Types of special sales. The following types of sales are included among "special sales":

(1) Sales by a wholesaler to another wholesaler or to a manufacturer (as used in this section, the word "wholesaler" includes a manufacturer who has purchased completed garments from another manufacturer).

(2) Sales by a retailer to any person other than an individual ultimate consumer or an industrial, commercial or institutional user.

(b) Ceiling prices—(1) First special sale. In the case of the first special sale of a garment, the ceiling price is the net purchase price paid by the seller (not exceeding his supplier's ceiling price).

For example: A, a retailer, buys a dozen boys' cotton pants from a manufacturer at $12.75 per dozen on terms of 8/10 EOM, which is the manufacturer's ceiling price. A now wishes to resell the pants to B, another retailer.

A's ceiling price for the sale to B is $11.73 per dozen, his net cost ($12.75 less 8% = $11.73).

(2) Subsequent special sales. (i) In the case of all subsequent sales (except sales at retail) of garments which have previously been sold at special sales, the ceiling price is the net purchase price paid by the person who made the first special sale.

Example 1: X, a retailer, buys a dozen girls' cotton dresses from a manufacturer at $14.75 per dozen, net. X then liquidates his store and resells the dresses to Y, a wholesaler, for $13.00. Y now wishes to resell the dresses to Z, another wholesaler.

Y's ceiling price for these dresses is the net purchase price paid by X, the person who made the first special sale. This price is $14.75 per dozen, net. Y therefore uses this price of $14.75 net as his ceiling price for the sale to Z.

Example 2: If, in the above example Z now wishes to sell the dresses to R, a retailer, his ceiling price for the sale to R is also $14.75 (the net purchase price paid by X, the person who made the first special sale).

(ii) In the case of a sale at retail of a garment which previously has been sold at a special sale, the ceiling price is figured under section 4, above. However, in no event may the retailer, in calculating his ceiling price under section 4, use a cost exceeding the net purchase price paid by the person who made the first special sale.

NOTE: The net purchase price paid by the first person who made a special sale must be shown on the invoice which the retailer receives from his supplier, as provided by (c) below.

Example 1: Suppose that R, the retailer, (mentioned in the examples above) wants to sell one of the dresses to an individual consumer. The price paid by R to his supplier Z, was $14.75 per dozen.

R's ceiling price for the dress is figured by finding from Table III in section 4, the ceiling price which corresponds to a cost of $14.75 per dozen. (He uses Table III because the dresses are made of cotton and are listed in Appendix B.) This price is $1.85 per garment. (R could not legally have paid more than $14.75 for these dresses since this was the amount listed on his purchase invoice as the net purchase price paid for them by the person who made the first special sale. Therefore R may not use as his cost any price higher than $14.75 per dozen, net.)

Example 2: If R had paid $13.75 per dozen for the dresses, his ceiling price would be $1.75 per dress, according to Table III.

(c) Disclosure in special sales. (1) The seller who makes the first special sale must attach to or mark on the bill or invoice which he gives pursuant to section 8 (b), a statement in substantially the following form and fill in the information appropriate to the particular sale:

The following garments have been sold at a special sale under section 5 of 2d RMPR 578 (Describe garments).

The net purchase price paid for these garments by the first special seller is $_____ (per dozen or per garment as the case may be). This amount is the ceiling price for any future sale of these garments except a sale at retail.

If you sell these garments at retail your ceiling price is found in Table II (or Table III) in section 4 of 2d RMPR 578. However, in no event may a retailer's cost exceed the net purchase price paid by the first special seller, as set forth above in this statement.

OPA requires that if you make a sale of these garments (except a sale at retail) you must attach to or mark on your invoice or bill a statement in substantially the same form as this one.

(2) Any seller who makes a sale (except a sale at retail) of garments which previously have been sold at a special sale must attach to or mark on the bill or invoice a statement in substantially the same form as set forth in (1) above.

SEC. 6. Marking of garments—(a) What marking is required. On and after November 1, 1945, no manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer may sell, offer for sale or deliver any garment subject to this regulation unless it is marked with an imprint, label or ticket containing all of the following information:

(1) The letters "MPR 578–B" on all cotton garments listed in Appendix B, the letters "MPR 578–C" on all wool garments listed in Appendix C and the letters "MPR 578–D" on all rayon or synthetic garments listed in Appendix D.

However, in the case of any cotton garments listed in Appendix B which are made of fabrics obtained with priorities assistance under WPB orders M-328B, M-388A or M-385, the manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer may, at his election, mark the letters of the appropriate WPB order on the ticket instead of the MPR 578 letters required by this paragraph.

(2) The manufacturer's lot number or brand name for the garment. This must be a different name or number for each group of garments having a different manufacturer's selling price. "Style number" may be substituted for lot number if each group of garments having a different manufacturer's selling price carries a different style number.

(3) The OPA retail ceiling price for the garment stated in one of the following forms:

(i) "OPA Retail Ceiling Price: $------", or
(ii) "OPA Retail Ceiling: $------", or
(iii) "OPA Ceiling: $------".

(b) What prices must be marked. The marking required by paragraph (a) must be placed on the garment by the manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer prior to delivery.

(1) Garments sold directly to retailers. If the manufacturer sells the garment directly to a retailer, he must:

(i) Calculate his own selling price for the garment,

(ii) Find his net selling price (after deducting all available discounts) in column 1 of Table II or III (section 4 tells which table to use), and

(iii) Find the retail ceiling price which appears in column 2 opposite the manufacturer's net selling price found in (ii), and

(iv) Mark the garment with the OPA retail ceiling price found in (iii).

For example: A manufacturer wishes to sell directly to a retailer boys' cotton undershorts listed in Appendix B. He first calculates his ceiling price for these undershorts and finds that under section 2, his maximum price is $2.50 per dozen, less 3/10 EOM. He wishes to sell at his ceiling price. Therefore he deducts 3% from $2.50 and finds his net selling price is $2.42. Next he turns to Table III in section 4, and in column 1 of that table he finds his price of $2.42. He finds in column 2 that the retail ceiling price which corresponds to his manufacturer's selling price is $0.31 per undershort. He therefore marks $0.31 as the retail ceiling price on the undershorts.

(2) Garments sold to wholesalers. If the manufacturer sells the garment to a wholesaler he must:

(i) Calculate his own selling price for the garment,

(ii) Find his net selling price (after deducting all available discounts) in column 1 of Table I (section 3),

(iii) Find the wholesale net ceiling price which appears in column 2 of Table I opposite the manufacturer's net selling price found in (ii),

(iv) Find in column 1 of Table II or III (section 4 tells which table to use), the wholesaler's net ceiling price just found in (iii),

(v) Find the retail ceiling price which appears in column 2 of Table II or Table III opposite the wholesaler's net ceiling price found in (iv), and

(vi) Mark the garment with the retail ceiling price found in (v).

For example: The manufacturer in the above example wishes to sell some of these undershorts to a wholesaler. His selling price under section 2 for such a sale is $2.50 per dozen less 10/10 EOM. He, first calculates his net selling price by deducting the 10% discount and finds that it is $2.25 per dozen. Then he turns to Table I in section 3, and finds $2.25 per dozen in column 1 of that table. The wholesaler's net ceiling price in column 2 opposite $2.25 per dozen is $2.75 per dozen net. Next he turns to Table III in section 4 and finds the wholesaler's net ceiling price of $2.75 per dozen in column 1 of that table, and discovers that the retail ceiling price corresponding to $2.75 per dozen is $0.35 per undershort. He therefore marks $0.35 as the retail ceiling price on each undershort.

(3) Garments sold direct to ultimate consumers. A manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer must mark garments which he sells or delivers to ultimate consumers with his selling price, which may not exceed his ceiling price calculated under section 2.

(c) Manner of marking. The required marking must be conspicuously placed on each garment by stitching, stamping, printing, adhesive, pins or staples, or by some other method which securely affixes the marking on the garment. The required markings may be in one or more parts, and may be accompanied by other information, but all portions must be clearly visible to the purchaser.

Example of marking

Lot No. 903
OPA Retail Ceiling—$1.15

(d) Calculation of cost of marking. Under section 2 (b) manufacturers and manufacturing-retailers of garments whose prices are governed by Maximum Price Regulation 570 Maximum Price Regulation 572, and Revised Maximum Price Regulation 287 may include in their cost the cost of direct labor incurred in attaching the required labels. This cost should be calculated as follows:

(1) Add together the amounts paid for direct labor performed in attaching labels during the second week when such labor is performed on any garments covered by this regulation.

(2) Find the total number of dozens of garments covered by this regulation to which labels have been attached during that week.

(3) Divide the number of dozens of garments found in (2) into the total labor cost found in (1). The result is the direct labor cost per dozen of attaching labels.

In calculating his direct cost of garments whose prices are established under Maximum Price Regulation 570, Maximum Price Regulation 572, or Revised Maximum Price Regulation 287 under section 2 (b) the manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer may use the amount found in (3) above as the direct labor cost of attaching labels to each dozen garments covered by this regulation. If the manufacturer or manufacturing-retailer changes his method of attaching labels he must recalculate his direct labor cost of attaching labels by using the steps found in (1), (2), and (3) above, for each change.

(e) Special marking provision for retailers. If the manufacturer has failed to mark the garments as required by this section, and the retailer knows or has reason to know that the garments are covered by this regulation, the marking required by this section must be made by the retailer.

SEC. 7. When taxes may be added. If a statute or ordinance imposes a tax upon a particular sale or delivery (such as a sales tax, gross proceeds or gross receipts tax or compensating use tax) and permits such tax to be stated separately from the selling price, the seller may collect such tax in addition to the maximum price under this regulation, provided that he states the amount of the tax separately. However, this provision does not apply to any tax imposed on a prior sale or delivery of the same article.

SEC. 8. Sales slips and invoices—(a) Sales slips. Every person selling to ultimate consumers, who has customarily given to the ultimate consumer a sales slip, receipt or similar evidence of purchase shall continue to do so. Upon request from an ultimate consumer, such seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, name and address of the seller, the description of each garment sold and the price received for it.

(b) Invoices. Every seller shall, in connection with every sale of garments covered by this regulation to a person other than an ultimate consumer, deliver an invoice showing: (1) the date, (2) the name and address of the seller and purchaser, (3) the types of garments, (4) the lot number or brand name of each garment, (5) the fabric (cotton, wool or rayon or other synthetic) of which each garment is made, (6) the quantity of each lot number or brand sold, (7) the letters "MPR 578" (8) the price charged for each lot number or brand, and (9) all discounts, allowances and other price differentials.

The seller must preserve a duplicate copy of each invoice given by him pursuant to this paragraph.

SEC. 9. Records. All records required by this section must be preserved for inspection by the OPA for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect. Every manufacturer and manufacturing-retailer must keep a list of all lot numbers, brand names or style numbers of garments covered by this regulation. The list must show, for each lot number, brand name or style number, the construction of the fabric or fabrics from which that lot number, brand name, or style number was made.

(a) Records of manufacturers of garments priced under the General Maximum Price Regulation[4] or Maximum Price Regulation 332.[5] Every manufacturer and manufacturing-retailer must keep the records required by sections 11 and 12 of the General Maximum Price Regulation for all garments for which his maximum prices are established under that regulation or under Maximum Price Regulation 332.

(b) Cost records of manufacturers of garments priced under Maximum Price Regulation 570. Every manufacturer and manufacturing-retailer must keep the records required in section 10 (c) and in Appendix C (section 21) of Maximum Price Regulation 570 for all garments for which his maximum prices are established under that regulation.

(c) Cost records of manufacturers of garments priced under Revised Maximum Price Regulation 287. Every manufacturer and manufacturing-retailer must keep the records required in section 17 (a), (b) and (c) and Appendix D (section 30) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 287 for all garments for which his maximum prices are established under that regulation.

(d) Records for manufacturers of garments priced under Maximum Price Regulation 177. Every manufacturer and manufacturing-retailer of ready-made garments and every seller of "tailored to the trade" or "made to measure" garments must keep the records required by § 1389.114 (a), (b), (c) and (d), § 1389.115 (a) and (b) or § 1389.116 (a), (b) and (c) of Maximum Price Regulation 177, whichever applies to him.

(e) Cost records for manufacturers of garments priced under Maximum Price Regulation 572. Every manufacturer and manufacturing-retailer must keep the records required by section 3 and 4 and Appendix D of Maximum Price Regulation 572 for garments priced under that regulation.

(f) Cost records of all wholesalers and retailers. Every person who makes sales at wholesale or at retail must preserve for inspection by the OPA all bills and invoices received by him covering garments subject to this regulation.

(g) Record of labor cost of labelling by manufacturers. Every manufacturer and manufacturing-retailer who adds the cost of labeling to his direct cost of garments for which his maximum prices are established under Maximum Price Regulation 570, Revised Maximum Price Regulation 287 or Maximum Price Regulation 572, must prepare and maintain for inspection by the OPA, a record showing (1) his direct labor cost for the attaching of labels required by section 6 (d), during the second week that such labor operation is performed, and (2) the total number of garments to which labels are attached during that week.

SEC. 10. Relation to other maximum price regulations—(a) Regulations superseded. The coverage of this regulation is stated in section 1. On and after November 1, 1945, this regulation supersedes RMPR 578. Where this regulation applies, and except as provided in section 2 and section 9 (a), (b), (c) and (d), it supersedes the provisions of the following:

(1) General Maximum Price Regulation.
(2) Maximum Price Regulation 177.[6]
(3) Revised Maximum Price Regulation 287.
(4) Revised Maximum Price Regulation 330.[7]
(5) Maximum Price Regulation 332.
(6) Maximum Price Regulation 570.
(7) Maximum Price Regulation 572.[8]
(8) Maximum Price Regulation 580.[9]

(b) Contractors' services. This regulation does not apply to charges for contractors' services. These are governed by Maximum Price Regulation 172[10] (Charges of Contractors in Apparel Industry).

(c) Export sales. This regulation does not apply to export sales or deliveries of garments listed in the appendices of this regulation. Such sales and deliveries are covered by the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.[11]

(d) Import sales. The provisions of this regulation do not apply to sales or deliveries made from points outside the 48 States and the District of Columbia, or to sales of garments by the original importer. (See Maximum Import Price Regulation.)[12] This regulation does, however, apply to domestic sales by persons other than the original importer of garments which were originally imported.

SEC. 11. What acts are prohibited. On and after November 1, 1945, regardless of any contract or obligation no person shall:

(a) Sell or deliver any garment at a price higher than the ceiling price permitted by this regulation (sales and deliveries may, of course, be made at prices lower than ceiling prices); or

(b) Buy or receive, in the course of trade or business, any garment at a price higher than the ceiling price permitted by this regulation; or

(c) Detach or remove from any garment any label or ticket containing the marking required by section 6, except that this provision does not apply to ultimate consumers; or

(d) Require a purchaser to buy or agree to buy any article, service, package or wrapper in connection with the sale or delivery of any garment covered by this regulation; or

(e) Do any other act which directly or indirectly increases above the ceiling price the consideration paid by the purchaser for any garment covered by this regulation. Any practice which is a device to secure the effect of a higher than ceiling price is as much a violation as an outright sale above the ceiling price. This applies to cross-stream or upstream sales, transportation arrangements, premiums, discounts, special privileges, tying-agreements, trade understandings, and all similar practices; or

(f) Offer, attempt or agree to do any of the acts prohibited by this regulation.

SEC. 12. Definitions. Unless the context otherwise requires, or unless specifically provided herein, the definitions set forth in § 1499.20 of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall apply to the terms used herein.

SEC. 13. Enforcement and licensing—(a) Enforcement. Any person who violates any provisions of this regulation is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(b) Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1[13] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 14. Amendment. Any person seeking an amendment, which must have general applicability, may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1,[14] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

This regulation shall become effective November 1, 1945.

NOTE: All record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 19th day of October 1945.

Administrator.

PART 1364—FRESH, CURED, AND CANNED MEAT AND FISH PRODUCTS

[MPR 364,[1] Incl. Amdts. 1–34]

FROZEN FISH AND SEAFOOD

This compilation of Maximum Price Regulation 364 includes Amendment 34, effective October 27, 1945. The text added or amended by Amendment 34 is underscored. Changes in the table are indicated by a note.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, it is necessary in order to effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9250, that maximum prices be established for the sale by processors and wholesalers of frozen fish and seafood.

So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has consulted and advised with representative members of the industry which will be affected by the regulation. In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the prices established are generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the act. The prices established are not below the average price of frozen fish and seafood in the year 1941.

Insofar as this regulation uses specifications and standards which were not, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected, or insofar as their use was not lawfully required by another Government agency, the Administrator has determined, with respect to such standardization, that no practicable alternative exists for securing effective price control with respect to the commodities subject to this regulation.

ARTICLE I—PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF REGULATION

SECTION 1. What this regulation does—(a) Sales covered. This regulation fixes the maximum prices at which processors and wholesalers may sell frozen fish and seafood. These maximum prices are fixed according to species, grade, style of processing and size, as listed in section 13. Maximum Price Regulation No. 579[3] fixes maximum prices at which processors and wholesalers may sell frozen fish or seafood of certain species not listed in section 13 of this regulation. The General Maximum Price Regulation[4] applies to sales of frozen fish and seafood of any species or style of processing not listed in section 13 nor in Article X of Maximum Price Regulation No. 579. The provisions of this regulation do not apply to any sales at retail. A sale at retail is a sale to an ultimate consumer other than an industrial or commercial user.

The maximum price at which a person may export frozen fish and seafood covered by this regulation shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation,[5] and amendments.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 31, 10 F.R. 9431, effective 8–15–45 (effective date amended by Am. 32, 10 F.R. 9879, effective 8–7–45)]

(b) Brokers. The maximum prices established by this regulation include all brokerages, commissions or other customary selling fees, transportation and other expenses incurred in making sales for which no additional charge may be made. In accordance with trade custom every broker or other agent is considered the agent of the seller and not of the buyer. The amount paid by the buyer to the seller plus any amount paid by the buyer to a broker or other agent shall not exceed the seller's maximum price plus any applicable allowance provided by this regulation for transportation actually paid by the broker or other agent.

[Paragraph (b) added and former (b) redesignated (c) by Am. 34, effective 10–27–45]

(c) Prohibitions. On and after April 13, 1943, the effective date of this regulation, no processor or wholesaler may sell or deliver, and no person in the course of trade or business may buy or receive from any processor or wholesaler, any frozen fish or seafood listed in section 13 at prices higher than those established by this regulation; and no person shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing. However, prices lower than those established by this regulation may be charged and paid.

[Section 1 amended by Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44 and as otherwise noted]

SEC. 2. How processors' maximum prices are fixed—(a) General rule. The processor's maximum price for sales of frozen fish or seafood except as otherwise provided in paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of this section is the applicable listed base price in section 13 with any appropriate adjustment for kind of package as provided in section 12 plus any transportation costs allowable under section 4. This is the maximum price f. o. b. shipping point nearest freezer or other warehouse.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 31, 10 F.R. 9431, effective 8–15–45 (effective date amended by Am. 32, 10 F.R. 9879, effective 8–7–45)]

(b) Branch warehouse sales. Where the processor receives frozen fish or seafood in carload lots at a warehouse remote from the original freezer and sells and delivers such frozen fish or seafood in less-than-carload lots from the stock of such warehouse, his maximum price f. o. b. shipping point nearest warehouse for such sales to wholesalers, government agencies, retailer-owned cooperatives or chain store warehouses is the applicable listed base price in section 13, with any appropriate adjustment for kind of package as provided in section 12, plus any transportation cost allowable under section 4, plus a mark-up of 12 percent applied to the sum of the foregoing.

However, the price established by this paragraph (b) may be charged by such processor only if:

(1) The branch warehouse is remote from the processor's principal place of business (which is not a public freezer), at which he unloads and warehouses fish and keeps two or more fulltime employees for the purpose of handling or packing fish and seafood exclusively for him, and from the stock of which he distributes and sells fish and seafood to wholesalers, retailers and purveyors of meals;

(2) The processor maintains at the branch warehouse, or in its vicinity where such warehouse is a public freezer, a plant for the distribution of fish, at which plant he unloads and warehouses fish and keeps two or more fulltime employees for the purpose of handling or packing fish and seafood exclusively for him; and

(3) The processor sells out of the stock of such plant and warehouse to retailers (other than chain store warehouses) whose sales are covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 507,[6] and to purveyors of meals at least 20 percent of the fish or seafood he sells and distributes from such plant and warehouse.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Am. 33, 10 F.R. 10395, effective 8–27–45]

(c) Cash and carry sales to retailers and purveyors of meals. The processor's maximum price for sales of frozen fish and seafood ex freezer, platform or other warehouse to individual retailers or purveyors of meals is the applicable listed base price in section 13, with any appropriate adjustment for kind of package as provided in section 12, plus any transportation cost allowable under section 4 (a) (1), plus a mark-up of 15 percent applied to the sum of the foregoing, plus any transportation cost allowable under section 4 (a) (2).

(d) Service and delivery sales to retailers and purveyors of meals. The processor's maximum price for sales of frozen fish and seafood to individual retailers or purveyors of meals, where the processor delivers such fish or seafood in his own motor truck or wagon or in a motor truck or wagon used solely for his own deliveries from his established place of doing business to the individual retail store or to the place of doing business of the purveyor of meals, is the applicable listed base price in section 13, with any appropriate adjustment for kind of package as provided in section 12, plus any transportation cost allowable under section 4 (a) (1), plus a mark-up of 25 percent applied to the sum of the foregoing, plus any transportation cost allowable under section 4 (a) (2).

[Paragraph (g) added by Am. 26, 10 F.R. 2025, effective 2–18–45; revoked by Am. 30, 10 F.R. 5648, effective 5–16–45]

[Sec. 2 amended by Am. 1, 8 F.R. 5566 effective 4–26–43; Am. 16, 9 F.R. 4182, effective 4–22–44, except that with respect to sales made by sellers to buyers, both located west of the Mississippi River effective 5–11–44; Am. 18, 9 F.R. 5163, effective 5–20–44; Am. 19, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–1–44 and Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44]

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 31 (7 F.R. 9894; 8 F.R. 1312, 3702, 9521) provides that: "Notwithstanding the provisions of any price regulation, the tax on transportation of all property (excepting coal) imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 shall, for purposes of determining the applicable maximum price of any commodity or service, be treated as though it were an increase of 3% in the amount charged by every person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire. It shall not be treated, under any provision of any price regulation or any interpretation thereof, as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price."]

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 106 (10 F. R. 2015) permits, under certain conditions, the addition of extra packing expenses to procurement agencies of the United States.]

SEC. 3. How wholesalers' maximum prices are fixed—(a) General instructions. Each wholesaler's maximum price for the kind of frozen fish or seafood listed in section 13 is found by multiplying his "net cost", as defined in the following paragraph (b), by the appropriate percentage mark-up figure, set out in the following paragraphs (c) and (d), adding the result to the net cost, and adding thereto the allowance in section 4 (b) (2) for transportation between warehouses of the same wholesaler, when such transportation is involved.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 19, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–1–44 and Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44]

(b) Net cost. (1) Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph the wholesaler's "net cost" is the amount he paid for the particular item of frozen fish or seafood delivered at his established place of doing business plus or minus any appropriate package differentials listed in section 12 less all discounts allowed him except the discount for prompt payment and excluding all charges for local trucking, hauling and handling.

When a wholesaler buys frozen fish or seafood in a style of processing for which a base price is listed in section 13 and further processes it in a style of processing for which a different price is listed he may add to his net cost the difference between the two base prices.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 31, 10 F.R. 9431, effective 8–15–45 (effective date amended by Am. 32, 10 F.R. 9879, effective 8–7–45)]

(2) The wholesaler's "net cost" must not exceed the sum of the following: (i) the applicable listed base price in section 13, plus or minus (ii) any appropriate package differentials listed in section 12 added or subtracted by previous handlers of the fish or seafood, plus (iii) allowable transportation costs added by previous handlers of the fish or seafood, plus (iv) the appropriate mark-up, if any, allowed his supplier, plus or minus (v) any package differentials listed in section 12 for repackaging, if any, by the wholesaler, plus (vi) allowable transportation costs for delivery of the frozen fish or seafood to the wholesaler's established place of doing business, from his supplier's place of business, exclusive of local trucking, hauling and handling charges.

[Subparagraph (2) amended by Am. 34, effective 10–27–45]

(3) [Revoked.]

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Am. 23, 9 F.R. 12696, effective 10–25–44; revoked by Am. 31]

(4) [Revoked.]

[Subparagraph (4) added by Am. 24, 9 F.R. 12590, effective 10–18–44; revoked by Am. 31]

[Paragraph (b) amended by Am. 9, 8 F.R. 16998, effective 12–17–43; Am. 16, 9 F.R. 4182, effective 4–22–44, except that with respect to sales made by sellers to buyers, both located west of the Mississippi River, effective 5–11–44; Am. 18, 9 F.R. 5163, effective 5–20–44; Am. 19, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–1–44; Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44; and as otherwise noted]

(c) Wholesaler's mark-up for different classes of sales. Mark-up is the percentage over net cost set forth hereinafter for the type of sale involved. To obtain the selling price, multiply the net cost by the percentage mark-up figure; the result added to the net cost is the selling price. The mark-up which applies in any particular sale depends on the class in which the buyer and seller fall and the kind of service performed in the particular sale. The classes, types of service, and mark-ups are set forth in the following paragraph (d).

No wholesaler who purchases frozen fish or seafood from another wholesaler or from a processor whose sales are governed by section 2 (b) may sell such frozen fish and seafood to other wholesalers at a price higher than his supplier's maximum price plus transportation cost allowable under section 4 (b).

In no event shall the price charged for a sale to an individual retailer or purveyor of meals include more than one mark-up of either 7 percent or 12 percent, as the case may be (regardless of whether the mark-up is taken pursuant to this section or section 2), and one retailer-owned cooperative or cash and carry or service and delivery wholesaler mark-up.

[Paragraph (c) amended by Am. 1, 8 F.R. 5566, effective 4–26–43; Am. 10, 9 F.R. 183, effective 1–8–44; Am. 19, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–1–44; and Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44]

(d) Classes of sales at wholesale for the purpose of this regulation. Depending upon the type sale to be made, a wholesaler will fall within one of the following classes. After the proper class is determined, the wholesaler will apply the mark-up provided for that class of sale:

(1) Primary wholesalers. Primary wholesalers with respect to any species of fish or seafood listed in the table of base prices of section 13 are wholesalers who buy frozen fish or seafood from processors in carload lots and distribute it for resale to other wholesalers, government agencies, retailer-owned cooperatives or chain store warehouses in less-than-carload lots, and who, during the greater part of the year preceding April 13, 1943, bought the greater portion of the frozen fish or seafood they sold in carload lots and distributed the greater portion of such fish or seafood in less-than-carload lots. In the sale of frozen fish or seafood which has been unloaded, stored and warehoused in the regular course of his business, the primary wholesaler's mark-up is 12 percent. In the case of sales of fish or seafood which has not been stored and warehoused, the primary wholesaler's mark-up is 7 percent. In the case of sales involving delivery from the processor's cold storage warehouse to the primary wholesaler's customer, there is no mark-up. Sales to wholesalers, government agencies, retailer-owned cooperatives, or chain store warehouses by wholesalers other than those who qualify as primary wholesalers as defined in this section shall be at prices no higher than their supplier's ceiling prices plus transportation costs allowable under section 4 (b), except for such less-than-carload lot sales to government agencies to which subparagraphs (3) and (4) of section 3 (d) are applicable.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 9, 8 F.R. 16998, effective 12–17–43; Am. 10, 9 F.R. 183, effective 1–8–44; Am. 11, 9 F.R. 946, effective 1–24–44; Am. 16, 9 F.R. 4182, effective 4–22–44, except that with respect to sales made by sellers to buyers, both located west of the Mississippi River, effective 5–11–44; Am. 19, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–1–44; and Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44]

(2) Retailer-owned cooperative wholesalers. This class includes wholesalers which are either non-profit organizations or corporations of which 51% or more of the stock is owned by its retailer customers and which generally sell and deliver from a cold storage warehouse to affiliated retail stores. The mark-up for this class of wholesaler is 10% to affiliated retail stores.

(3) Cash and carry sales. Cash and carry sales are sales of frozen fish or seafood to individual retailers and purveyors of meals by wholesalers and whose sales are made ex freezer or platform. The mark-up for this class of sale is 15 percent.

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Am. 19, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–1–44; and Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44]

(4) Service and delivery sales. Service and delivery sales are sales of frozen fish or seafood by wholesalers to individual retailers or purveyors of meals where the wholesaler delivers such frozen fish or seafood in his own motor truck or wagon or in a motor truck or wagon used solely for his own deliveries from his established place of doing business to the individual retail store or to the place of doing business of the purveyor of meals. The mark-up for this class of sale is 25%.

[Subparagraph (4) amended by Am. 9, 8 F.R. 16998, effective 12–17–43; Am. 19, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–1–44; and Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44]

(5) Broken lots. An allowance of 10 percent may be added to the mark-up for the classes of sales specified in the regulation by a processor or wholesaler who sells frozen fish or seafood, other than fillets or steaks, in broken lots to retailers or purveyors of meals: Provided, That no such allowance may be added for fish or seafood sold or delivered from the place where it has been frozen. A sale of a broken lot of fish or seafood is a sale of a partial lot of fish or seafood which the processor or wholesaler has broken or separated from the original content of the immediate container in which the product had been packed by the processor and which partial lot the processor or wholesaler sells and delivers to a customer apart from the remainder of the original content of the immediate container.

[Subparagraph (5) amended by Am. 18, 9 F.R. 5163, effective 5–20–44]

(6) Country trade shipments. Processors or wholesalers who ship to retailers and purveyors of meals located in rural areas or outlying points may add to their permitted mark-ups the actual cost of any special shipping cases and the cost of any extra refrigerant used for the shipment. Such processors or wholesalers must denote separately on invoices to customers the actual cost of the cases and the refrigerant.

[Subparagraph (6) amended by Am. 19, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–1–44]

(e) (1) Imported frozen fish and seafood. The maximum price at which a wholesaler, including any agent of a foreign shipper, may sell any frozen fish or seafood listed in section 13 which he imports is the applicable listed base price in section 13, plus or minus the appropriate differential for packaging provided in section 12, plus transportation cost allowable under section 4 (c) plus the appropriate mark-up provided in paragraphs (c) and (d) of section 3 applied to the sum of the foregoing, plus any transportation cost allowable under section 4 (b) (2) for transportation between warehouses of the same wholesaler.

[Subparagraph (1), formerly paragraph (e), amended by Am. 1, 8 F.R. 5566, effective 4–26–43; Am. 9, 8 F.R. 16998, effective 12–17–43; Am. 10, 9 F.R. 183, effective 1–8–44; Am. 11, 9 F.R. 946, effective 1–24–44; Am. 13, 9 F.R. 3388, effective 4–3–44; Am. 16, 9 F.R. 4182, effective 4–22–44, except with respect to sales made by sellers to buyers, both located west of the Mississippi River effective 5–11–44; Am. 19, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–1–44; Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44; and redesignated by Am. 24, 9 F.R. 12590, effective 10–18–44]

(2) [Revoked.]

[Subparagraph (2) added by Am. 24; revoked by Am. 29, 10 F.R. 4348, effective 4–28–45]

(f) Sales to governmental agencies. The maximum prices for sales to war procurement agencies shall be determined by reference to the class of sale and kind of service performed.

[Paragraph (f) added by Am. 1, 8 F.R. 5566, effective 4–26–43; designated (f) (1) and heading amended by Am. 15, 9 F.R. 3424, effective 3–28–44; redesignated by Am. 30, and amended by Am. 31]

(2) [Revoked.]

[Subparagraph (2) added by Am. 15; revoked by Am. 30, 10 F.R. 5648, effective 5–16–45]

SEC. 4. Allowance for transportation—(a) When a processor may add transportation costs—(1) Fresh fish transportation. If a processor freezes a species of fish or seafood in any place other than a port where fish or seafood of that species is landed ex-vessel or shipped in by a producer, he may include as part of his maximum price the actual per pound transportation cost, not to exceed the carload rail freight rate per pound for fresh fish, if such rate is available, from the port of entry to the freezing point. Where a carload rail freight rate is not available such per pound transportation cost must not exceed the lowest available common carrier rate.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44; and Am. 31, 10 F.R. 9431, effective 8–15–45 (effective date of Am. 31 amended by Am. 32, 10 F.R. 9879, effective 8–7–45)]

(2) Frozen fish transportation. If a processor ships frozen fish or seafood to a warehouse or other distribution point remote from the original freezer, such processor may include as part of his maximum selling price, for sales from such warehouse or other distribution point, the actual transportation cost. Such transportation cost shall not include charges for local trucking, hauling and handling, and shall not exceed the common carrier rate for the type of transportation used.

(b) When a wholesaler may add transportation costs. (1) Any wholesaler who buys frozen fish or seafood from a processor or other wholesaler may include as part of his net cost the actual transportation cost from his supplier's shipping point to his established place of business.

(2) Any wholesaler who ships frozen fish or seafood from one of his warehouses to a remote warehouse or other distribution point may add to his maximum price the actual transportation cost from the shipping point nearest the first warehouse to such remote warehouse or other distribution point.

(3) The actual transportation cost referred to in paragraph (b) (1) and (2) shall not include local trucking, hauling and handling charges and shall not exceed the common carrier rate for the type of shipment used.

(c) Transportation allowance for imported frozen fish. Any importer or agent of a foreign consignor of any frozen fish or seafood except frozen Atlantic Coast smelts and frozen Canadian lake fish covered in Schedules Nos. 36–43, inclusive, in the table of base prices in section 13 may add as a transportation allowance the lowest amount determined on the following three bases:

[Above paragraph amended by Am. 20, 9 F.R. 11065, effective 9–11–44 and Am. 34, effective 10–27–45]

(1) The actual cost of transportation (exclusive of local trucking, hauling and handling charges) from the seller's shipping point to the importer's receiving point:

(2) The actual cost of transportation (exclusive of local trucking, hauling and handling charges) to the importer's receiving point from the point at which the frozen fish or seafood entered the United States or the carload rail rate for frozen fish or seafood from the point in the United States nearest the foreign shipper's shipping point, whichever is designated on the invoice by the importer.

(3) The actual cost of transportation (exclusive of local trucking, hauling and handling charges) to the importer's receiving point from the nearest domestic port from which a substantial volume of that species is shipped.

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Am. 31, 10 F.R. 9431, effective 8–15–45 (effective date amended by Am. 32, 10 F.R. 9879, effective 8–7–45)]

(4) In determining the transportation allowance, provided in subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) of this paragraph (c), common carrier rates shall be used. The importer may add the allowance only when he records it on an invoice to the customer purchasing the fish or seafood, designating which of the three bases he is using.

Where frozen Atlantic Coast smelts are imported for resale in the United States the freight from the point of shipment to the wholesaler's warehouse, not to exceed the carload rail freight rate, may be added.

Where frozen Canadian lake fish covered in Schedules Nos. 36–43, inclusive, in the table of base prices in section 13 are imported for resale in the United States, there may be added the actual transportation cost (excluding local trucking, hauling and handling charges) from the point of shipment in Canada to the destination point in the United States, but in no event more than the carload rail freight rate for frozen fish from the City of Winnipeg in the Province of Manitoba, Canada, to the destination point in the United States.

ARTICLE II—RECORD KEEPING AND ENFORCEMENT

SEC. 6. Records and reports. (a) Every processor making a sale and every person making a purchase of frozen fish or seafood in the course of trade or business or otherwise dealing therein, other than a purchaser at retail, after April 13, 1943, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and of the seller, the price contracted for or received, the quantity, species, size, grade, style of processing of pack of frozen fish or seafood, and the container type and size, and indicating that the fish or seafood is frozen.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 12, 9 F.R. 2023, effective 2–26–44]

(b) Every person making a sale of any frozen fish or seafood subject to this regulation shall furnish to the purchaser at the time of delivery a written statement setting forth the date of the sale; the name and address of the buyer and seller; the species sold; a notation that the fish or seafood is frozen; the quantity, sizes, grades and styles of processing of frozen fish or seafood where price differences exist in the table of base prices in section 13 because of these factors, and the prices charged therefor, including a separate statement of the container differentials, if any, as provided in section 12, and allowable transportation cost, if any. If the statement furnished a purchaser at the time of delivery does not identify the size, grade and style of processing, where price differences exist in the table of base prices in section 13 because of these factors, the maximum price which may be charged for the frozen fish and seafood involved in the sale is the maximum price for the lowest priced size, grade and style of processing of the species of frozen fish and seafood sold. If the seller fails to note on the statement that the fish or seafood is frozen, and if a price is listed in Maximum Price Regulation No. 418 for the species in the particular style of processing or dressing sold, the maximum price which may be charged for the fish or seafood involved in the sale is the lower of the prices listed in Maximum Price Regulation No. 418 and this Maximum Price Regulation No. 364.

The Regional Administrator may alter, modify or suspend such requirements with reference to such types of sales and such localities within his jurisdiction as he may designate, but only in the case where the buyer and seller are both located within his jurisdiction. Each of the individual respondents who are described in this paragraph, subparagraphs (20) to (27), inclusive, has, for a number of years, participated in the cooperative and collective action of all of those named herein as respondents in the formation, putting into operation and making effective the methods, systems, practices and policies which are alleged herein to be unlawful.

Description of the Industry and Business of Respondents

PAR. FOUR: The products with which this proceeding is concerned are various types of steel, alloy-steel and other metallic chain and chain parts. The principal types of chain involved here are welded chain, weldless chain and tire chain.

Welded chain is so designated because each link is closed and sealed through welding. It includes chain of various size and weights for many uses such as anchor chains, log chains, tie chains (for securing dairy cows at stanchions), tie-out chains (for use in securing cows and other animals for grazing, etc.) and trace chains (for harnessing teams and for other agricultural uses).

Since the development of the art of electric welding, the Welded Chain Industry has used it for mass production of welded chain. It is this type or class of chain upon which chain manufacturers depend for their principal tonnage and business. In the trade, welded chain is also referred to as commercial chain and pound chain. It is priced by the manufacturers on a per pound basis.

Weldless chain is made by bending chain wire into the form of links without the use of the welding process. Such chain is for the most part light in weight and in general is used only where the stronger welded chain is not required.

Tire chains are made by the welding process but are so linked as to form two line chains connected by cross chains spaced at equal distances so that they may be attached around the wheels of motorized equipment, including automobiles, trucks and farm tractors.

Welded and weldless chain as such are not patented articles but the manufacture and sale of tire chains was carried on under a patent monopoly of Respondent American until the patents expired in 1921. Since that date practically all of the chain manufacturers have produced and sold tire chains as unpatented goods. However, Respondent American, beginning in 1918, acquired patents on improvements in making tire chains. Respondent McKay subsequent to 1925, also acquired patents on improvements in the making of tire chains. The most important of the patents thus acquired by Respondents American and McKay in the manufacture of tire chains relate to the reinforcement of the tread links in the cross chains by adding to each such link additional metal at the wearing or contact point or surface in the form of a diagonally extending reinforcing anti-skid bar or other device. The relevancy and materiality to this proceeding of respondents' practices in their use of patent monopolies over such improvements in tire chains are hereinafter set forth at length in Paragraphs Six and Seven of Count I hereof.

Respondent members in the course and conduct of their business manufacture, sell and distribute practically all the Welded chain, weldless chain and tire chains produced in the United States. The said respondent members sell such products at various points throughout the United States to wholesalers, dealers and consumers including the United States Government, and when sales are made respondent members have regularly shipped and do ship said products to the purchasers at points in the several States of the United States and the District of Columbia other than in the States of origin of the shipments. The term "commerce" as hereinafter used means "commerce" as defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act.

Prior to the adoption of the practices hereinafter described, said respondent members were in active and substantial competition with each other and with other members of the chain industry in making and seeking to make sales of their products in trade and commerce between and among the several States of the United States and in the District of Columbia; and except for the use of the acts, methods, practices and policies hereinafter described such active and substantial competition would have continued and said respondent members would now be in active and substantial competition with each other and with other members of the industry.

Offenses Charged

PAR. FIVE: For more than eight years last past respondents have maintained and now have in effect an unlawful combination (more fully hereinafter described in detail in the specifications of the purposes, acts and results accomplished pursuant thereto) between and among themselves and others not named herein as respondents to hinder, frustrate, suppress and eliminate competition in the manufacture, sale and distribution of chain and chain products, including welded chain, weldless chain and tire chains, in the course of the aforesaid commerce among and between the various States of the United States and in the District of Columbia.

The general purpose and result of the said combination are accomplished through cooperative and collective action in which respondents have engaged, continued and are now carrying out, in promoting a common course of action, mutual agreement, understanding and conspiracy to employ, and the actual employment of the acts, methods, systems, practices and policies described and set forth in Paragraphs Six, Seven, Eight, Nine, Ten and Eleven hereof and which are aided, abetted, encouraged and made more effective by participation of the respective respondents therein through their separate employment of the acts, methods, systems, practices and policies set forth in Paragraphs Eight, Nine, Ten and Eleven hereof.

Pursuant to, in furtherance of, and as a part of the aforesaid combination, respondents have done and performed the following acts and things, and used the following methods, systems and practices:

(1) Respondent members, acting among themselves and through and by means of Respondent Institute, its directors, officers and agents, including Respondents Merriman, McCann, Kirkpatrick, and Campbell, Jr., and on certain occasions through and by means of Respondents Shirley, Olcott and Nichols, and by other means and methods have entered into, engaged in and carried out, and are still engaged in and carrying out, understandings and agreements for the purpose and with the effect of substantially hindering, frustrating, suppressing and eliminating actual and potential competition as to price and otherwise in the sale and distribution of welded chain, weldless chain and tire chain in trade and commerce between and among the various States of the United States and in the District of Columbia.

(2) Respondent members organized, have operated, and do now operate Respondent Institute as an incorporated trade association to promote and serve the mutual interests of the Respondent Members, and now use it as an instrument or vehicle for their joint and cooperative purpose and action in hindering, frustrating, suppressing and eliminating competition in price and otherwise in the sale and distribution of chain and chain products in commerce among and between the various States and in the District of Columbia.

(3) Respondent members employed Respondent Merriman on or about August 1, 1938, to serve them as a common agent to make more effective their suppression of price competition, and he has since that date served them as a common agent in the suppression of price competition and "stabilization of prices in the industry."

When respondent members were considering their employment of Respondent Merriman during July 1938, one of their representatives, an official of Respondent International, who was charged with the task of interviewing said Merriman wrote one of his confederates:

"This is unusually confidential, and I wish you would keep it to yourselves, that we are figuring around on a new man to run the industry, something like a Judge Landis, or a moving picture boss, or something like that, that can hold the 'brothers' more in line than they have been in the past; • • • so that I think that things are moving in the right direction for the stabilization of prices in the industry • • •."

(4) Respondent members agreed to fix and maintain, and have fixed, maintained and made effective identical delivered price quotations, terms and conditions of sale for chain and chain products in the United States to dealers and distributors thereof and to other purchasers thereof, including the Procurement Division of the U. S. Treasury Department and other governmental agencies.

(5) Respondent members have adopted and continued in effect by agreement, understanding, and concerted action among themselves, price fixing formulae whereby identical delivered price quotations and identical delivered costs for the sale of chain and chain products are fixed and maintained.

(6) Respondent members agreed to adopt and have adopted and maintained systems of delivered price quotations and delivered costs designed to prevent and which do prevent reflection in such quotations and costs any of the differences in cost of raw materials, other items, or freight delivery from their respective places of manufacture to the places of business of the intending purchasers of chain and chain products. Said systems also prevent the creation of any advantage to many of said purchasers in delivered cost which would otherwise result because of proximity of such purchasers to the places of production and on the contrary result in discrimination against nearby customers.

(7) Respondent members cooperatively make and announce price quotations in such a way that the delivered cost of their respective products to a purchaser is matched and made identically the same by all members regardless of which one of them may supply any purchaser or user and regardless from which of their producing plants the goods are purchased and shipped. Such results are obtained by said respondent members through the separate employment and use by each of pricing methods which for convenience here are referred to as basing point system or practice, freight equalization system or practice and zone system or practice, and more fully and particularly described in Paragraphs Eight, Nine, Ten and Eleven hereof. Through the use of such systems and practices respondent members have prevented the principles and forces of competition from making and determining their respective price quotations.

(8) Respondent members have cooperatively promoted adherence and do now cooperatively promote adherence to delivered prices announced under their so-called basing point system in their sale of welded chain, as aforesaid, and make such prices effective. They further obviate and preclude the exercise of independent and competitive will, judgment and action with regard to prices and price policies under said system by:

(a) Providing themselves with a schedule or compilation of common pricing factors which respondents designate as "freight rate" factors and which they cause to be jointly prepared for them directly and through Respondent Institute by one Charles Donley, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and others. Such schedule or compilation is for use by each of said respondent members in calculating and determining the freight factor in the delivered price quotations on welded chain as made by each to its respective customers. The compilation of "freight rate" factors thus cooperatively and collectively compiled and disseminated between and among respondent members is not intended to serve any need for freight rates for shipping purposes but is designed for their use in pricing as aforesaid and is so used. These freight factors are not the actual or official freight rates in many if not most instances but are used in each instance, regardless of routes and rates, between the points indicated in the compilation. They do not comprise an accurate or approximate showing of the actual freight rates applicable from the various points from which respondent members actually ship chain and chain products;

(b) Filing and exchanging the intimate details of each other's business directly or indirectly with one another through the offices of Respondent Institute and otherwise. Information thus filed and exchanged between and among said respondents has included such intimate details of each other's business as the names of certain of their respective customers, the prices paid to each member by such customers, and the volume of business placed in particular instances with each respondent member by such customers;

(9) Respondent members, by agreement, have adopted and used a price leadership plan whereby Respondent American leads in the announcement and publication of price increases and decreases and as a part of the price leadership "plan," as agreed upon, such announcements and publications of Respondent American are adopted and followed by the other Respondent members.

(10) Respondent members have communicated between and among themselves and filed and exchanged with each other through correspondence, telegraph, telephone and otherwise, information concerning prices which have been quoted and charged by particular respondent members and information concerning future prices and price quotations to be charged by respondent members for chain and chain products.

(11) Respondent members agreed to hold and have held meetings from time to time under the auspices and supervision of Respondent Institute, its officers, employees and agents, including Respondent Merriman, during the course of which and at other times Respondent Institute and its officers and other agents cooperated with and assisted said respondent members in furthering and carrying out the unlawful acts, practices and methods herein set forth.

(12) Respondent Merriman and other officials and agents of Respondent Institute have, from time to time during the course of meeting of members of Respondent Institute and at other times, communicated and discussed past, current and future prices and price quotations with various respondent members and advised, instructed and pressed them with regard to what price quotations should be made on chain and chain products.

(13) Respondent members, with the assistance of Respondent Merriman, agreed to adopt and have adopted and maintained a uniform method of determining the basic and additional discounts and the amount thereof to be granted by the respective respondent members to their respective purchasers of chain and chain products manufactured and sold as aforesaid by said members.

(14) Respondent members have agreed to increase and decrease and have simultaneously increased and at other times decreased the basic discounts and the amounts thereof at which said members sell chain and chain products.

(15) Respondent members agreed to enter into and have entered into written "jobbers sales agreements" and "dealers agreements" pursuant to and under which the jobbers and dealers of the respective respondent members were required to maintain in their resale of chain and chain products the resale prices prescribed by said members.

(16) Respondent members, acting directly between and among themselves and through and by means of Respondent Institute, its directors, officers and agents, including Respondents Merriman, McCann, Kirkpatrick and Campbell, Jr., and on some occasions through and by means of Respondents Shirley, Olcott and Nichols, have agreed to adopt and have adopted and maintained a classification of purchasers of chain and chain products, including tire chains, for the purpose of aiding respondent members and which has aided respondent members in established arbitrary "channels of distribution" through particular types of middlemen and the establishment of arbitrary and particular levels of discounts of each class of customer, so classified in respondents' "channels of distribution."

(17) Respondent members, with the cooperation and assistance of Respondents Merriman, Shirley, Olcott and Nichols, fraudulently secured from officials of the Procurement Division of the United States Treasury Department approval of certain specifications of tire chains for the purpose and with the effect of aiding respondents in eliminating certain competitors and their price competition in the submission of bids on tire chains to the Federal Government.

(18) Respondent members, prior to, during 1943 and thereafter, acted to obstruct production and sales of chain by persons and firms not under control of respondents, and thereby interfered with production of chain contracted for use in the war effort.

PAR. SIX: Respondent American, originally known as Weed Chain Tire Grip Company, was the original manufacturer of tire chains in this country and until about 1921 it enjoyed a patent monopoly in the manufacture and sale of tire chains by virtue of its ownership or control of the following patents: Parsons No. 723,299, March 24, 1903, and Weed No. 768,495, August 23, 1904. Despite the fact that Respondent American was engaged in active litigation from 1904 to 1913 relative to the aforesaid controlling patents on tire chains, it was the dominating factor in the tire chain business. However, in 1921, when the aforesaid patents expired, other chain companies entered upon the manufacture and sale of tire chains but Respondent American remained a dominate factor in the manufacture and sale of tire chains and continued to be recognized and accepted by its competitors, through mutual understanding, as the price leader in the industry.

Toward the end of the 1920's Respondent American acquired ownership or control over patented inventions covering improvements in tire chains. The improvements are generally described as bar reinforcements and anti-skid devices. Some such improvements are covered by letters patent Beckwith No. 1,536,556, May 5, 1925; Reyburn No. 1,696,255, December 25, 1928; and Conner No. 2,180,101, November 14, 1939. Other patents controlled by Respondent American cover several forms of reinforced anti-skid links for tire chains. There are no patents applicable to tire chains as such.

The aforesaid anti-skid reinforced links are made a part of the tread members in the cross chains of tire chains with the reinforcements usually in the form of a diagonally extending bar or other such device on the contract points of the tread member links which are the points subjected to the greatest wear. Although other tire chain manufacturers were engaged in the manufacture and sale of tire chains not embodying the aforesaid patented inventions held by Respondent American, the latter brought at least one such competitor into litigation under allegations that it was infringing its patents. The company which was thus involved in such litigation with Respondent American was Respondent McKay which had been marketing a type of reinforced chain having the trade name "Multi-Grip."

Pursuant to, in furtherance of, and to make more effective the unlawful combination described in Paragraph Five hereof, Respondent American and Respondent McKay settled the aforesaid suit by agreement in September 1935.

Pursuant to, in furtherance of, and to make more effective the unlawful combination described in Paragraph Five hereof, Respondent American and Respondent McKay also entered into written agreements on September 26, 1935, pursuant to the terms of which Respondent American adopted the subterfuge of a so-called "license" to Respondent McKay to make and sell unpatented tire chains embodying the anti-skid reinforcement features of the aforesaid Beckwith, Reyburn, Conner and other patents held by Respondent American. These agreements also provided for Respondent McKay's purchase of cross chains containing the tread links embodying anti-skid reinforcement features controlled under the aforesaid patents owned by Respondent American. The agreements also stipulated that Respondent McKay in its sale of unpatented tire chains containing the patented cross chains or tread member links embodying the anti-skid reinforcement features under the aforesaid patents, should not sell such tire chains at any price except that specified by Respondent American. The agreements also provided for payment of a royalty by the so-called "licensee" to be used and expended for the benefit not only of the so-called "licensor" but also of the "licensee"' through advertisement and promotion of the sale of the tire chains which contained the patented anti-skid bar reinforcing devices in tread links. The agreements had a provision by which Respondent McKay could at its election terminate the same by written notice and in the instance of Respondent McKay such election was exercised on February 6, 1939. However, Respondent McKay has not discontinued its cooperative action with Respondent American and the other respondent members in their joint, concerted and effective action to maintain fixed prices at which unpatented tire chains are offered for sale and sold by the said respondent members throughout the United States.

On October 7, 1935, Respondents American, Pyrene and Hodell (then trading under the name and style of Chain Products Company) executed written agreements similar in form and substance to the aforesaid agreements which were executed by Respondent American and Respondent McKay on September 26, 1935. Subsequently thereto, namely on May 19, 1939, Respondent St. Pierre and on July 12, 1939, Respondent S. G. Taylor, executed with Respondent American written agreements similar to the one executed by Respondents American and McKay on September 26, 1935. The aforesaid written agreements which were executed by Respondents American, Hodell, Pyrene, St. Pierre and S. G. Taylor have not been terminated.

Pursuant to the terms and provisions of the aforesaid written agreements the respondent members who purport to be "licensees" thereunder have adhered to and made effective the price schedules on unpatented tire chains as announced and published by Respondent American.

Both prior to the execution of the aforesaid written agreements and subsequent thereto, representatives of the purported "licensor" Respondent American and "licensee" Respondents McKay, Hodell, St. Pierre, Pyrene and S. G. Taylor and representatives of other Respondent Members, during the course of meetings and at other times have communicated with each other and conferred concerning the prices which were to be announced as well as those which had been announced by Respondent American, the purported "licensor," under the aforesaid written agreements. During the course of such meetings, communications and conferences, such representatives arrived at understandings and agreements between and among themselves concerning the prices that should be and were announced by Respondent American pursuant to the terms and provisions of the aforesaid written agreements, all for the purpose and with the effect of eliminating price competition between and among respondent members in their sale of unpatented tire chains.

Despite the provision in the aforesaid written agreements whereby Respondent American purported to "license" the aforesaid Respondent members to make and sell the aforesaid anti-skid bar reinforced tire chains the said respondent members as "licensees" simply took advantage of certain provisions contained in the said written agreements whereby they purchased all parts of tire chains which contained the aforesaid patented anti-skid bar reinforced features from Respondent American at factory cost plus 10%. They then used such parts in the manufacture of unpatented tire chains which they then offered for sale and sold at the specified prices which had been agreed upon in the aforesaid written agreements and otherwise by representatives of the Respondent Members, including the aforesaid "licensor" and "licensees."

Respondent members did not intend at any time that the aforesaid written "license" agreements should operate as genuine license agreements pursuant to which the "licensees" would make and sell the aforesaid anti-skid bar reinforced tread member links. On the contrary they sought to use and did use such purported written "license" agreements as a subterfuge and device to conceal from and deceive the public and government officials into believing that the said written agreements were licenses to make and sell products of a patented invention whereas in fact respondent members never intended that the "licensees" should make, nor they made, the patented articles as provided for in the said written agreements. They have been used only as the fulcrum for unlawful price fixing agreements pursuant to the terms and provisions of which the "licensees" were more firmly bound to maintain prices on unpatented tire chains as fixed by the combination of Respondents set forth in Paragraph Five hereof. Said written agreements have also served respondent members as a device and scheme whereby resale prices were fixed and maintained on tire chains made by the aforesaid purported "licensees" who only purchased from respondent American the aforesaid anti-skid bar reinforced tread member links for use in the manufacture and sale of unpatented tire chains.

PAR. SEVEN: Pursuant to, in furtherance of and to make more effective the unlawful combination which is set forth in paragraphs five and six hereof, Respondent Members American, McKay, Pyrene and Hodell entered into an agreement during 1937 with Respondents Shirley, Olcott and Nichols, copartners trading under the firm name Shirley, Olcott and Nichols (sometimes hereinafter referred to merely as Respondent Shirley) pursuant to the terms and provisions of which it was arranged and agreed for the latter to serve the said Respondent Members as their common agent in seeking to sell tire chains for them to the Federal Government through its various agencies in Washington, D. C.

The aforesaid agreement between and among the aforesaid members and Respondent Shirley was performed, carried out and made effective after collaborations and conferences between and among their representatives where it was arranged for Respondent American to instruct Respondent Shirley to serve as a common agent for all of the said respondent members in submitting bids to agencies of the Federal Government in the name of Respondent Shirley but on the behalf and for the benefit of the said respondent members for the sale of tire chains of all types, including those with the aforesaid patented anti-skid bar reinforced factors and those without such features, to the Federal Government at such prices as were prescribed by Respondent American after its collaborations and agreements with representatives of the other said respondent members, as previously alleged herein.

Respondent Shirley then proceeded in accordance with such instructions during 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1941 and 1942, to submit bids to the Federal Government in his name on tire chains at prices previously agreed upon between and among respondent members and Respondent Shirley and which were named and specified by Respondent American. In accordance with agreements and prearrangements which Respondent American and Respondent Shirley had with other respondent members, as aforesaid, he allocated to each of said respondent members on equal shares the revenue secured from all contracts for tire chains which were awarded to him by the Federal Government pursuant to such bids. He also allocated equally among said respondent members the freight costs involved in the shipment of such tire chains to the Federal Government under such contracts in accordance with agreements that he and representatives of said respondent members had previously reached.

On certain occasions when Respondent Shirley thus submitted bids under seal to the Federal Government in his own name but for the benefit of each of the said respondent members at prices specified by Respondent American said members also submitted bids under their own name under seal to the Federal Government, usually identically the same prices bid by said Respondent Shirley but on certain other occasions at previously agreed upon differences therefrom. In many such instances where bids were thus tied or made identical by prior agreements of respondent members and Respondent Shirley the officials of the Federal Government under the laws requiring them to secure competitive bids and to make award to the lowest bidder were compelled to make award by lot to Respondent Shirley or one of the said respondent members which had submitted such tie bids.

In particular instances where bidders other than said respondent members and Respondent Shirley submitted bids which were lower than the one collusive bid at fixed prices as submitted in the names of certain of the respondent members and Respondent Shirley, then Respondent American advised Respondent Shirley, with respect to future bidding, not to worry about such low bidders "as they will be controlled." In bidding subsequent to such advice from Respondent American to Respondent Shirley, competition with respondents by such other low bidders lessened in quality and quantity.

Through the aforesaid methods, policy and practice of bidding Respondent Shirley and said respondent members were enabled to and did present to the United States government and its purchasing agencies an appearance of competition when in fact all of their bids were fixed and agreed upon prior to their submission by cooperative and collective action between and among their representatives. Through that procedure the United States government was denied the benefit of competition to which it was entitled under the laws which require that its purchasing officials secure competitive bids on such occasions and make awards to the lowest bidder.

PAR. EIGHT: Each respondent member for the purpose and with the result of making more effective the matching of price quotations and the consequent hindrance, frustration, suppression and elimination of price competition through the unlawful combination alleged in Paragraph Five hereof, with the knowledge that each other respondent member simultaneously does likewise, generally refrains from quoting f. o. b. its place of production or shipment prices that are independent of and unrelated to the basing point, freight equalization, and zone systems or pricing practices, more fully described in Paragraphs Nine, Ten and Eleven hereof.

Each respondent member, with the knowledge that each other respondent member simultaneously does likewise, uses the basing point, freight equalization and zone delivered pricing practices and systems hereinafter more fully described in Paragraphs Nine, Ten and Eleven hereof, for the purpose and with the effect of keeping other respondent members informed as to what its prices are to be and of matching its quotations of delivered prices or delivered costs with those of other respondent members as made to any intending purchaser. Each respondent member thereby assists each other member in maintaining a situation whereby purchasers are unable to find any difference or advantage in price in the delivered price or delivered cost quotations of all respondent members. Each respondent member uses the aforesaid basing point, freight equalization and zone delivered pricing practices and systems for the purpose and with the result of making more effective the hindrance, frustration and suppression of competition alleged in Paragraph Five hereof.

PAR. NINE: Basing Point Pricing System. Each respondent member in arriving at the sums or amounts quoted in its published price lists relating to welded chain provides that the delivered cost to any intending purchaser or user at the latter's destination shall be the figure or sum resulting from the use of a formula composed of a basing price plus freight from a single basing point (Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania) to the destination of such purchaser or user irrespective of whether shipment is to be made or is made from such basing point or another location from which other and different freight rates actually apply.

Each respondent member uses and specifies in its price lists relating to welded chain, the same base point and the same base price for such base point used that is used and specified by other respondent members. The result is that when the same base prices of each respondent member are so used as factors in the formula of base price plus the same freight factor from the base point to a purchaser's destination, their quoted delivered cost or price on welded chain to any intending purchaser or user at his destination is exactly matched and made identical by all respondent members at any given time.

Said respondent members produce welded chain and ship same to their respective customers from numerous points other than the point used, as aforesaid, as a basing point.

Each respondent member, in its use of the aforesaid basing point practice, notwithstanding differences in the actual freight rates from its place of business and manufacture to the different locations of its different customers with lower rates applying to those nearby than to those more distantly located, habitually and systematically demands, charges, accepts and receives as an inherent and necessary incident to the said basing point practice of delivered price quotations, larger sums and amounts for products of equal quality and quantity from its customers located at or near its place of business or manufacture than from other customers located at greater distances. Such nearby customers are thereby required to pay more, and the more distant customers to pay less, to each respondent member for welded chain than would be the case if the forces of competition made and determined the prices at which respondent members sell chain and chain products.

Each respondent member, as aforesaid, uses said basing point pricing practice as a device by which it not only suppresses price competition and deprives its nearby customers of price advantages which they would, under competitive conditions, enjoy by reason of their proximity to points of production, but also as an inherent and necessary incident to the operation of the aforesaid basing point method of pricing, unfairly discriminates against its nearby customers in favor of those more distantly located.

PAR. TEN: Freight Equalization Pricing System: Each respondent member, in arriving at the sums or amounts quoted in its published price lists relating to weldless chain, provides that the delivered costs to any intending purchaser or user at the latter's destination shall be the figure or sum resulting from the use or application of a formula of an f. o. b. factory price quotation plus whatever freight factor is necessary to exactly equalize or match the sum of a base price at four specified basing points, namely, f. o. b. York, Pennsylvania; Cleveland, Ohio; Cincinnati, Ohio; or Bridgeport, Connecticut, plus freight therefrom to the buyers' destination as announced by it or other of the respondent members in such manner, form and substance as to enable, and which does enable, all respondent members to match their delivered costs on weldless chain as quoted by them to any intending purchaser or user at his destination at any given point of time.

Said respondent members produce weldless chain and ship same to their respective customers from points other than the points named as aforesaid as f. o. b. points from which freight is equalized and delivered costs matched.

Each respondent member, in its use of the aforesaid freight equalization pricing practice, notwithstanding differences in the actual freight rates from its place of business and manufacture to the different locations of its different customers with lower rates applying to those nearby than to those more distantly located, habitually and systematically demands, charges, accepts and receives as an inherent and necessary incident to the said freight equalization practice of price quotations, larger sums and amounts for products of the same quality and quantity from its customers located at or near its place of business and manufacture than from other customers located at greater distances. Such nearby customers are thereby required to pay more, and its more distant customers to pay less, to such respondent member for weldless chain and chain products than would be the case were its price quotations determined by the forces of competition.

Each respondent member as aforesaid uses said freight equalization pricing practice as a device by which it not only suppresses price competition and deprives its nearby customers of price advantages which otherwise they would naturally enjoy by reason of their proximity to places of production, but also discriminates against such nearby customers in favor of those more distantly located.

PAR. ELEVEN: Zone Pricing System. Each respondent member in arriving at the sums or amounts quoted in its published price lists relating to tire chains provides that the delivered cost of tire chains to any intending purchaser or user at the latter's destination shall be identically the same delivered cost quoted to all other purchasers or users in the United States wherever located, irrespective of the fact that some such intending purchasers and users are located at or near such respondent member's place of manufacture and shipment and other purchasers and users are located thousands of miles away; also irrespective of the fact that the cost of shipping tire chains from its place of manufacture ranges from zero, with respect to those customers who take delivery at its place of manufacture, to an amount equal to a substantial part of the net price realized from the delivered price of tire chains sold to customers located at distances of 1,000 miles or more from the place of manufacture.

Each respondent member uses the aforesaid zone pricing practice in order that it and other respondent members might match, and through its use they are enabled to match, the delivered cost quoted by each of the others to any intending purchaser or user of tire chains at any destination at a given time.

Each respondent member, through the use of the aforesaid zone pricing practice, notwithstanding differences in the actual freight rates from its place of business and manufacture to the different locations of its different customers with lower rates applying to those nearby than to those more distantly located, habitually and systematically demands, charges, accepts and receives as a necessary incident to the aforesaid zone pricing practice of delivered price quotations, larger sums and amounts for products of equal quality and quantity from its respective customers located at or near its place of business or manufacture, than from other customers located at greater distances. Such nearby customers are thereby required to pay more, and the more distant customers to pay less, to it for tire chains than would otherwise be the case if the forces of competition made and determined the price quotations of each such respondent member.

Each respondent member as aforesaid uses said zone pricing practice as a device by which it not only suppresses price competition and deprives its nearby customers of price advantages which otherwise they would naturally enjoy by reason of their proximity to points of production, but as a necessary incident to said zone pricing practice discriminates against its nearby customers in favor of other customers more distantly located.

PAR. TWELVE: The inherent and necessary effect of the adoption and maintenance by the respondent members of the delivered price systems described and alleged in Paragraphs Eight, Nine, Ten and Eleven herein includes all and singularly the following, to-wit:

(1) The elimination of price competition between respondent members in the sale of chain and chain products at locations adjacent to each of the several places of fabrication of said products;

(2) Substantial lessening of competition among respondent members in all parts of the United States by virtue of each respondent member voluntarily and reciprocally surrendering and canceling the inherent advantage it has over its competitors within the market area nearer freight-wise to its factory than to a factory of a competitor in consideration of a similar surrender and cancellation by each of the other respondent members;

(3) The levying of an additional financial burden in varying arbitrary sums for the sole purpose of reimbursing respondent members for concessions voluntarily made by them to some of their customers in the accomplishment of respondents' unlawful purpose to destroy price competition in the sale of chain and chain products in commerce and to create for the said respondent members a monopoly therein and thereof;

(4) The fixing and control by respondents' concurrent action of an arbitrary substantial portion of the total cost of the product to any and every purchased upon a basis having no relation to total cost of production, sales and transportation;

(5) The maintenance of monopolistic unfair and oppressive discrimination against purchasers of chain and chain products in large areas of the United States by depriving such purchasers of the advantage in cost otherwise accruing to them from their proximity to the factories of respondent members;

(6) The levying upon nearby purchasers of chain and chain products increases in net prices of such products over what said net prices on such products to such customers would have been if said prices had been fixed by competition among respondents, such increases in net prices being approximately equal to decreases in net prices afforded by respondents to distantly located customers. Each respondent member thus compels its nearby customers to pay not only the actual freight rates on the products purchased by them respectively, but also in effect compels such purchasers to pay portions of the cost of transportation of said products to other purchasers distantly located from the factory of such respondent member.

PAR. THIRTEEN: The combination and the acts, practices, methods, policies, agreements and understandings of the Respondents as hereinbefore alleged, all and singularly, are unfair and to the prejudice of the public; deprive the public of the benefit of competition; are discriminatory against some buyers and users of chain and chain products; have a dangerous tendency to and have actually hindered, frustrated, suppressed and eliminated competition in the sale of chain and chain products in commerce within the intent and meaning of the Federal Trade Commission Act; have the tendency and capacity to restrain unreasonably, and have restrained unreasonably, such commerce in said products; have a dangerous tendency to create in Respondents a monopoly in the sale and distribution of such products and constitute unfair methods of competition and unfair and deceptive acts and practices in commerce within the intent and meaning in section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act.

COUNT II

The Charge Under the Clayton Act

PARAGRAPH ONE: Pursuant to the provisions of section 2 of an Act of Congress approved October 15, 1914, entitled "An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies and for other purposes," commonly known as the Clayton Act, as amended by an Act of Congress approved June 19, 1936, commonly known as the Robinson-Patman Act, the Commission, having reason to believe that the parties hereinafter specifically named and more particularly described as respondents in this Count II, sometimes hereinafter referred to as respondent members and included among those named as respondents in the caption hereof, have violated and are violating the provisions of said Act of Congress as so amended, and it appearing to the Commission that a proceeding by it in respect thereof would be in the public interest, the Commission hereby issues its amended complaint, stating its charges in such respect as follows:

Nature of Charges

PAR. TWO: The charges hereinafter contained in this Count II are that each of the respondent members has been and is now unlawfully discriminating as between its customers in the prices it charges, demands, accepts and receives in connection with the sale of chain and chain products in commerce.

Description of Respondents; Definitions and Explanations of Terms; Description and History of Industry and the Commerce of Respondents

PAR. THREE AND FOUR: As Paragraphs Three and Four of this Count II, the Commission incorporates Paragraphs Three and Four, inclusive of Count I of this amended complaint to precisely the same extent and effect as if each and all of them were set forth in full and repeated verbatim in this Count II, except the definition of the term "commerce." The term "commerce," as hereinafter used, means "commerce" as defined and set forth in the Clayton Act.

Offenses Charged

PAR. FIVE: Since June 19, 1936, and while engaged as aforesaid in commerce among the several States of the United States and in the District of Columbia, each of the Respondent Members, American, Bridgeport, McKay, Pyrene, Hodell, St. Pierre, Taylor, Cleveland, Columbus, International, Nixdorff, Peerless, Round, Russell, Seattle, Turner, Western and Woodhouse has been and is now in the course of such commerce, discriminating in price between purchasers of said commodities of like grade and quantity sold for use, consumption or resale within the several States of the United States and the District of Columbia in that each of the respondents has been and is now systematically selling such commodities to many purchasers at a price higher than the price at which commodities of like grade and quantity are sold by it to other purchasers and users.

PAR. SIX: Each of the respondents uses a delivered pricing system and practice for determining, calculating, making up, using, announcing, publishing and distributing its quotations and offers to its respective customers in selling them chain and chain products in commerce. Each of the respondents, in using its said delivered pricing system for quoting its delivered prices and in making sales of chain and chain products in commerce in accordance and in connection therewith, discriminates as between its customers in net prices realized on chain and chain products of like grade and quantity. The discriminations by each said respondent thus effected are systematic and result, in part, because of its failure to "make only due allowance for differences in the cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which such commodities are to such purchasers sold or delivered" and are discriminatory to such an extent that the net prices paid by customers located at or near its factory door in many instances amount to much more than the net prices realized by such respondent on chain and chain products of like grade and quantity sold to its customers located hundreds of miles away. The systematic discriminations in net prices thus effected by each of the respondents against nearby customers and in favor of its more distantly located customers are inherent in the use of the aforesaid delivered pricing system of each of the respondents. There are also involved in said system matched delivered price quotations or offers as made by all respondents to any given customer, so that such customer in considering or accepting any of such offers is denied the opportunity ordinarily afforded under price competition to bargain with one Respondent Member against another.

PAR. SEVEN: Each of the respondent members engaged in the sale of welded chain and chain products practices the systematic regional discriminations in the sale of such products as alleged in the immediately preceding Paragraph Six of this Count II pursuant to and in accordance with its practice of making on such products varying quotations on a delivered basis calculated by arbitrarily using a base price f.o.b. Pittsburgh plus charges for freight from Pittsburgh as though shipments were to be made therefrom to each of the various destinations although actually these shipments are regularly made from other locations, the points of production, from which different freight charges actually apply.

Each of the respondent members engaged in the sale of weldless chain and chain products practices the systematic regional discriminations in the sale of such products as alleged in the immediately preceding Paragraph Six of this Count II pursuant to and in accordance with its practice of making on such products varying quotations on a delivered basis calculated by arbitrarily using a base price f.o.b. each of a number of base points plus charges for freight from such basing points as though shipments were to be made therefrom to each of the various destinations. The governing basing point in any given case is that where the combination of the applicable base price plus the said calculated charge for freight is not as high as the combination of some other base price plus the calculated charge for freight. In numerous instances actual shipments of such products are not made from the base point used in making the aforesaid calculation of the costs of the products delivered to the purchaser at destination. On the contrary, actual shipments are regularly made to many destinations from production points from which different freight charges actually apply.

PAR. EIGHT: Each of the said respondents has been and is now classifying its customers to receive from it quantity, trade and other discounts from quoted prices so that by virtue of such classifications and action pursuant thereto, each such respondent charges, demands, accepts and receives higher prices in connection with sales of chain and chain products in commerce from some of its customers than from others, even though they are competitively engaged with the customers who pay such lower prices.

PAR. NINE: Each of the said respondents practices the aforesaid systematic, regional and other discriminations in price for the purpose and with the effect of enabling all the respondents to exactly match their delivered price offers to sell chain and chain products of like grade and quantity in commerce to any given prospective purchaser at any given destination and to maintain such matched offers.

Effects of Price Discriminations Practiced by Respondents

PAR. TEN: The inherent and necessary effect of the practice by the respondent members of the discriminations described and alleged in Paragraphs Five, Six, Seven and Eight of this Count II herein includes all and singularly the following, to-wit:

(1) The elimination of price competition between respondent members in the sale of chain and chain products at locations adjacent to each of the several places of fabrication of said products;

(2) Substantial lessening of competition among respondent members in all parts of the United States by virtue of each respondent member voluntarily and reciprocally surrendering and canceling the inherent advantage it has over its competitors within the market area nearer freight-wise to its factory than to a factory of a competitor in consideration of a similar surrender and cancellation by each of the other respondent members;

(3) The levying of an additional financial burden in varying arbitrary sums for the sole purpose of reimbursing respondent members for concessions voluntarily made by them to some of their customers in the accomplishment of respondents' unlawful purpose to destroy price competition in the sale of chain and chain products in commerce and to create for the said respondent members a monopoly therein and thereof;

(4) The fixing and control by respondents' concurrent action of an arbitrary substantial portion of the total cost of the product to any and every purchaser upon a basis having no relation to the combined cost of production, sales and transportation;

(5) The maintenance of monopolistic, unfair, and oppressive discrimination against purchasers of chain and chain products in large areas of the United States by depriving such purchasers of the advantage in cost which would otherwise accrue to them from their proximity to the factories of respondent members;

(6) The levying upon nearby purchasers of chain and chain products of increases in net prices of such products over what said net prices to such customers would have been if fixed by competition among respondents, such increases in net prices being approximately equal to decreases in net prices afforded by respondents to distantly located customers. Each respondent member thus compels its nearby customers to pay not only the actual freight rates on the products purchased by them respectively, but also in effect compels such purchasers to pay portions of the cost of transportation of said products to other purchasers distantly located from the factory of such respondent member.

PAR. ELEVEN: Further effects of the said discriminations in price made by said respondent members as alleged and described in paragraphs five, six, seven and eight of this Count II herein may be substantially to lessen competition between the buyers of said chain and chain products from respondents receiving said lower discriminatory prices and other buyers from respondents competitively engaged with such favored buyers who do not receive such favorable prices; tend to create a monopoly in the lines of commerce in which buyers from respondents are engaged; and to injure, destroy, and prevent competition in the lines of commerce in which those who purchase from respondent members are engaged between the said beneficiaries of said discriminatory prices and said buyers who do not and have not received such beneficial prices as well as to lessen competition in the lines of commerce in which respondents are engaged.

Conclusion

PAR. TWELVE: The aforesaid acts of each of the said respondents constitute violations of the provisions of subsection (a) of section 2 of the Clayton Act, as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act, approved June 19, 1936 (49 Stat. 1526; 15 U.S.C.A., sec. 13, as amended).

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission on this 9th day of October, A. D. 1945, issues this its amended complaint.

KAPLAN FURNITURE CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to Supplementary Order No. 133, It is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's Maximum Prices. Kaplan Furniture Company, 91 Albany Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, may add an additional adjustment charge to its maximum prices for sales and deliveries to all classes of purchasers of the articles of wood household furniture which it manufactures and for which it had established maximum prices in effect prior to the effective date of this order. That additional adjustment charge shall be an amount equal to 5 per cent of the previously established maximum price as adjusted by paragraph (d) of Order No. 1052 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188. This additional adjustment charge may be made and collected only if it is separately stated on each invoice. The adjusted maximum prices are subject to the manufacturer's customary terms, discounts, allowances and other price differentials in effect during March, 1942 on sales to each class of purchaser.

(b) Maximum prices of purchasers for resale. A person who hereafter buys an article covered by this order and resells it in substantially the same form, may collect from his customers, in addition to his properly established maximum price in effect immediately before this order was issued, an adjustment charge in the same amount as the additional adjustment charge herein authorized for and which he pays to his supplier. If he did not have a maximum price in effect for the article at the time this order was issued, he may add the same adjustment charge to the maximum price which he hereafter establishes for his sales under the applicable regulation. If the applicable regulation requires the maximum resale price to be computed on the basis of cost, the reseller must find his maximum resale price (not including the permitted adjustment charge) by using as cost his invoice cost less any adjustment charge stated on the invoice as a separate amount.

On all sales other than sales to the ultimate consumer this additional adjustment charge may be made and collected only if it is separately stated on each invoice. The adjusted price is subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts and allowances on sales of the same or similar articles. The adjustment charge authorized in this paragraph (b) is in addition to any adjustment charge permitted for wholesalers by Order No. 1052 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(c) Notification. At the time of or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established by paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resales of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form, and is, in addition to any notice required by paragraphs (d) or (e) of Order No. 1052 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(d) Report to be filed. The manufacturer shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., the report described in section 5 of Supplementary Order No. 133.

(e) All requests not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective on the 20th day of October 1945.

Notice of determination by War Shipping Administrator pursuant to section 3 (b) of the act approved March 24, 1943, (Public Law 17—78th Congress).

Whereas on October 28, 1942, title to the vessel "Pioneer II" (228326) (including all spare parts, appurtenances and equipment) was requisitioned pursuant to section 902 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended; and

Whereas section 3 (b) of the act approved March 24, 1943, (Public Law 17—78th Congress), provides in part as follows:

(b) The Administrator, War Shipping Administration, may determine at any time prior to the payment in full or deposit in full with the Treasurer of the United States, or the payment or deposit of 75 per centum, or just compensation therefor, that the ownership of any vessel (the title to which has been requisitioned pursuant to section 902 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, or the Act of June 6, 1941 (Public Law 101, Seventy-Seventh Congress), is not required by the United States, and after such determination has been made and notice thereof has been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the use rather than the title to such vessel shall be deemed to have been requisitioned for all purposes as of the date of the original taking: Provided however, That no such determination shall be made with respect to any vessel after the date of delivery of such vessel pursuant to title requisition except with the consent of the owner. • • •

Whereas no portion of just compensation for the said vessel has been paid or deposited with the Treasurer of the United States; and

Now therefore, I, Emory S. Land, Administrator, War Shipping Administration, acting pursuant to the above-quoted provisions of law, do hereby determine that the ownership of said vessel, spare parts, appurtenances and equipment is not required by the United States, and that, from and after the date of publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the use rather than title thereto shall be deemed to have been requisitioned, for all purposes, as of the date of the original taking.

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The following amendments and additions to the regulations contained in Parts 801–806 inclusive, 809–813, inclusive, 824, 826, 827 and 830 are hereby prescribed. These regulations are also contained in War Department Procurement Regulations dated September 5, 1942 (9 F.R. 8363 [1]) as amended by Change 52, October 11, 1945, the particular regulations being Nos. 1–7A, 9–13 and 16.

Subchapter A—Procurement

PART 801—GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

SUBPART A—INTRODUCTION

Section 801.105a is added as follows:

§ 801.105a Reference to units the designation of which has since been changed, or which have been abolished and their functions transferred to other units. (a) From time to time, the designation of various units referred to in this chapter has been changed since the issuance of the particular regulation or revision in which they are refererd to, or such units have been abolished and their functions transferred to other units. It has generally been found impracticable to make an immediate revision of the regulations to reflect such changes. The appropriate changes, however, are made in this chapter (except in the case of direct quotations) as occasion arises to reprint pages for other reasons.

(b) Among such changes, particular attention is directed to the following:

(1) Section I of General Orders No. 14, W.D., dated March 12, 1943, provides that "The name of Services of Supply is changed to Army Service Forces"; and ASF Circular No. 30, dated May 15, 1943 provides in part that "The services heretofore designated as 'supply services' will hereafter be known as 'technical services'." Accordingly, all references in these Regulations to the Services of Supply should be taken to refer to the Army Service Forces, and all references to the "supply services" should be taken to refer to the "technical services".

(2) ASF Circular No. 329, dated August 31, 1945, provides in part that "Effective September 1, 1945, the Production and Purchases Division is established under the jurisdiction of the Director of Matériel to consist of the former Production Division and the former Purchases Division"; and the authority previously granted to the Director, Purchases Division, has been delegated to the Director, Production and Purchases Division (See § 801.107–6). Accordingly every reference in that chapter to either the Production Division or the Purchases Division should be taken to refer to the Production and Purchases Division.

(3) War Department Circular No. 273, dated September 10, 1945, establishes the office of Procurement Judge Advocate, and prescribes his authority and duties; and Section III of ASF Circular No. 345, 1945, dated September 13, 1945, provides in part that "The staff of the Legal Branch, Office of the Director of Matériel is transferred to the Office of the Procurement Judge Advocate, and the positions of Legal Assistant to the Director of Matériel, Chief, Legal Branch, Office of the Director of Matériel, and of Legal Adviser to the Readjustment and Renegotiation Divisions, and the Legal Branch, Office of the Director of Matériel, are abolished". All references in these Regulations to the Legal Assistant to the Director of Matériel or to the Legal Branch (or the Chief, Legal Branch),

a. He may enter into, amend or modify contracts, may make purchases, may place orders, and may make advance progress and other payments on such contracts, purchases and orders without regard to the provisions of law relating to the making, performance, amendment, or modification of contracts.

b. The contracts hereby authorized to be made include agreements of all kinds (whether in the form of letters of intent, purchase orders, or otherwise) for all types and kinds of things and services necessary, appropriate or convenient for the prosecution of war, or for the invention, development, or production of, or research concerning any such things, including but not limited to, aircraft, buildings, vessels, arms, armament, equipment, or supplies of any kind, or any portion thereof, including plans, spare parts and equipment therefor, materials, supplies, facilities, utilities machinery, machine tools, and any other equipment, without any restriction of any kind, either as to type, character, location or form.

c. Whenever, in the judgment of Colonel Browning, (or of an officer or civilian employee of the War Department to whom authority has been delegated to exercise such powers), the prosecution of the war is thereby facilitated, he may amend or modify contracts heretofore or hereafter made for the purpose of (a) obtaining continued operations by contractors engaged in war production, (b) encouraging greater diligence on the part of contractors, (c) protecting contractors from the consequences of unforeseen or unexpected events, (d) adjusting contracts to new conditions and circumstances, including those created by the rules, orders, instructions and determinations of Government departments, or (e) for any other purposes for facilitating the prosecution of the war.

The powers hereby delegated may be exercised by (a) supplemental agreements which modify or amend or settle claims by or against the United States arising under or with respect to any contacts heretofore or hereafter made; (b) agreements with contractors or obligors modifying or releasing accrued obligations of any sort, including accrued liquidated damages or liability under any surety or other bond; or (c) supplemental agreements and change orders suspending or modifying the operation of existing contracts as yet uncompleted, and providing for the payment by the Government of the damages incurred by a contractor by reason of such suspension or modification; provided in each instance that full performance by the contractor under such contract, or under a series of contracts between the United States and the same contractor for substantially the same goods, shall not have been completed and final payment made thereunder. The supplemental contracts hereby authorized to be made include agreements of all kinds for all types and kinds of things and services necessary, appropriate or convenient for the prosecution of the war, or for the invention, development or production of, or research concerning any such things.

d. He may waive bid, payment, performance, or other bonds, and dispense with advertising for bids and competitive bidding.

4. Colonel Browning, or any person acting by delegation from him in the exercise of the powers hereby granted, shall have power to ratify and approve any contractual documents entered into or action taken by others, which he himself might have entered into or taken by virtue of the powers hereby granted.

5. The powers, authority and discretion hereby conferred upon Colonel Browning, or any portion or portions thereof, may be redelegated by him to whomsoever he may designate, with the power of redelegating such powers, in whole or in part, to any officer or officers or civilian official or officials of the War Department. In any delegation of power or authority hereunder there may be included such terms and conditions, if any, as the person making such delegation may deem appropriate to ensure proper exercise of such power and authority in the interest of the United States and of the prosecution of the war.

§ 804.418 Procedure for accomplishing execution of consent or correction of bonds and consents. * * *

(a) Expediter plan. There has been established in Washington at the Office of the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives, Washington Building, an arrangement whereby Mr. Howard M. Starling, on his sole unwitnessed signature, will execute consents of surety and make corrections in bonds and consents in compliance with requests originating either in Washington or in the field offices. This representative of the surety industry has been so empowered by all of the surety companies on the Treasury Department List and authenticated evidence of his authority as above described has been filed with Office of The Judge Advocate General and with the Section of Surety Bonds, Treasury Department. Whenever a technical service desires to avail itself of the Expediter Plan, it should transmit an unexecuted consent or the incorrect bond or consent in the manner described in paragraph (b) of § 804.409–2 to the Office of The Judge Advocate General. That office will get in touch with Mr. Starling, who will handle all the details for the surety companies concerned and will execute or correct the instrument. The Office of The Judge Advocate General will then handle the document in the manner set forth in § 803.314–4.

§ 805.509–9 Purchases in Canadian Northwest. • • •

(c) Accordingly, future contracts of the type described in paragraph (a) above will be entered into with the suppliers and not with North West Purchasing Limited. Normally, however, the agency of the Department of Munitions and Supply located at Edmonton, Alberta, will be given advance notice of required purchases and will allocate and negotiate the contracts. In unusual cases clearance through the agency of the Department of Munitions and Supply may be dispensed with, under such regulations as may be issued by the Commanding General, Sixth Service Command. See also §§ 812.1205–4 and 812.1291–1.

2. In § 805.510 the text is designated paragraph (a), and former §§ 805.510–1 and 805.510–2 are redesignated paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 805.510.

PART 809—LABOR

SUBPART A—CONVICT LABOR LAW

Sections 809.908–8 and 809.909 are amended to read as follows:

§ 809.908–8 Request for advisory opinions. The Secretary of Labor will furnish an opinion regarding the coverage of any specific project or with respect to the application of any provisions of the regulations at the request of any Federal or State agency. Request for any such opinion shall be submitted through the chief of the technical service to the Procurement Judge Advocate, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, for submission through channels to the Secretary of Labor. (29 CFR 3.7)

§ 809.909 Alternative procedures for railway carriers. By letters of October 5, 1942, and January 22, 1943, from the Secretary of Labor to the Secretary of War, a partial exemption regarding the submission of weekly reports decribed in § 809.908–1 was granted to railway carriers and an alternative method for obtaining permission of the Secretary of Labor to make certain types of deductions was approved. Copies of these letters may be obtained from the Industrial Personnel Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

SUBPART D—DAVIS-BACON ACT

1. Section 809.911–7 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.911–7 Determination by chief of technical service. The act contemplates an administrative determination of the application of the law to particular contracts and the War Department is authorized to make such determination. The chief of the technical service involved will determine within his own office whether the foregoing regulations require the inclusion of Davis-Bacon (and Copeland) Act provisions in any particular contract. In cases of doubt the question, accompanied by full statement of the facts, shall be referred to the Procurement Judge Advocate, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, for determination.

2. Section 809.913–2 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.913–2 Responsibility of contracting officers. Prior to entering into negotiations for awarding a contract to which the Davis-Bacon Act is applicable, the contracting officer concerned will request the Corps of Engineers to furnish the appropriate predetermination of the wage rates to be contained in the contract. The contracting officer will forward such request direct to the Division Engineer of the Corps of Engineers within whose territorial jurisdiction the work called for by the proposed contract is to be performed unless the chief of the technical service concerned directs that the request be forwarded through his office. In the latter event the request will be forwarded through the chief of the technical service concerned to the Wage and Salary Branch, Office of the Chief of Engineers. Since predeterminations are subject to change, contracting officers are cautioned, in any case where a predetermination previously furnished by the Corps of Engineers is apparently applicable to the proposed contract, to inquire whether such predetermination is current. (The territorial jurisdiction of the Division Engineers is coextensive with that of the service commands. For a list of the addresses of the Division Engineers with a statement of the service commands in which they are located, see § 809.989.)

SUBPART E—WALSH-HEALEY PUBLIC CONTRACTS LAW

1. Section 809.917 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.917 Publications to be furnished contracting officers. The Secretary of Labor has published a document entitled "Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act, Rulings and Interpretations, No. 2, September 29, 1939" and a supplement thereto, published January 24, 1944, entitled "Supplement to Rulings and Interpretations No. 2." These publications contain a compilation of the text of the act, the regulations of the Secretary of Labor relating thereto, and pertinent rulings and interpretations. The chiefs of the technical services are responsible for furnishing these publications and a supply of the forms referred to therein to each of their contracting officers (it is no longer necessary to obtain Form PC–1 from the Department of Labor; see § 802.297–1a (s). Information of interest not found in these publications is set forth in §§ 809.920, 809.921 and 809.922.

2. Section 809.919–3 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.919–3 Furnishing of posters. Contracting officers are responsible for seeing that contractors who are awarded contracts subject to the Walsh-Healey Act are furnished Posters, Form PC–13 (Revised April 1945) simultaneously with the making of the award, or as soon thereafter as possible. All copies of previously issued posters which bear no revision date or a revision date other than April 1945, must be destroyed and be replaced by that revised issue. These forms may be obtained from the Record Keeping and Control Section, Room 1106, Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C. In this connection, see § 809.917.

3. In § 809.921 (c), subparagraph (4) is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.921 Exceptions not stated in the publications furnished contracting officers. • • •

(c) • • •

(4) Contracts awarded through December 31, 1945, for dehydrated rutabagas and carrots and for the canned and dehydrated fruits and vegetables set forth on page 3 of "Supplement to Rulings and Interpretations, No. 2" (except milk, evaporated).

4. Section 809.922 is added as follows:

§ 809.922 Other information not found in publications furnished contracting officers. (a) The partial exception permitting the employment of female persons between the ages of 16 and 18, under certain conditions (see "Supplement to Rulings and Interpretations No. 2"), was revoked by the Secretary of Labor effective September 5, 1945, except that such female persons may be employed in the performance of contracts awarded prior to September 5, 1945, subject to the conditions prescribed in the original exception.

5. Section 809.923–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.923–1 General. Section 6 of the act permits the Secretary of Labor to make exceptions to the requirement that the representations and stipulations of section 1 of the act be included in War Department proposals or contracts which are subject to the act. Sections 809.923–2 through 809.923–4 set forth the procedure to be followed when any such exception is sought.

6. In § 809.923–2 the introductory text preceding paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.923–2 Requests for exceptions and review thereof by contracting officers. All requests of present or prospective War Department Contractors for exceptions under section 6 of the act will be addressed to the chief of the interested technical service. Such requests of the contractor will be in writing, will be transmitted through the appropriate contracting officer, and will set forth all pertinent information, including the nature of the requested exception, the need therefor, and any action already taken by the contractor to avoid the necessity for the exception. Upon receipt of such a request from a contractor, the contracting officer will review the request in the light of:

7. Section 809.923–3 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.923–3 Consultation with regional directors, Department of Labor, and forwarding requests to chiefs of technical services. (a) If the contracting officer believes that the requested exception is appropriate under the circumstances and necessary in the war effort:

(1) He will inform the appropriate regional director of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, United States Department of Labor, of the request for exception and the necessity therefor; and

(2) After joint consideration with such regional director, the contracting officer, if still of the opinion that the requested exception is appropriate, will transmit the request together with (i) his written recommendation relative thereto, (ii) a statement of all the information upon which the recommendation is based and (iii) a recital of the steps taken in compliance with the procedure set forth in § 809.923–2 and this section; to the chief of the interested technical service. (A list of such regional directors is given in § 809.991).

(b) The procedure set forth in paragraphs (a) (1) and (2) of this section with respect to such regional director will be complied with unless such compliance would result in undue delay. The contracting officer, in consulting with the appropriate regional director, will furnish the Director any pertinent information in his possession which the Director may require for rendering a report in connection with the need for the exception to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions.

8. In § 809.923–4 the introductory text preceding paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.923–4 Review and processing of requests by chief of the technical service. If the chief of the interested technical service concurs in the recommendation of the contracting officer, after review of the request and consideration as to whether the need for an exception can be avoided by utilization of alternative facilities, he will forward the request to the Industrial Personnel Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, through the Production and Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, together with:

SUBPART G—OVERTIME WAGE COMPENSATION

1. Section 809.940 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.940 Executive Order No. 9240 rescinded. Executive Order No. 9240, as amended, which established certain principles and regulations applicable for the duration of the war to the payment of premium and overtime wage compensation on all work relating to the prosecution of the war, has been revoked by Executive Order No. 9601, effective August 21, 1945. Questions arising in connection with the application of Executive Order No. 9240, as amended, prior to its revocation, may be referred, through channels, to the Procurement Judge Advocate, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

2. The remainder of Subpart G is revoked.

SUBPART H—WAGE AND SALARY STABILIZATION

1. Sections 809.950–1 and 809.950–2 are amended to read as follows:

§ 809.950–1 Scope of part. This part deals with the national wage and salary stabilization program. The Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended (sometimes hereinafter referred to as "the act"), authorizes and directs the President, among other things, and subject to certain limitations, (1) to issue a general order stabilizing wages and salaries affecting the cost of living on the basis, unless otherwise provided, of the levels which existed on September 15, 1942, and (2) generally to provide for the making of adjustments with respect to wages and salaries "to aid in the effective prosecution of the war or to correct gross inequities." By Executive Order No. 9250 and other directives, the President, with respect to the stabilization program, has (1) established policies, (2) defined certain functions of the National War Labor Board, and (3) delegated certain powers and responsibilities to the Economic Stabilization Director (sometimes hereinafter referred to as "the Director"). (By Executive Order No. 9620, dated September 20, 1945, the office of Economic Stabilization Director was abolished and all functions of the Economic Stabilization Director were transferred to the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion (also sometimes hereinafter referred to as "the Director"). All prior regulations, rulings, and other directives relating to the Office of Economic Stabilization remain in effect except insofar as they may be in conflict with Executive Order No. 9620 or hereafter may be amended by the Director.) Some of these powers and responsibilities of the Director have been re-delegated by him to the National War Labor Board, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Secretary of Agriculture (sometimes hereinafter referred to respectively as "the Board", "the Commissioner", and "the Secretary"). The Board and the Commissioner, in turn, have authorized other agencies, in certain cases, to exercise their functions with respect to the stabilization program in the first instance, subject to their review. The succeeding paragraphs discuss the broader aspects of the program and indicate, to the extent deemed of interest to War Department personnel, the functions of various agencies having jurisdiction with respect thereto. Contracting officers should be reasonably familiar with the program. However, since contracting and disbursing officers are not authorized to determine whether particular payments of wages and salaries by War Department contractors violate wage and salary stabilization policy (see §§ 809.961 and 809.962), no attempt is made in this chapter to set forth in detail the various rules, regulations, orders and interpretations which have been promulgated pursuant to the act.

§ 809.950–2 Applicable statutes, orders, regulations and rulings. Statutes, orders, regulations and rulings respecting the stabilization program include the Stabilization Act of 1942 (entitled An Act to Amend the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, to Aid in Preventing Inflation, and for Other Purposes), as amended by the Public Debt Act of 1943 and by the Stabilization Extension Act of 1944, the War Labor Disputes Act (relating to labor disputes which may lead to substantial interference with the war effort, to government operation of facilities under certain circumstances, and to other matters), Executive Order No. 9250 (wage stabilization order), Executive Order No. 9299 (regulations and procedure with respect to wage and salary adjustments for employees subject to the Railway Labor Act), Executive Order No. 9328 (supplemental stabilization order, the "hold-the-line" order), Executive Order No. 9370 (enforcement of orders of the Board), Executive Order No. 9599 (transition to a peacetime economy), the regulation of the Director, the Director's policy directives of May 12, 1943, March 8, 1945 and April 23, 1945, and the regulations, rulings, orders and interpretations of the various agencies having jurisdiction with respect to the stabilization program.

2. Section 809.951–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.951–1 General. Generally (a) no increases or decreases in wages rates (regardless of whether required by the terms of any labor agreement), (b) no increases in salaries, and (c) no decreases in salaries (if below $5,000 or if the effect of the decrease is to reduce the salary below $5,000 per annum) shall be made without the approval of the appropriate agency having jurisdiction with respect thereto (§§ 809.952 to 809.958). Exceptions to this requirement of approval have been made, limitations have been set within which approvals may be granted, and certain increases and decreases which may be made without the specific approval of the appropriate agency in the particular case have been defined. The succeeding sections numbered 809.951 followed by a numeral contain a general summation of the limitations upon increases and decreases in wages and salaries under the stabilization program. For further details and for a statement of the exceptions and of the increases and decreases which may be made without specific approval, heretofore mentioned, reference is made to the regulations, rulings and orders of the agencies charged with the administration of the program.

3. A new § 809.951–2 is added and former § 809.951–2 is redesignated § 809.951–3 and amended to read as follows:

§ 809.951–2 Increases requiring no approval of the stabilization agencies. Employers may, through collective bargaining with the duly certified or recognized representatives of their employees, or if there is no such representative, by voluntary action, make wage and salary increases without obtaining prior approval. Such increases are subject only to the limitation that they will not be used as a basis for seeking price relief, resisting otherwise justifiable reductions in price ceilings, or increasing costs to the United States in the event a contract with a Federal procurement agency is involved.

§ 809.951–3 Limitations on wage and salary increases requiring approval of stabilization agencies—(a) Policy. Existing policy as to wage and salary increases which require approval by the stabilization agencies (insofar as those within the jurisdiction of the Board or the Commissioner as hereinafter set forth are concerned), as established by applicable statutes, orders, regulations and rulings, may be summarized as follows:

(1) No such increase in wages or salaries shall be authrized by the Board or the Commissioner, as the case may be, except in the following cases:

(i) Such increases as are clearly necessary to correct substandards of living;

(ii) Such wage or salary readjustments as may be deemed appropriate and may not have heretofore been made to compensate, in accordance with the "Little Steel Formula" (see paragraph (b) of this section), for the rise in the cost of living between January 1, 1941, and May 1, 1942;

(iii) Salary and wage adjustments necessary to adjust salaries or wages up to the minimum of the tested and going rates paid for comparable work in the same or most nearly comparable plants or establishments in the same labor market, except in rare and unusual cases in which the critical needs of war production require the setting of a wage or salary at some point above the minimum of the going wage or salary bracket;

(iv) Reasonable adjustments in wages or salaries in case of promotions, reclassifications, merit increases, incentive wages or the like: Provided, That such adjustments do not increase the level of production costs appreciably or furnish the basis either to increase prices or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in prices (the Board may approve or direct certain such adjustments irrespective of such proviso in accordance with the Director's Policy Directive on "Fringe" Adjustments of March 8, 1945, and his Supplementary Directive of April 24, 1945).

(v) Such increases as may be necessary to correct maladjustments or inequities which would interefere with the effective transition to a peacetime economy.

(2) No increase in a salary rate approved by the Commissioner shall increase the level of production costs appreciably, or furnish the basis either to increase prices or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in prices or furnish the basis of further wage or salary increases.

(3) In connection with the approval of wage or salary adjustments necessary to eliminate substandards of living or to give effect to the Little Steel Formula or in connection with the adoption of a longer work week, there may be approved wage or salary adjustments for workers in immediately interrelated job classifications to the extent required to keep minimum differentials between immediately interrelated job classifications necessary for the maintenance of productive efficiency. Such adjustments are to be tapered off rigorously in application to higher job classifications so as to apply only in those classifications and only to the extent necessary for productive efficiency in the interrelated job classifications.

(b) Little Steel Formula. This formula has been adopted by the Board for application generally in the case of wage increases for a group of employees. Under the formula, the Board will consider requests for general increases in straight-time wage rates up to 15 per cent above the level prevailing on January 1, 1941. Thus a terminal point for general wage increases is set. The formula is usually not applicable to individual workers or to employees in particular job classifications. It will normally be applied only to groups composed of all employees in a bargaining unit, in a plant, a company or an industry, depending upon the circumstances of each case.

4. Former §§ 809.951–3 to 809.951–5, inclusive, are redesignated §§ 809.951–4 to 809.951–6, respectively.

5. In § 809.952–1 the introductory text preceding subparagraph (1) is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.952–1 Jurisdiction of the Board. The jurisdiction of the Board covers (a) the final disposition of labor disputes "which may lead to substantial interference with the war effort" which includes disputes "which would interrupt work contributing to the production of military supplies or interfere with effective transition to a peacetime economy" and (b) the approval or disapproval of voluntary wage and salary adjustments. With respect to wages and salaries, the Board (except as indicated in §§ 809.956 and 809.957) is authorized to determine whether any:

6. Sections 809.958 and 809.959 are amended to read as follows:

§ 809.958 When approval of Director required. (a) All wage or salary adjustments which may furnish the basis either to increase price ceilings or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in price ceilings or which, in the case of products or services being furnished under contract with a federal procurement agency, will increase the costs to the United States, require the ultimate approval of the Director.

(b) In cases affecting the cost to the government of a product or service being furnished under contract with a federal procurement agency, the Director has granted advance approval to wage or salary adjustments predicated upon the criteria set forth in § 809.951–3 (a) (1) (i) through (iv). The appropriate procurement agency, however, may request the Director to review the directive order or ruling of the Board prior to its effective date. The order or ruling of the Board in the case of such requested review is effective only on the approval of the Director.

(c) In cost of production cases in which the order or ruling of the Board directs or approves wage or salary adjustments to correct maladjustments or inequities which would interfere with the effective transition to a peacetime economy (see § 809.951–3 (a) (1) (v)), the adjustments become effective only on the approval of the Director.

§ 809.959 Territorial application. The Board, the Commissioner and the Secretary have been authorized, under certain circumstances, to exempt from the operation of the stabilization program wages or salaries paid in any territory or possession of the United States. Pursuant to this authority, the Commissioner and the Board have provided that stabilization control shall not apply to salaries and wages under their jurisdiction, respectively, in any territory or possession of the United States, except Alaska and Hawaii.

7. Section 809.961 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.961 Effect of unlawful payments (determination of costs under Government contracts and other aspects of violations). Upon determining that a wage or salary payment has been made by an employer in contravention of the act or the regulations, rulings or orders promulgated thereunder (see § 809.962 (e)), the Board, the Commissioner or the Secretary, as the case may be, pursuant to § 4001.15 of the regulations of the Director, may certify to the Departments and agencies of the government an amount to be disregarded as hereinafter set forth. In case of such certification to the War Department, the amount so certified will be disregarded by the appropriate agency of the War Department in determining costs or expenses of such employer for such of the following purposes as may be pertinent:

(a) For the purpose of any law or regulation, including the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, or any maximum price regulation thereunder;

(b) For the purpose of calculating deductions under the revenue laws of the United States; and

(c) For the purpose of determining costs or expenses under any Government contract.

8. In § 809.963 (c) the reference to § 809.951–2 (a) (1) (iii) is amended to read "§ 809.951–3(a) (1) (iii)".

SUBPART I—FORTY-EIGHT HOUR WORKWEEK

1. Section 809.968 is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.968 Executive Order No. 9301 rescinded. Executive Order No. 9301, which established a minimum wartime work week of forty-eight hours, has been revoked by Executive Order No. 9607, dated August 30, 1945.

2. The remainder of Subpart I is revoked.

SUBPART J—STATE LABOR LEGISLATION

Sections 809.978 and 809.978–1 are amended to read as follows:

§ 809.978 Requests for relaxation of State labor legislation. In all cases in which manufacturers engaged in the production of military supplies deem necessary to the achievement of full production of such supplies the relaxation of State labor statutes or administrative orders which are restricting or are allegedly restricting such production, the following procedure will be observed:

§ 809.978–1 (a) The interested contractor will submit the initial request for such relaxation to the State Labor Commissioner or other State officials charged with the enforcement of labor legislation in the State or region where the plant of the manufacturer involved is located.

(b) In the event the contractor's request for relaxation is denied, the technical service concerned, if it deems the contractor's request valid, may refer the matter, with its recommendation in respect thereto, through channels to the Industrial Personnel Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, through the Production and Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, for such actions as those Divisions may deem appropriate. Such referrals should contain the following information:

(1) Provision or provisions of law the relaxation of which is required.

(2) Extent of relaxation required.

(3) Criticalness or relative scarcity of the material.

(4) Circumstances necessitating the relaxation (such as, for example, a shortage in the local supply of skilled labor).

(5) Remedial action being taken by the manufacturer (such as, for example, training and upgrading).

(6) Efforts previously made to obtain the relaxation.

SUBPART M—MISCELLANEOUS

In § 809.993–2 the introductory text preceding paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 809.993–2 General Order No. 37 of the National War Labor Board. The National War Labor Board hereby supplements General Order No. 36 by delegating to the Secretary of War, or to such agency as he may designate, subject to final review by the National War Labor Board, the authority to establish wage or salary schedules for civilian employees of the War Department in the various government-owned, government-operated installations located in the Territory of Hawaii, in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress of October 2, 1942, Executive Order 9250 dated October 3, 1942, Executive Order 9328 dated April 8, 1943, the Supplementary Directive of May 12, 1943, Executive Order 9599 of August 18, 1945 and all other Executive orders and regulations issued thereunder, subject to the following limitations:

The Chief, Patents Division, shall send a copy of such clearance to the chief patent officer of each of the technical services, and each such officer shall promptly investigate the procurement in his service and notify the Delegate to whom clearance has been issued of the interest, if any, of his service in the matter and of any pertinent information contained in his files. Delegates in the Army Air Forces shall forward such report to the Chief, Patents Division, through the Office of the Air Judge Advocate. A copy of such report shall be forwarded by the delegate to the chiefs of all interested technical services concurrently with transmitttal of the original to the Chief, Patents Division. § 812.1252–2 Preparation of cases under the First War Powers Act. In view of the special nature of the power to be exercised, the technical service will develop the facts in each case adequately and will prepare a report to be submitted with any request for approval of higher authority, and preserved in the records of the technical service. (d) The effect on the financial position of the contractor of failure to grant the requested relief.

(f) The quality of performance by the contractor (rate of production, delays, rejections).

(g) Probable future orders to the contractor on other war work.

(h) Other available sources of supply in comparison with the contractor.

(l) A statement by the chief of the technical service, or by an officer specially designated by him to review requests for relief of this type and to make recommendations thereon in his behalf, stating the exact relief recommended and that in his opinion the granting of the relief recommended will facilitate the prosecution of the war.

Subchapter B—Disposition of Property

PART 826—DISPOSITION OF SERVICEABLE NON-MILITARY PERSONAL PROPERTY

1. Sections 826.600 and 826.601 are amended to read as follows:

§ 826.600 Scope of part. This part provides authority and procedures for the disposition of excess serviceable non-military property and for the release of War Department sponsorship of plants and equipment owned by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Office of Defense Plants (formerly Defense Plant Corporation), referred to in this part as RFC. This part does not relate to:

(a) The disposition of contractor inventory, which is covered in Subchapter C.

(b) The disposal of surplus property, which is covered by Part 827 of this chapter.

(c) Complete War Department-owned industrial installations that have been placed in standby or reported excess under the provisions of Parts 831 to 839.

§ 826.601 War Department policy. Basic War Department policy as stated in § 821.103 for all types of property applies equally to non-military property.

2. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 826.602–1 are amended to read as follows:

§ 826.602–1 Review of stocks. (a) Chiefs of technical services will require a review of stocks by each installation under their jurisdiction having accountability for non-military property not less frequently than once a month for determination of excesses.

(b) Production and Utility Equipment and Construction Equipment will be determined excess when it becomes idle (that is, when it is no longer required by the War Department industrial installation or construction activity in connection with which it was being used), unless there is a definite, foreseeable need for the item, or unless the item has been selected for modernization of the permanent military establishment or for War Department industrial reserve.

3. Section 826.603 is amended to read as follows:

§ 826.603 Disposition of excess. (a) When a determination of excess of non-military property has been made, vigorous action will be instituted for the redistribution of the property for use within the technical service of origin or other technical service or transfer for other purposes directly related to the prosecution of the war as set forth in Part 823, and will be continued until such disposition is made or the property is determined surplus, but in no event longer than 30 days after determination of excess.

(b) Generally, such disposition can most effectively be made through efforts of the local installation having custody of the property. Accordingly, procedures established by the chiefs of technical services should not restrict the efforts of local installations, except as otherwise provided in this Part 826 and except as in the case of those commodities that are so critical to the technical service concerned as to require centralized control.

(c) Informal direct contact is the most effective means of disposition. Accordingly, each technical service should ascertain what types of property, likely to become excess to its needs, would be of interest to other technical services, and to what offices of the other technical services such types of excess property should be referred. For convenient reference, a list of the principal field procurement offices of the technical services is set forth in § 826.692.

(d) Efforts to redistribute excess property within the technical service of origin to other technical services, and to agencies outside of the War Department, for purposes directly related to the prosecution of the war will be made concurrently to the greatest extent practicable.

(e) Circularization of lists of non-military property is not required. Lists should be circularized only in those cases where they are considered by the chief of technical service concerned to be an indispensable aid to disposition. Small lots, and items the condition of which is "X" under the classification prescribed by the Surplus Property Board will not be circularized under any circumstances.

(f) In establishing procedures for the redistribution of excess non-military property, chiefs of service will provide for the consideration of significant items for troop supply purposes.

4. Section 826.604 is amended and §§ 826.604–1 to 826.605–2, inclusive, are added, as follows:

§ 826.604 Determination of surplus.

§ 826.604–1 Small lots and items in "X" condition. Unless specific requirements therefor are known to exist, the following types of items will be deemed surplus upon determination as excess and promptly disposed of in accordance with Part 827:

(a) Small lots.

(b) Items the condition of which is "X" under the classification prescribed by the Surplus Property Board (unless such items are classified as non-repairable, in which case they are not regarded as surplus property but as salvage).

§ 826.604–2 Stockpile materials—(a) Report of stockpile materials. Items of materials listed in § 826.693–1 (herein referred to as "stockpile materials"), in amounts larger than the minimum quantities therein indicated, of which the technical service of origin has been unable to effect disposition within a period of 30 days after determination of excess, or such shorter period as the chief of technical service concerned may establish, will be immediately reported to the chief of service and will be held for disposition instructions. Such request for instructions will be made in triplicate by the local establishment having jurisdiction over the property on WD AGO Form 257. A sample of this form, together with instructions for its preparation, is set forth in § 826.693–2. Copies of the form may be requisitioned from Adjutant General depots. NOTE: On WD AGO Form 257, as now printed, the reference in the 3rd line at the top of the page to §§ 822.210, 826.603 and 829.909 should read as § 826.604–2 and, in the space provided for Second Indorsement, the reference to §§ 822.210–2 (b) and 822.210–2 should be changed to §§ 826.604–2 (b) (2) and 826.604–2 (b) (3), respectively.

(b) Action by chief of service. Upon receipt of WD AGO Form 257 covering any lot of stockpile materials, the chief of technical service concerned will take the following action:

(1) Execute First Indorsement thereto and forward two copies to the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, who has been designated by the Under Secretary of War as the administrator of War Department stockpile materials, for disposition instructions.

(2) If the Director, Production Division, issues instructions to hold the material for stockpile, the chief of technical service concerned will:

(i) Arrange for permanent storage of this material;

(ii) Issue appropriate instructions to the field installation concerned to accomplish permanent storage;

(iii) Advise the Director, Production Division, of the location and manner of storage;

(iv) Dispose of the material only upon specific authorization of the Director, Production Division.

(3) If the Director, Production Division, issues instructions not to hold the material for stockpile, it will be deemed surplus, without further action, and the chief of technical service concerned will issue instructions to the local establishment of origin to dispose of the material in accordance with Part 827.

§ 826.604–3 Other property. Excess non-military property (other than property covered by §§ 826.604–1 and 826.604–2) of which disposition has not been effected within 30 days after determination of excess, or such shorter period as the chief of the technical service concerned may establish, will be deemed surplus without further action, and the installation having accountability will promptly dispose of it in accordance with Part 827.

§ 826.605–1 Complete RFC owned plants. (a) When a complete RFC owned plant becomes idle, it will be reported by the sponsoring service to the Office of the Under Secretary of War, indicating whether the plant is excess to such service or is required to be retained in standby or for War Department industrial reserve. If any equipment in such plant is required by the sponsoring service, it may be specifically excepted from the report of excess. The Under Secretary of War, after coordination with the Director, Production Division, ASF, will determine whether the plant or the excepted equipment is to be retained by RFC for the War Department or is to be released to RFC, and will advise RFC and the sponsoring service accordingly.

(b) Any idle equipment installed in a complete RFC owned plant which has not been released to RFC in accordance with paragraph (a) may be released directly to RFC by the sponsoring service.

§ 826.605–2 Other equipment owned by RFC under War Department sponsorship. (a) The War Department has furnished a blanket sponsor's release to RFC for other equipment owned by RFC in accordance with the following letter:

20 August 1945

Reconstruction Finance Corporation,
Office of Defense Plants,
Lafayette Building,
811 Vermont Avenue, N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:

In view of the recent announcement by the President that Japan has indicated its willingness to surrender, it is believed desirable to expedite in every way possible the release of idle machinery, equipment, building installations, etc., owned by Reconstruction Finance Corporation (hereinafter called "RFC") in order to facilitate plant clearances and property disposition and thereby speed the process of reconversion.

Accordingly, the War Department, anything to the contrary notwithstanding contained in the so-called take-out letter agreements between this Department and RFC, hereby grants its approval to the disposition by RFC through removal, sale, lease, surplus declaration or otherwise, and upon such terms and conditions as may be determined by RFC in accordance with the public interest and applicable laws and regulations, of all RFC owned property included in or as part of a facilities project, sponsored by the War Department, as soon as any such property ceases to be used by the lessee for production for the War Department or prior to such time if a sale is made to the contractor in possession. This advance approval is intended to cover all RFC owned machinery and equipment, sponsored by the War Department under either a Plancor lease or a Rentra lease but it is not intended to cover machinery and equipment installed in a complete RFC owned plant. It also is intended to cover all improvements and alterations which constitute modifications or adaptations to or service installations or extensions to buildings, structures or improvements owned by the lessee or other third party. In view of the above, my letter to you dated 26 January 1945, specifically listing certain types of facilities, is now superseded.

It is understood that the memorandum agreement dated 24 April 1945 between the War and Navy Departments and Defense Plant Corporation, which established the Industrial Equipment Redistribution Board, is not to be renewed and will, therefore, expire 1 September 1945. In view of this fact, the War Department sponsors of RFC lease agreements are being advised to immediately discontinue making the reports to the Board provided for in said memorandum agreement.

It is recognized that this grant of advance approval will in no way affect the necessity of RFC securing such releases from its lessees as may be required by the terms of any applicable lease agreements.

War Department approvals for the disposition of RFC owned land and buildings and the machinery and equipment installed therein, commonly referred to as a complete RFC owned plant, will be considered by this Department for each project individually in accordance with present procedures.

Despite the above advance approval, it is understood that if RFC receives a written statement from the War Department sponsor requesting that specified facilities be placed in Standby or placed in War Reserve until transfer of the same to the War Department can be effected, RFC will take all action necessary to comply with such request consistent with the contractual rights of its lessees or sublessees.

If the arrangement set forth herein is satisfactory to RFC, its acceptance thereof should be noted on the copy of this letter enclosed herewith and such copy returned to this Department.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT P. PATTERSON,
Under Secretary of War.

Accepted: August 21, 1945
Reconstruction Finance Corporation
By: A. T. Hobson, Secretary

(b) If a sponsoring service wishes to except equipment released by virtue of the above quoted letter for purposes of authorized standby or War Department industrial reserve, it may be so by prompt notice addressed directly to RFC.

§ 827.711–4 Classification by Disposal Agencies. Under Surplus Property Board Regulation No. 9 (Title 32, Chapter XXIII, Part 8309), Disposal Agencies are authorized to certify in writing to the War Department that any given property or any class of property is in its judgment scrap, regardless of its condition. That Regulation provides that if the certification is prior to the time that the property is declared surplus, the Disposal Agency shall forward to the owning agency a memorandum listing and plainly identifying the items in question and containing the following statement:

It is hereby certified that the within described property has been determined to be scrap and it is requested that sale be effected in accordance with the provisions of SPB Regulation No. 9 without further review of such determination.

If the certification is subsequent to the time that the property is declared surplus, the Disposal Agency shall forward to the owning agency Form SPB–1.1 listing the items in question and otherwise appropriately executed, with the language quoted above plainly inserted below the column headings across the top of the columns provided for the description of the property, its standard commodity classification, condition, etc. Receipt of such memorandum, or Form SPB 1.1, in conformity with the above requirements, will be accepted as authority to dispose of the described property as salvage in accordance with AR 700–25 and TM 38–505.

In accordance with Surplus Property Board Revised Special Order 3, August 31, 1945, which indefinitely postpones the Disposal Agencies' responsibility for care and handling of surplus property (other than surplus contractor inventory requiring movement to permit reconversion) the field installation concerned will provide storage pending receipt of disposition instructions from the Disposal Agency.

PART 839—DISPOSAL OF SPECIAL TOOLING IN GOVERNMENT-OWNED AIRCRAFT PLANTS

Sec.
839.900 Scope of part.
839.901 Definitions.
839.902 Authorization for disposition.
839.903 Sales procedure.

§ 839.900 Scope of part. This part is promulgated under the authority of section 14 (a) of the Surplus Property Act and Surplus Property Board Special Order No. 17 dated August 17, 1945. This part states the policies and procedures to be followed in effecting the disposition of Government-owned special tooling located in Government-owned aircraft plants which are being operated by private contractors pursuant to facilities contracts.

§ 839.901 Definitions. As used in this part the following terms shall have the following meanings: (a) "Aircraft plant" means an installation owned by the Government (including an installation owned by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Office of Defense Plants (formerly Defense Plants Corporation)) and used in the production of aircraft or portions of aircraft.

(b) "Contract" includes subcontracts and subleases and "Contractor" includes subcontractors and sublessees.

(c) "Facilities contract" means a lease, rental agreement or other contract or contract provision, specifically governing the acquisition, use, or disposition of Government-owned machinery, tools, special tooling, equipment, building installations, or other Government-owned property furnished to or acquired by a war contractor for any war production purpose except incorporation in end products.

(d) "Scrap" means property that has no reasonable prospect of sale except for its basic material content.

(e) "Special tooling" means equipment of such special design that it has apparent value only as scrap except in the manufacture of the particular product which such equipment was specifically designed to produce; it includes only jigs, dies, fixtures, gauges, moulds, and similar equipment.

§ 839.902 Authorization for disposition. The chief of the using service is hereby empowered to authorize any contractor under a facilities contract with such service or any subcontractor thereunder who is in possession of any special tooling located in an aircraft plant or the prime contractor under a war contract in performance of which such special tooling is or has been used to retain or sell such special tooling in accordance with § 839.903. Such retention or such sales may be made at any time before the using service takes possession of the special tooling or declares it to a disposal agency as surplus in accordance with § 832.201–3 or otherwise.

§ 839.903 Sales procedures. All disposals made under this part shall be made on the basis of competitive bidding through sealed bids or at auction at the discretion of the chief of the using service and subject to rules and regulations prescribed by the chief of the using service. Such rules and regulations shall contain among other provisions, the following requirements:

(a) The determination of lots shall be subject to approval by the chief of the service or his representative.

(b) The chief of the service or his representative shall set an upset price on each lot at which figure the bidding on such lot shall be started.

(c) The right shall be reserved to the chief of the service or his representative to reject any or all bids.

(d) Notice shall be given by publication to all interested possible purchasers indicating the special tooling that will be available for sale, naming a date not less than 14 days from the time of first publication when the bidding will be closed or when the auction will be held, and giving the upset price on each lot.

(e) If no acceptable bid is received by the chief of the service or his representative, the contractor in possession may be permitted to acquire and retain the property under a negotiated sale or under a lease for a period of not more than one year. Sales prices and rentals shall be determined on a basis that is fair and reasonable taking into consideration the limited sale value of the property, its special value to the purchaser or lessee, upset prices and any bids received.

The chief of the service may request the advice and assistance of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in setting upset prices and in determining acceptable sales prices and rentals. Such requests shall be addressed to the regional office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the region in which the major portion of the special tooling to be sold is located. At the discretion of the chief of the service auctions, sales or leases authorized under this section may be combined with auctions, sales or leases authorized under § 848.864–2 (h).

For an explanation of the numbering and arrangement of the original regulations see §§ 841.113 to 841.113–5.

§ 846.644–4 Selection and approval of subcontract settlements by Navy material inspector. (a) The Navy material inspector cognizant of the prime contractor is authorized, as the representative of the contracting officer (unless the contracting officer specifically limits or withdraws such authority in a particular case as provided in § 842.253–3) to approve or ratify;

(c) The Navy material inspector cognizant of the prime contractor is responsible for selecting settlements for review and approval in accordance with § 846.644–2. The contracting officer will not himself make such selection unless extraordinary circumstances make this advisable. [JTR 644.4]

PART 847—SETTLEMENT OF PRIME CONTRACT CLAIMS

SUBPART D—SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

1. Section 847.745 is added as follows:

§ 847.745 Research and development contracts. (a) Prior to the execution of a final settlement agreement for use after complete termination of a contract containing a patent provision requiring the contractor to make a disclosure of, or to deliver to the Government instruments of license or assignment respecting, inventions, discoveries or patent applications made or first reduced to practice by the contractor in performing the contract, the contracting officer must obtain from the contractor a written statement that the contractor has complied with the provisions of the terminated contract to the extent that they require the contractor to furnish to the Government prior to final settlement disclosures of inventions, discoveries, patent applications and instruments of license and assignment.

(b) In all agreements settling terminated contracts covered by paragraph (a) above, the form of final settlement agreement must be amended by rewriting subparagraph (2) of subparagraph (c) of Article 4 of § 849.981–1, subparagraph (2) of Article 2 of § 849.981–3 or subparagraph (5) of subparagraph (c) of Article 4 of § 849.983–1, respectively, to read as follows:

2. The headnote to § 847.748–1 is amended to read as follows:

3. Section 847.748–2 is added as follows:

§ 847.748–2 Statement of policy. It is clear that final settlements should be reopened whenever (a) the amendment is expressly provided for in the agreement, or (b) there has been a mistake or error in the written agreement consisting solely of a failure to express the true agreement between the parties in accordance with negotiations between them, or of a mutual mistake as to a material fact, or (c) where it clearly appears that a contractor has been misled to his substantial detriment by action of Government personnel on which he was entitled to rely. In addition, officials of the Government cannot properly refuse to accept any amendment which will result in benefit to the Government. Except in these cases, however, it is the policy of the War and Navy Departments to reopen final settlement agreements by consent only in the most unusual cases. Adoption of any other policy would cause administrative confusion, would greatly impair the utility of the negotiated settlement, and would violate the statutory objective of finality of settlements. [JTR 748.2]

4. Section 847.748–1 (b), (c) and (d) are redesignated § 847.748–3 and amended to read as follows:

(1) The amendment will result in benefit to the Government; or

(2) The amendment is expressly provided for in the agreement; or

(3) There has been a mistake or error in the written agreement consisting solely of a failure to express the true agreement between the parties in accordance with negotiations between them, or of a mutual mistake as to a material fact. The failure of a contractor to present or to present accurately, and of the Government to allow, a claim based on a cost incurred by the contractor or on a liability to which the contractor was subject, whether by reason of ignorance of such cost or liability or of its extent or for other reasons, shall not be regarded as a mutual mistake within the meaning of this section; or

(4) The chief of the service or bureau determines that such amendment will promote the purposes of the act, and the approval of the Readjustment Division, ASF, or the Industrial Readjustment Branch, OP&M, is first obtained. In such cases, the request for approval should contain a full presentation of the relevant circumstances.

(b) Each amendment entered into pursuant to paragraph (a) above shall recite that it is made pursuant to the act.

(c) The contracting officer may, before or after final payment, amend any final settlement agreement made by a service or bureau prior to July 21, 1944 only:

(1) Where the amendment will result in benefit to the Government; or

(2) Where the amendment is authorized by, and approved in accordance with §§ 803.308a and 803.308b or 812.1252 of this chapter, or by Navy Procurement Directives, paragraphs 11,401 and following, 11,441 and following, and 11,461 and following; or

(3) Where the amendment is otherwise authorized by law or applicable regulations.

(d) No amendment entered into pursuant to paragraph (c) above shall recite that it is made pursuant to the act. [JTR 748.4]

5. Section 847.748–2 is redesignated § 847.748–4 and the reference to § 847.748–1 (b) is amended to read "§ 847.748–3 (a)".

2. In § 848.825–6 paragraphs (a) and (c) are amended to read as follows:

§ 848.825–6 Disposal of inventory. • • •

(a) Production and supply items. The term "production and supply items" applies only to materials which the Navy Department requires for its own use. A list of such items is included in the Navy Material Inspection Service Manual on Contract Termination. (This Manual may be obtained by designated offices from the Readjustment Distribution Center, 90 Church Street, New York 7, New York.) The designated office shall not dispose, or approve the disposition, of items included in production and supply lists, but shall forward copies of the inventory schedules listing such items to the Navy material inspector cognizant of the contractor, to be handled in accordance with the procedures applicable to the disposition of such items. If no shipping instructions are received within the time specified in the Manual, the designated office shall proceed with automatic shipment in accordance with instructions contained in Chapter 10 of the Manual.

• • • • •

(c) Other materials requested by the contracting officer. Any other materials requested by the contracting officer under the applicable prime contract shall be disposed of in accordance with such request to the extent that such materials have not otherwise been disposed of before the receipt of such request. Disposition of termination inventory shall not be delayed pending receipt of such a request.

3. Paragraph (d) of § 848.829 is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.829 Maritime Commission claims. • • •

(d) The designated office may take action in accordance with § 848.825 with respect to termination inventory under Maritime Commission prime contracts and subcontracts thereunder, unless and except to the extent that the Maritime Commission has furnished a list of items of termination inventory required by the Commission for its own use. Items appearing on any such list shall be submitted to the Maritime Commission for shipping instructions. 1. Section 848.855–4 is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.855–4 Notice to contracting officer under prime contract. (a) Where the notice of termination indicates that the applicable prime contract is a Maritime Commission contract, the designated officer, immediately upon receipt of such notice, will notify the Chief, Settlement Section, Contract Settlement & Surplus Materials Division, U. S. Maritime Commission, Washington 25, D. C., adapting the form of notice set forth in § 849.986–2. The designated officer will exclude the termination claim from company-wide settlement only if (1) within 10 days after sending such form of notice, he receives a request from the Maritime Commission to exclude the claim, or (2) he determines that such claim should be excluded pursuant to § 848.855–5.

(b) No such form of notice need be sent by the designated officer where the applicable prime contract is a prime contract of any contracting agency other than the Maritime Commission.

(c) Contracting officers will continue to exercise reasonable care to exclude from settlements with war contractors in any tier above assigned contractors termination claims of such assigned contractors included therein by mistake or otherwise (see § 845.523–4, "Percentage of completion basis"). [JTR 855.4]

2. Section 848.855–5 is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.855–5 Exclusion of claims. The master agreement gives the Government the option to exclude any termination claim from the scope of company-wide settlement and provides that this option must be exercised within 30 days (or such longer period as the parties may agree) after receipt by the designated officer of notice that the contract has been terminated. This option will be exercised by the designated officer if he determines that the claim should be excluded (a) in the interest of continued war production or (b) by reason of the complexity or special character of the contract or (c) for some other substantial reason. Where a claim is to be excluded, the assigned contractor should be notified in writing as promptly as possible. [JTR 855.5]

Section 848.855–6 is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.855–6 Notice to customer. As soon as the designated officer has determined that a subcontract termination claim of the assigned contractor is to be included in the program, or earlier in the discretion of the designated officer, a notice will be sent to the customer substantially in the form set forth in § 849.986–3. Such notice will be sent by the designated officer or by the assigned contractor with the indorsement of the designated officer. If the assigned contractor is willing to release his customers at the time when such notice is sent, a notice and release substantially in the form set forth in § 849.986–5 will be used. [JTR 855.6]

4. The present text of § 848.855–7 is designated paragraph (a), and paragraph (b) is added as follows:

§ 848.855–7 Settlement proposals. • • •

5. Section 848.855–8 (a) (1) is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.855–8 Allocability. (a) • • •

(1) In the case of a termination claim not in excess of $25,000 without deducting disposal credits or claims of subcontractors, by a copy of a notice of termination from the customer of the assigned contractor substantially in the form set forth in § 849.944–2 or a certificate of the customer substantially in the form set forth in § 849.986–4. Further evidence of such allocability should not be required unless there is reason to believe that the subcontract of the assigned contractor was not directly or indirectly required for the performance of the terminated or modified portion of a prime contract. No statement of allocability (by means of a certificate, notice of termination, or otherwise) from the war contractor in the next higher tier is required, with respect to any one claim included in a settlement proposal, if all of the following conditions are met: (i) the amount of the claim of the assigned contractor does not exceed $25,000; (ii) the designated officer is satisfied, on the basis of W. P. B. priorities, allocations, the nature of the material, or other appropriate evidence, that the terminated subcontract is a war contract; and (iii) the assigned contractor agrees to satisfactory procedures, whether by test check or otherwise, designed to eliminate from the total of its subcontract termination claims against the Government (with respect to which no statement of allocability is obtained) amounts not allocable to the terminated or modified portions of war contracts in a higher tier.

6. Subparagraph (4) of § 848.855–9(b) is deleted.

7. Section 848.855–13 is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.855–13 Copy of settlement to contracting officer and customers. (a) In the case of prime contract settlements, the designated officer shall forward to the contracting officer under the applicable prime contract an executed original of each final settlement agreement or of findings determining the amount due in the case of a formula settlement. Where feasible, in order to facilitate duplication, the stencils or other duplicating medium used in producing the settlement agreement shall also be forwarded to such contracting officer.

(b) In the case of subcontract settlements, the designated officer, if and to the extent practicable, shall forward to the contracting officer under the applicable prime contract and to the customer an executed original of each final settlement agreement or of findings determining the amount due in the case of a formula settlement. In the event that the applicable prime contracting officer cannot readily be identified, such agreement or findings shall be forwarded pursuant to § 848.857–4 by the designated officer to the contracting agency executing the applicable prime contract at the time disbursement is requested; and copies of such agreement or findings need not be accumulated in the files of the service or bureau which executed the applicable prime contract. In all cases a release of the customer executed by the assigned contractor may be forwarded in lieu of a copy of the settlement agreement or findings to be forwarded to the customer. [JTR 855.13]

8. Section 848.856–2 is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.856–2 Contracting officer under applicable prime contract. The authority and responsibility of the contracting officer under the applicable prime contract with respect to the settlement of war contracts included in company-wide settlement shall be limited to (a) any matters relating to the cancellation or modification of the notice of termination and (b) any other matters with respect to which the designated officer requests his advice or assistance. SUBPART F—GOVERNMENT-OWNED PLANT EQUIPMENT UNDER WAR DEPARTMENT CONTRACTS

1. Section 848.860–2 (j) is added as follows:

§ 848.860–2 Definitions. • • •

(j) Special tooling. The term "special tooling" means plant equipment of such special design that it has apparent value only as scrap except in the manufacture of the particular product which such equipment was specifically designed to produce: it includes only jigs, dies, fixtures, gauges, moulds, and similar equipment. [JTR 860.2]

2. Section 848.863–7 is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.863–7 Redistribution within the War Department. Where requirements are known to exist, idle plant equipment under a War Department facilities contract may be redistributed by the service concerned for supply, war production, or other authorized purposes. However, sales to contractors in possession pursuant to § 848.864–2 will take precedence over requirements for modernization of the permanent military establishment and War Department industrial reserve. [JTR 863.7]

3. Section 848.864–2 is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.864–2 Sales to war contractors in possession not pursuant to options—(a) Sales authorized. Subject to any contractual rights of intervening war contractors which have not been waived, any item of plant equipment may be sold by the chief of a service under authority of Surplus Property Board Regulation No. 6 and this section to a war contractor in possession of such plant equipment for immediate or essential use in his civilian production and whether or not the plant equipment is idle at the time of sale; Provided, That:

(1) The following items of plant equipment may not be sold:

(i) Plant equipment which, to the knowledge of the contracting officer, is required by the Government for war production or in the interests of national defense, other than plant equipment required only for modernization of the permanent military establishment or for War Department industrial reserve;

(ii) Plant equipment of the types listed on Exhibit A of Surplus Property Board Regulation No. 6, unless the war contractor in possession employs less than 500 wage earners;

(iii) Plant equipment in the possession of the Aluminum Company of America or any of its subsidiaries, unless written approval of the sale has been obtained from the Surplus Property Board through the Director, Readjustment Division, ASF;

(2) Where the plant equipment is idle, the contracting officer has complied with the requirements of § 848.863–7;

(3) Care should be taken to avoid sales of individual items of plant equipment which are integral parts of a balanced production-line installation, when such sales would substantially lessen the utility or ultimate sales value of the installation.

(4) The price at which the plant equipment is to be sold has been established in accordance with the pricing policy set out in paragraph (b);

(5) The sale has been approved by a disposal board if required by paragraph (d);

(6) The contract of sale is not executed after (i) the plant equipment has been reported to a disposal agency as surplus in accordance with § 848.864–6 or (ii) the War Department has taken possession of the plant equipment (for example, by executing an agreement for its storage as contemplated in § 848.865–4, or by allowing the contractor to store it for the account and risk of the Government as contemplated in § 848.865–3 or by executing a receipt therefor as contemplated in § 848.865–8);

(7) In the following cases the contract of sale will not be executed until the contracting officer receives a favorable reply from the Attorney General to the report submitted under paragraph (c):

(i) Any proposed sale of plant equipment which cost the Government $1,000,000 or more;

(ii) Any proposed sale to a war contractor of plant equipment which cost the Government $100,000 or more and which is covered by one facilities contract, if the purchaser is engaged in a program of purchases from the Government of plant equipment which cost $1,000,000 or more. In determining whether a purchaser is engaged in such a program, the contracting officer shall secure and may rely upon a written statement from such purchaser as to whether or not the proposed purchase is part of a general plan or a series of purchases which have been or will be made from the Government of plant equipment which cost $1,000,000 or more. For purposes of such statement, the different divisions of a corporation will be considered to be a single purchaser.

(8) The contract of sale complies with paragraph (e); and

(9) The sale is in accordance with all applicable regulations of the War Production Board and the Office of Price Administration.

(b) Pricing policies. Except as provided in paragraph (g) with respect to special tooling, all sales of plant equipment to war contractors in possession shall be made in accordance with the following pricing policies:

(1) All sales of used standard general-purpose machine tools as defined in Surplus War Property Administration Regulation No. 3 (see Part 8303 of Title 32) and of used standard machines listed in § 8306.5 (a) of Surplus Property Board Regulation No. 6 shall be made at prices in accordance with said Regulation No. 3 and Surplus Property Board Special Order No. 2 (see Exhibit D of said Regulation No. 6).

(2) All sales of plant equipment for which fixed prices are not established by applicable pricing regulations shall be sold at the fair value thereof. Plant equipment which is readily severable shall in no event be sold at prices which are less than the net proceeds that could reasonably be expected to be obtained by the Government if the property were offered for sale to the public generally. In order to prevent windfalls to the war contractor or the owner of the plant in respect of plant equipment not readily severable, primary consideration shall be given to the value of the plant equipment to such war contractor or owner for the purpose for which it is to be used. In this connection consideration shall be given to the cost of purchasing and installing plant equipment of equal value to such war contractor or owner for such purpose.

(3) In determining fair value consideration shall be given, where appropriate, to such factors as original cost, replacement and reproduction cost (new), observed depreciation and obsolescence, estimated depreciation resulting from application of the depreciation rates which the Bureau of Internal Revenue would normally apply for income tax purposes, current market value of similar items, age and extent of prior use, location, quantity and condition of the items, and any other pertinent factors. In the case of plant equipment which is not readily severable, consideration should, however, also be given to the estimated proceeds which would be realized and the estimated expenses which the Government would be required to bear if the plant equipment were to be dismantled, removed and offered for sale to the public generally.

(4) In estimating reproduction or replacement cost (new), it shall be assumed that adequate trained supervision, labor and suitable materials are available. Allowances for overtime and for extensive change orders during construction should be excluded. The contracting officer may employ appraisers to the extent deemed necessary or desirable.

(5) In the case of the sale of any plant equipment which is not governed by a fixed price schedule the contracting officer may request the advice and assistance of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in the establishment of the price required by subparagraph (2). The request may be addressed to the regional office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the region in which the property is located.

(c) Submission of data to the Attorney General. In any proposed sale of plant equipment which comes within the provisions of paragraph (a) (7) above, the contracting officer will immediately prepare and forward to the Director, Readjustment Division, ASF, a report of such proposal for transmission to the Attorney General as contemplated by section 20 of the Surplus Property Act of 1944. This report will contain the following information:

(1) Name of the contractor in possession.

(2) A copy of the facilites contract under which the plant equipment to be sold is held and all supplemental agreements thereto. (Schedules attached to the facilities contract may be omitted.)

(3) General description of all plant equipment held by the purchaser under the particular facilities contract.

(4) Description of the plant equipment proposed to be sold and the cost thereof to the Government.

(5) Statement as to whether any item of plant equipment proposed to be sold is included within paragraph (a) (1) (ii) of this section.

(6) Statement as to the location of each item of plant equipment to be sold and whether the land on which it is located is owned by the purchaser or is leased by the purchaser from a party other than the Government. If the land is leased to the purchaser, summarize briefly the provisions relating to duration and termination of the lease.

(7) Statement as to whether the plant equipment to be sold is idle and (i) if idle, whether it is currently being held in standby or (ii) if not idle, whether a notice of complete termination of war contracts being performed with the plant equipment has been served or whether complete cessation of work under such contracts is otherwise imminent.

(8) The amount of the offer or proposed sale price and all other terms and conditions of the proposed sale, to the extent available at the time of submission.

(9) A statement that the purchaser has represented that he plans to use the items purchased in his production.

(10) A brief statement by the purchaser as to what in general he intends to produce with the plant equipment proposed to be sold.

(d) Review by disposal board. (1) All sales of plant equipment will be subject to review and approval by disposal boards established as described in § 844.449–1 except as follows:

(i) Sales of plant equipment at specific prices fixed by paragraph (b) (1).

(ii) Sales where the cost, estimated if necessary, of the plant equipment sold is not in excess of $25,000.

(2) If review and approval are required under subparagraph (1), the chief of a service may require an additional prior review and approval by a disposal board, established in his office under § 821.106 of this chapter, or, in the case of the Army Air Forces, in the headquarters office of a command, where the cost (estimated if necessary) of the material to be disposed of by the sale exceeds $500,000, and it is proposed to sell such material at more than 25 percent below such cost.

(e) Provisions in contracts of sale. Every contract of sale made pursuant to this section will contain (1) a recitation that it is made under the authority of section 14 (a) of the Surplus Property Act and regulations issued thereunder, (2) a waiver by the purchaser of any purchase options, rights of refusal or similar privileges with reference to other plant equipment which the contractor may have under the same facilities contract, and (3) an article substantially in the following form:

Representation as to use in production. The Purchaser represents that he intends that all property being acquired under this contract shall be used in his production and that he is not acquiring any of such property for the purpose of reselling it, directly or indirectly, at a profit.

(f) Property covered by Emergency Plant Facilities Contracts. (1) Where property in the possession of a war contractor is covered by an Emergency Plant Facility Contract under which:

(i) The expense of construction or equipment is initially borne by the contractor;

(ii) The Government reimburse him for the expense by monthly payments over a specified period;

(iii) Title does not pass to the Government until full reimbursement has been made; and

(iv) Reimbursement may be accelerated at the option of the Government

such property shall be deemed to be plant equipment for the purposes of this section except in cases where the Government owns, or where on completion of the payments the Government will own, or have a leasehold interest in, land on which buildings or other facilities have been constructed or installed pursuant to the contract.

(2) The war contractor in possession of property deemed to be plant equipment pursuant to subparagraph (1) above may acquire such plant equipment free and clear of the Government's right under the contract to obtain title: Provided, That (i) all the requirements of paragraphs (a) through (e) have been complied with and (ii) the written approval of the Director, Readjustment Division, ASF, shall have first been obtained. Requests for such approval will be submitted through channels and will contain a full statement of all pertinent information.

(g) Sales of special tooling to contractor in possession at scrap prices. In any case in which the chief of a service shall make a written finding that given special tooling will have no reasonably foreseeable use for civilian production he may dispose of such tooling to the contractor in possession at scrap prices. In any such case the contract of sale shall identify the special tooling sold pursuant to this paragraph and shall include a provision substantially as follows:

The purchaser agrees (1) that upon conclusion of the war production in which the special tooling purchased hereunder is used or to be used he will make a written offer to the Government, addressed to the contracting officer, to sell such special tooling to the Government at the then scrap price of such special tooling, (2) that such offer shall remain open and unrevoked for a period to be specified therein but in no event to be less than 30 days, and (3) that if the Government does not in writing accept such offer within the specified period the purchaser will dispose of such special tooling as scrap.

Nothing in this paragraph (g) shall be deemed to limit the determination and disposition of special tooling under § 848.864–3.

(h) Disposition of special tooling in possession of a subcontractor or sublessee. If in accordance with the terms of a facilities contract special tooling is located in the plant of a subcontractor or a sub-lessee, and if such subcontractor or sub-lessee has in writing indicated that he does not desire to acquire such special tooling, the chief of the service is hereby empowered to authorize such subcontractor or sub-lessee or the prime contractor under a prime war contract in performance of which the special tooling is or has been used to dispose of the special tooling by competitive bidding through sealed bids or at auction at the discretion of the chief of the service and subject to rules and regulations prescribed by the chief of the service. Such rules and regulations shall contain, among other provisions, the following requirements:

(1) The determination of lots shall be subject to approval by the chief of the service or his representative.

(2) The chief of the service or his representative shall set an upset price on each lot at which figure the bidding on such lot shall be started.

(3) The right shall be reserved to the chief of the service or his representative to reject any or all bids.

(4) Notice shall be given by publication to all interested possible purchasers indicating the special tooling that will be available for sale, naming a date not less than 14 days from the time of first publication when the bidding will be closed or when the auction will be held, and giving the upset price on each lot.

(5) If no acceptable bid is received by the chief of the service or his representative, a contractor who is holding a higher tier facilities contract under which the special tooling is held may be permitted to acquire and retain the property under a negotiated sale or under a lease for a period of not more than one year. Sale prices and rentals shall be determined on a basis that is fair and reasonable taking into consideration the limited sale value of the property, its special value to the purchaser or lessee, upset prices and any bids received.

The chief of the service may request the advice and assistance of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in setting upset prices and in determining acceptable sales prices and rentals. Such requests shall be addressed to the regional office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the region in which the major portion of the special tooling to be sold is located. At the discretion of the chief of the service auctions, sales or leases authorized under this paragraph may be combined with auctions, sales or leases authorized under Part 829 of this chapter. Nothing in this paragraph shall be deemed to limit the determination and disposition of special tooling under § 848.864–3. [JTR 864.2]

SUBPART H—REPORTS ON PROPERTY DISPOSITION

Subpart H is amended to read as follows:

§ 848.880 Scope. This subpart applies only to the War Department. It covers the preparation and submission of reports covering contractor inventory disposition and related matters. [JTR 880]

§ 848.881–1 How amounts are to be shown. In all data involving dollar values, amounts will be shown to the nearest whole dollar. [JTR 881.1]

§ 848.882 Report of disposition of contractor inventory. [JTR 882]

§ 848.882–1 General description. (a) This report consists of three parts: Part I—Disposition Summary; Part II—Analysis of Contractor Retentions; and Part III—Plant Clearance.

(b) Part I: Disposition summary. (1) This section of the report will record retention by the contractor, possession by the War Department, and removal from the contractor's plant of contractor inventory listed on inventory schedules or plant equipment applications hereinafter referred to as disposal requests.

(2) Retention by the contractor includes all disposals by the contractor in possession such as sales by him to third parties, and abandonment or destruction of property by him with the approval of the contracting officer. For the purpose of this report, the approval of retention by the contracting officer is considered to effect retention.

(3) Possession by the War Department is effected by the removal of the property from the contractor's plant or the execution of a storage agreement between the War Department and the contractor covering property to be stored in his plant.

(4) Removal is affected by the physical removal of the property from the contractor's plant or the issuance of shipping instructions to the contractor in possession. For the purpose of this report, the execution of a storage agreement between the contractor and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is also considered to effect removal.

(c) Part II: Analysis of retentions. This part of the report will analyze the information contained on Line 5, Columns (d) and (e) of Part I of the report form, and represents the several procedural or price policy categories set forth in SPB Regulation 9. In addition to the analysis by procedural or price policy categories, the costs and proceeds of inventory retained by the contractor are to be analyzed by the type of material appearing in the heading of the various columns for each disposal request of $20,000 or more. For such requests contractor inventory listed on inventory schedules Form OCS–2a will be reported in Columns (B) and (C). Contractor inventory listed as raw materials on inventory schedules Form OCS–2b will be reported in Columns (D) and (E). Contractor inventory listed on inventory schedules Form OCS–2b as purchased parts, finished components, and finished products, will be reported in Columns (F) and (G). Contractor inventory listed on inventory schedules Form OCS–2c will be reported in Columns (H) and (I). Contractor inventory listed in inventory schedules Form OCS–2d will be reported in Columns (J) and (K). Miscellaneous contractor inventory reported on inventory schedules Form OCS–2b will be reported in Columns (L) and (M). Contractor inventory reported on disposal requests amounting to less than $20,000 will be reported in Columns (N) and (O). Plant equipment reported on Form 5—Office of Contract Settlement—will not be included in this analysis.

(d) Part III: Plant clearance. (1) This part of the report will summarize: (i) Clearance requests received during the month; (ii) clearance requests completed during the month; (iii) clearance requests pending at the end of the month; and (iv) the period of time required to complete clearance under clearance requests, or the period of time for which clearance has been pending under clearance requests.

(2) A clearance request is a listing submitted by a contractor, excluding lists submitted for informational purposes, of specific items of property to be removed from his plant unless otherwise disposed of. In the case of plant equipment, these are the removal schedules. Plant equipment purchase schedules will not be considered as clearance requests and will not be included in this report.

(3) A clearance request is completed by removal from the plant of the contractor concerned of the last item of inventory included in the clearance request. For this purpose, completion is effected by physical removal by the Government (or issuance of shipping instructions), approval of retention of inventory by the contractor, approval of sale by a contractor to a third party, execution of a storage agreement between the Government and the contractor, or by physical removal (after 60 days and after the expiration of the notice period) by the contractor to another location for storage at Government expense. When a contractor moves inventory to another location for storage at his own expense, clearance is not achieved until one of the above defined actions is completed.

(4) A waiver consists of the execution of a written agreement between a contractor and the contracting officer to extend the 60-day clearance period. [JTR 882.1]

§ 848.882–2 Form. On or before the 12th day of October 1945 and of each month thereafter, the chief of each service will submit to the Readjustment Division, ASF, the original and one copy of a report for his service and one copy of a report for each procurement office and for each Company-Wide Settlement and Consolidated Termination Program Installation (included in the procurement office reports) under his jurisdiction, together with the required copies of Forms SPB–1, SPB–1.1, SPB–1.2 and SPB–1.3. [MPR 149, Amdt. 20]

MECHANICAL RUBBER GOODS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Section 1315.21a (b) of Maximum Price Regulation 149 is amended to read as follows:

(b) Maximum prices for mechanical rubber goods listed in Appendix B and redetermination of maximum prices for certain mechanical rubber commodities listed in Appendix B—(1) Maximum prices for mechanical rubber goods listed in Appendix B. Maximum prices for all mechanical rubber goods of the types and kinds listed in § 1315.35, Appendix B, shall be determined in the same manner as that stated in paragraph (a) of § 1315.21a, except that the date January 5, 1942, shall in every case be substituted for the date October 1, 1941.

(2) Redetermination of maximum prices for molded, extruded, lathe-cut, and chemically blown sponge rubber products. (i) This subparagraph (2) applies to a manufacturer of those mechanical rubber goods listed in § 1315.35, Appendix B, which are generally known by the term "molded, extruded, lathe-cut, and chemically blown sponge rubber products", who has a regularly quoted price (as defined in § 1315.31 (a) (7) of this regulation) for such mechanical rubber goods and who has filed with the Office of Price Administration, pursuant to § 1315.28, his base period regularly quoted prices and his base period pricing methods and rates for these products. This subparagraph does not apply to brake linings and clutch facings, flooring, mats and matting, foamed latex products, hard rubber goods, and rubber covered rolls.

(ii) A manufacturer who meets the requirements of subdivision (i) above may redetermine his maximum prices for any mechanical rubber good covered by this subparagraph (2) according to the formula-method set forth in paragraph (a) (2) (iii) of this section, except that the date January 5, 1942, shall be substituted for the date October 1, 1941, where the latter appears. The redetermined maximum price for a mechanical rubber good established under this subparagraph (2) shall not exceed 115 percent of the manufacturer's January 5, 1942, regularly quoted price for it. If the redetermined maximum price computed according to the formula results in a price that exceeds 115 percent of the manufacturer's January 5, 1942, regularly quoted price for an item, the maximum price for the item is 115 percent of the manufacturer's January 5, 1942, regularly quoted price.

This amendment shall become effective October 29, 1945.

Issued this 23d day of October 1945.

(14) "37% butterfat" cream cheese means the product defined as cream cheese in paragraph (c) (10) above except that it shall contain not less than 37% milk fat and that each package prepared and sold shall carry a prominent identification stating that the contents contain a minimum of 37% milk fat.

5. Section 33 (c) (15) is redesignated Section 33 (c) (16).

6. A new section 33 (c) (15) is added to read as follows:

(15) "Flavored cream cheese," "flavored neufchatel cheese," "flavored 23% butterfat neufchatel cheese," "flavored 20% butterfat neufchatel cheese" and "flavored 37% butterfat cream cheese" mean the products defined in paragraphs (c) (10), (c) (11), (c) (12), (c) (13) and (c) (14) respectively to which have been added any condiments or relishes (including but not restricted to pineapple, scallions, chives, parsley, olives and pimentos) and other non-cheese ingredients such as milk solids, vinegar, sugar, salt, vegetable gum and vegetable coloring. Although the final "flavored" product does not necessarily have to conform to the minimum fat and maximum moisture requirements of the definition of the appropriate natural cheese, the basic product to which these or other ingredients have been added shall have satisfied all the requirements of such definition. However, instead of the minimum fat identification required in paragraph (c) (12) above, each package of "flavored 23% butterfat neufchatel cheese" prepared and sold shall carry a prominent identification indicating that the natural neufchatel cheese contents, to which the condiments or relishes and other non-cheese ingredients were added, originally contained at least 23% of milk fat. Furthermore, instead of the minimum fat identification required in paragraph (c) (14) above, each package of flavored 37% butterfat cream cheese prepared and sold shall carry a prominent identification indicating that the natural cream cheese contents, to which the condiments or relishes and other non-cheese ingredients were added, originally contained at least 37% of milk fat.

This amendment shall become effective 29th day of October 1945.

ARTICLE I—SCOPE AND PROHIBITIONS OF THE REGULATION

SECTION 1. Products and services covered—(a) Transactions. Except as provided in the next section 2, this regulation fixes maximum prices for all sales of electrical wire and cable, and heater and extension cord sets (both used and unused), but not including "trouble lamps". In addition, this regulation fixes maximum prices for sales of wiring harnesses, battery cables, and ignition sets by the harness, cable or set manufacturer to the manufacturer of the item into which they are incorporated. This regulation also fixes maximum prices for any operation or service performed in connection with the manufacture of a product covered by this regulation. The commodities covered by this regulation will be referred to as "products" and the services covered by this regulation will be referred to as "services". Unless otherwise specified, where the term "product" is used, it means a product in an unused and new condition.

Note that this regulation applies to sales to governmental, as well as to non-governmental purchasers. Thus, this regulation applies to the sale of a product or service covered by this regulation, even if it is made or supplied only for military purposes and is sold to an agency of the United States.

(b) Meaning of term "electrical wire or cable". The term "electrical wire or cable" means any wire or cable (bare or insulated) which is used primarily for conducting electricity. The term also includes hot rolled black or cleaned rods for electrical uses.

(c) Geographical applicability. This regulation applies in the forty-eight States of the United States, the District of Columbia, and in the territories and possessions of the United States.

SEC. 2. Exclusions—(a) Sales to certain users. This regulation applies to sales to industrial, commercial or governmental users. However, it does not apply to any sales to other types of users. Sales to such users are covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(b) Sales on an installed basis. This regulation does not apply to any sale of a product where the seller also furnishes the services required to incorporate the product into a building, structure or construction project. Such sales are covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation 251—Construction Services and Sales of Installed Building Materials.

(c) Secret contracts. This regulation does not apply to sales and deliveries of any product or service under a contract or subcontract that is officially classified as "secret" and certified in writing as such to the OPA by the United States, the government of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Lend-Lease Act, or any agency of any of the foregoing. Such certification must state the date of the "secret" contract or subcontract and its number or other designation. The certifying government agency shall notify the seller and the OPA whenever such contract or subcontract ceases to be secret. This exemption shall not apply after the seller receives such a notification from the certifying government agency.

(d) Developmental contracts—(1) Exclusion. This regulation does not apply to sales and deliveries of any product manufactured, or service supplied, under a contract or subcontract that is certified in writing to the OPA as being "developmental" by the United States, the government of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Lend-Lease Act, or any agency of any of the foregoing. A contract is deemed to be "developmental" during the period required for the selection of a product or service by the purchaser or for the accumulation of sufficient experience by the manufacturer to permit a fair estimate of the manufacturing costs, or both. If the OPA determines, after consultation with the appropriate government agency, that the period necessary for development has ended, and in writing so notifies such agency and the seller, this regulation shall apply to all subsequent sales and deliveries of the product or service.

(2) Report. Within ten days after entering into any developmental contract or subcontract, the seller shall file a report with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. This report shall set forth a description of the products or services that are the subject of the contract, a summary of the terms of the contract, and an estimate of the expected duration of the developmental work. This report need not be filed if the developmental contract or subcontract is also certified as "confidential" or "restricted" by the certifying government agency.

(e) Emergency purchases. This regulation does not apply to sales or deliveries of any product or service which is purchased for immediate delivery by the United States, the government of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Lend-Lease Act, or any agency of any of the foregoing, under such circumstances as to make immediate delivery imperative and as to render it impossible to secure, or unfair to require, immediate delivery at the maximum price. Within ten days after any such emergency purchase in the amount of $500 or more is made, the person making such purchase on behalf of the purchasing government or agency must file a report with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. This report shall contain: (1) a certification that an emergency existed; (2) the name and address of the seller; (3) the date of purchase; (4) the date of delivery; (5) a description of the product or service purchased; (6) the quantity purchased; (7) the price at which purchased; and (8) a brief statement of the facts giving rise to the emergency situation which necessitated the purchase at a price higher than the applicable maximum price.

SEC. 3. Relationship to other regulations—(a) In general. Except as otherwise specifically provided in this regulation, this regulation supersedes any other regulation issued by the OPA, in so far as transactions covered by this regulation are concerned.

(b) Applicability of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation. The maximum price at which a person may make any export sales of any product covered by this regulation shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation or any revision thereof. See the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation for the definition of "export sale."

(c) Applicability of the Maximum Import Price Regulation. The provisions of this regulation do not apply to purchases, and sales or deliveries of products which originated outside of, and are imported into, the continental United States. Purchases, sales and deliveries of such imported products are covered by the provisions of the Maximum Import Price Regulation.

SEC. 4. Prohibitions. On and after October 29, 1945:

(a) No person shall sell, deliver or negotiate the sale of any product (new or used) or service at a price higher than the maximum fixed by this regulation.

(b) No person, in the course of trade or business, shall buy or receive any product (new or used) or service at a price higher than the maximum fixed by this regulation. The purchaser shall be deemed to have complied with this paragraph if he receives a written statement from his supplier that the price charged him does not exceed the maximum price, and if he has no reason to doubt the validity of this statement. A statement that "prices in this invoice do not exceed OPA maximum prices" will be acceptable.

(c) No person shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing.

SEC. 5. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this regulation may be charged or paid.

SEC. 6. Base date. The base date for the manufacture and services in connection with the manufacture of all copper, copper alloy or copper-clad wire or cable including cord sets, wiring harness, battery cables and ignition sets covered by this regulation is October 15, 1941. The base date for all other products and services covered by this regulation is March 31, 1942.

ARTICLE II—MAXIMUM PRICES AND TERMS OF SALE

SEC. 7. Prices previously established. This regulation supersedes Revised Price Schedule 82 (Wire, Cable and Cable Accessories) and Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136 (Machines, Parts and Industrial Equipment). All prices approved or established in writing by the OPA under Revised Price Schedule 82, or Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, remain in effect under this regulation. However, the OPA may at any time disapprove or revise a price established under Revised Price Schedule 82, or Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136, where a lower price would result from the application of the provisions of this regulation. This action will not apply to any deliveries made before the date of such revision or disapproval.

SEC. 8. Maximum manufacturers' prices for products or services with list prices. The maximum price for the sale of any product (new and unused) or service for which the manufacturer had a published list price in effect on the base date, shall be that price, adjusted to reflect all applicable extra charges, discounts or allowances that the manufacturer had in effect to a purchaser of the same class on the base date. See the definition of "purchaser of the same class" in section 24 (a) (5).

SEC. 9. Maximum manufacturers' prices for products that have been modified—(a) Applicability of this section. Where a substantial change in design or specifications is made in any particular type of product for which the manufacturer had a list or established price in effect on the base date, the maximum price for the product as modified must be determined under this section. Wire or cable of the same type must be priced under this section whenever it differs from wire and cable, for which the manufacturer has a list or established price in one or more of the following ways:

(1) The material used for covering.

(2) The material used for insulating.

(3) The metal used for any or all of the strands.

(4) The number of strands.

(b) Maximum prices. The manufacturer's maximum price for any product covered by this section shall be determined as follows:

(1) The manufacturer shall first figure the increases and decreases in those costs listed below which are attributable to the change in design or specifications. This change in costs shall be figured by using:

(i) Direct labor cost determined by using his current straight-time labor rates for the labor costs both added and eliminated.

(ii) Direct material cost determined by using his current material prices, not in excess of the maximum established by the OPA, for the materials both added and eliminated.

(iii) If the manufacturer has materials processed by a subcontractor, he must use the actual price paid the subcontractor (not in excess of the applicable maximum price), plus any transportation costs paid by the manufacturer for shipment from the subcontractor to him.

(iv) Factory overhead allocable to such direct material or direct labor costs, determined in accordance with the manufacturer's method of accounting and charged at the actual rate or rates in effect in his plant during the month preceding the base date at the standard rates, if any, consistently used by the manufacturer for price determining purposes during the month containing the base date.

(v) Royalty payments, if any, determined at the rate actually paid by the manufacturer.

(vi) Where the product is sold on a freight allowed or a delivered price basis, outbound transportation charges may be added. These charges shall be computed by using current freight rates applied in accordance with the manufacturer's base date practice.

(2) The manufacturer shall then add or subtract the net increase or decrease in costs so calculated from or to his maximum net price to the class of purchasers who paid the lowest published net price for the product before modification. The resultant figure is the manufacturer's maximum price for the product as modified when sold to the class of purchasers who buy at the lowest net price. This maximum price may not be rounded out above the computed price.

(3) The manufacturer shall then determine the maximum price to every other class of purchasers by multiplying his maximum price for that class of purchasers before modification by a factor. This factor shall be determined by dividing the manufacturer's new lowest maximum net price after modification (computed under subparagraph (2) above) by the manufacturer's lowest maximum net price before modification.

(c) Report and approval of maximum prices. If a manufacturer publishes a list price for a modified product covered by this section, he must file a report with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. The manufacturer must always file a report when specifically requested to do so by the OPA. The report shall contain the information required by OPA Form 694–2165 (Appendix A).

After receipt of this report, OPA may (1) approve the proposed maximum price, (2) disapprove the proposed maximum price, or (3) establish a different maximum price determined under this section by order. If the OPA fails to act within thirty days after it receives the required report (or any requested verification of the facts stated in the report) the proposed maximum price shall be deemed to be approved. OPA may disapprove any price either because it was not figured in accordance with paragraph (b) or because it is not in line with maximum prices fixed by this regulation.

The maximum price established in this manner shall be applicable to all subsequent sales and deliveries. However, if the OPA later determines that this price was not figured in accordance with this section, it may disapprove that price at any time. This disapproval will not be retroactive as to any deliveries made before the date of such disapproval.

(d) Interim pricing. Prior to receipt of approval by the OPA of the required report (or any verification of the facts stated in the report that may be requested), the proposed price may be tentatively quoted or charged. However, no more than the maximum price before modification or 75 percent of the proposed price, whichever is the lower, may be paid or received until a maximum price has been established. Also, final statement, including any necessary refunds, shall be made in accordance with the action taken by the OPA.

(e) Certification by seller where the manufacturer is unable to determine the maximum price of purchased materials or services. For the purposes of this section, if the manufacturer receives a written statement from his supplier that the price charged for purchased materials or services does not exceed the applicable maximum price, and if the manufacturer has no reason to doubt the validity of this statement, the price certified by the supplier shall be deemed not to be in excess of the maximum price. A statement that "prices in this invoice do not exceed OPA maximum prices" will be acceptable.

SEC. 10. Maximum manufacturers' prices for products or services without list prices—(a) Maximum prices. This section is applicable to any product for which the manufacturer did not have a list price in effect on the base date and which is not a modified product covered by the preceding section 9. This section is also applicable to any service for which the manufacturer did not have a list price in effect on the base date. The maximum price for any such product or service shall be a price in line with the maximum prices fixed by this regulation for any other manufacturer or service supplier for the same commodity. A manufacturer may propose a maximum price on the basis of in-lineness, in which case, he shall file the report required in paragraph (b) (1) below. In all other cases, he shall file the report required in paragraph (b) (2).

(b) Reports—(1) Maximum prices for products which are in-line with list prices in effect on the base date. The manufacturer must file a report with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., before he delivers any product or supplies any services covered by this section. This report shall contain:

(i) Description of the product or service, and of the comparable price list which is used.

(ii) Statement of the reasons why the manufacturer believes that the maximum prices proposed by him are in-line with the maximum prices fixed by this regulation.

(2) Maximum price for products for which no other manufacturer had a price in effect on the base date. Before delivering any product or supplying any service covered by this section, the manufacturer shall file with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., a report containing the information required by OPA Form 694–2167 (See Appendix B).

(c) Approvals. After receipt of the report required by (b) (1) or (2) above, the OPA may approve the proposed maximum price, disapprove the proposed maximum price, or establish a different maximum price determined under this section by order. If OPA fails to act within thirty days after it receives the required report (or any verification of the facts stated in the report that may be required), the proposed maximum price shall be deemed to be approved.

The maximum price established in this manner shall be applicable to all subsequent sales and deliveries. However, if the OPA later determines that this price was not figured in accordance with this section, it may disapprove that price at any time. This disapproval will not be retroactive as to any deliveries made before the date of such disapproval.

In the event that the OPA finds that the manufacturer's production experience does not yet warrant the establishment of a permanent maximum price, it may establish, or give temporary approval to, a maximum price and require further filing under paragraph (b) at a later date.

(d) Interim pricing. Prior to receipt of approval of the OPA of the proposed price, or prior to the expiration of the thirty days period after OPA's receipt of the required report (or any verification of the facts stated in the report that may be requested), the proposed price may be tentatively quoted or charged, but no more than 75 per cent of that price may be paid or received until a maximum price has been established. Also, final settlement, including any necessary refunds, shall be made in accordance with the action taken by the OPA.

SEC. 11. Maximum resellers' prices—(a) Products for which the reseller had list or established prices—(1) Maximum prices. The maximum price for any product (new and unused) for which the reseller had a published list price or established price in effect on the base date, shall be that price, adjusted to reflect all applicable extra charges, discounts or allowances that the reseller had in effect to a purchaser of the same class on the base date.

(2) Meaning of "established price in effect on the base date". "Established price in effect on the base date" means a price at which the reseller contracted to sell the same product to the same class of purchasers at least three times during the period of six months prior to and including the base date. However, if, during that period, he contracted at least once to sell that product to the same class of purchasers at a higher price, then neither price shall be considered an "established price".

If the reseller has an established price to one class of purchasers, he must determine his maximum price to all other classes of purchasers by adjusting that established price to reflect the reseller's base date differentials, if any, between classes of purchasers.

(b) Products for which the reseller did not have list or established prices—(1) Where there is an approved suggested resale price—Maximum price. This paragraph is applicable only to products (new and unused) for which the seller had no published list price or established price in effect on the base date. Where the manufacturer had a suggested resale price for such a product in effect on the base date, or where the OPA has approved a suggested resale price for such a product in writing, the maximum price for a sale by a reseller shall be determined as follows: The reseller shall deduct from the suggested resale price, which the manufacturer had in effect on the base date, or which was approved by the OPA, all discounts, allowances and other deductions that the reseller had in effect on the base date, for products of the same or a similar type to a purchaser of the same class. Where the reseller was not selling products of the same or a similar type on the base date, he shall deduct from the manufacturer's suggested resale price all discounts, allowances and other deductions, which his most closely competitive seller of the same class had in effect on the base date, for products of the same type to a purchaser of the same class. A reseller's "most closely competitive seller of the same class" means a person selling to the same class of purchasers who (i) is selling the same or a similar product, (ii) is a seller of the same class (distributor, wholesaler, dealer, etc.), and (iii) is located nearest to the reseller.

Report. The reseller must file any maximum prices determined under this paragraph (b) (unless he has already done so), with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., before he delivers any products covered by this paragraph. This report shall identify the price sheets used by the reseller to determine his maximum prices, together with his own discounts and allowances, if any, and a statement as to the method by which those discounts and allowances were determined.

(2) Where the manufacturer had no approved suggested resale price—(i) How the seller calculated the maximum price. This paragraph is applicable to products (new and unused) for which the reseller had no published list price or established price in effect on the base date. Where the manufacturer did not have a suggested resale price for such a product in effect on the base date, and the OPA has not approved a suggested resale price for such a product in effect on the base date, and the OPA has not approved a suggested resale price for such a product in writing, the maximum price for a sale by a reseller shall be determined as follows: The reseller shall first multiply the cost of the product, determined under subdivision (ii), by the percentage margin determined under subdivision (iii).

(ii) Cost of the product. The cost of the product that must be used in determining the maximum price shall be the reseller's net invoiced cost, not to exceed the applicable maximum price. For the purposes of this section, if the reseller receives a written statement from his supplier that the price charged does not exceed the applicable maximum price, and the reseller has no reason to doubt the validity of this statement, the price certified by his supplier shall be deemed not to be in excess of the maximum price. A statement that "prices in this invoice do not exceed OPA maximum prices" will be acceptable.

(iii) Percentage which must be used in determining the maximum price. The percentage which the reseller must use in determining the maximum price shall be the percentage margin over net invoiced cost that the reseller realized on the base date, on sales of the same or a similar product, adjusted to reflect the reseller's base date differential between classes of purchasers.

(iv) Report. The reseller must file any maximum prices determined under this paragraph (b) with the Machinery

Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. (unless he has already done so), before he delivers any products covered by this paragraph. This report shall contain the following information:

A description of the product. This description shall include the manufacturer's name and designating description.
The reseller's net invoiced cost of the product.
The name and address of the person from whom the reseller purchased the product.
The reseller's maximum price for the product and the class of purchasers to which that maximum price applies.
The method by which the reseller determined his maximum price.

(c) Products that cannot be priced under (a) or (b)—(1) Maximum price. This paragraph is applicable to sales by resellers of products (new and unused) that cannot be priced under paragraphs (a) or (b). The maximum price for such sales shall be a price, in line with maximum prices otherwise established by this regulation, that is specifically authorized by the OPA. A reseller seeking such authorization shall file a report with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. This report shall set forth the following:

A description of the product for which a maximum price is sought. This description shall include the manufacturer's name and designating description:

The net invoiced cost of the product.
The name and address of the reseller's supplier of the product.
The proposed maximum price.
A statement of the basis on which such proposed maximum price was determined.
An explanation of the reasons why the product cannot be priced under paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section.

After receipt of this report, the OPA may approve the proposed maximum price, disapprove the proposed maximum price, or establish a different maximum price, by order. If the OPA fails to act within thirty days after it receives the required report, (or any requested verification of the facts stated in the report), the proposed maximum price shall be deemed to be approved.

The maximum price established in this manner shall be applicable to all subsequent sales and deliveries. However, if the OPA later determines that this price is not in line with maximum prices established by this regulation, it may disapprove the price at any time. This disapproval will not be retroactive as to any deliveries made before the date of such disapproval.

(2) Interim pricing. Prior to receipt of approval by OPA of the proposed price, or prior to the expiration of the thirty day period after receipt by OPA of the required report, (or any requested verification of the facts stated in the report), the proposed price may be tentatively quoted or charged. However, no more than 75 per cent of the proposed price may be paid or received until a maximum price has been established. Also, final settlement, including any necessary refunds, shall be made in accordance with the action taken by OPA.

SEC. 12. Maximum prices for used products—(a) Applicability of this section. This section is applicable to any wire or cable which has been installed for electrical circuit use.

(b) Used bare wire. The price per pound for used bare conductor wire shall not exceed the highest price per pound the manufacturer charges resellers for the same quantity of new wire of equivalent gauge, delivered at the point of sale of the used wire.

(c) Used insulated wire and cable—(1) Equivalent to new. The price for sales of used insulated wire or cable, which is in a condition equivalent to that of the wire or cable when new, shall not exceed 90 per cent of the highest price the manufacturer charges resellers for the same quantity of the wire or cable when new, delivered at the point of sale of the used wire or cable. Used wire or cable is in a condition equivalent to that of the wire or cable when new only if it meets the following conditions:

(i) If it is insulated with rubber, synthetic rubber or synthetic resin (such as vinylite, cellulose acetate, etc.), it must not be more than three years old. If it is insulated with any other material (such as varnished cambric), it must not be more than five years old. The age of the wire or cable shall be the length of time between the date of shipment from the manufacturer's plant and the date of the sale of the used wire or cable. If the age of the wire or cable cannot be determined, it must be priced under (2) below.

(ii) Lengths shall not be less than one-half of a standard coil. Thus, where a standard coil for the type or size is 1,000 feet, the lengths may not be less than 500 feet. However, regardless of standard coil lengths where the manufacturer's price to users for the type or size of wire or cable is $1.00 per foot or less, the lengths must not be less than 100 feet; where the manufacturer's price to users for the type or size of wire or cable is more than $1.00 per foot, the lengths must not be less than 10 feet.

(iii) The insulation, braid or outer covering must not have any abrasions, or worn or damaged spots, which result in a reduction of the insulating qualities of the wire covering.

(2) Not equivalent to new. The maximum price for sales of any used insulated wire or cable, which cannot meet all of the conditions listed in (1) above, shall be 75 per cent of the highest price the manufacturer charges resellers for the same quantity of wire or cable when new, delivered at the point of sale of the used wire or cable.

SEC. 13. Taxes—(a) In general. If a tax or tax increase is imposed on a service, or a new or used product, and the tax law does not forbid the seller to pass the tax on to his customers, he may add the tax or tax increase to his maximum price, if he separately states it. However, if the tax was in effect on the base date, and the seller did not charge his customers extra for the tax on that date, he may not do so now.

(b) Tax on the transportation of property. The tax on the transportation of all property imposed on section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942, shall, for the purposes of determining the applicable maximum price of any new or used product, be treated as though it were an increase of 3 per cent in the amount charged by every person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire. It shall not be treated as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price.

SEC. 14. Terms and conditions of sale—(a) Credit charges. The maximum prices established by this regulation include any charges for the extension of credit, unless (1) the seller on the base date required the payment of a separately stated additional charge for the extension of credit by purchasers of the same class on sales of the same or similar types of commodities or services, and (2) the amount charged for the extension of credit is not in excess of the credit charge the seller had in effect on the base date.

(b) Transportation costs. No seller may require any purchaser, and no purchaser shall be permitted, to pay a larger proportion of transportation costs incurred in the delivery or supply of any product or service than the seller required purchasers of the same class to pay on the base date, for deliveries or supplies of the same or similar types of products or services.

SEC. 15. Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business assets or stock in trade are sold or otherwise transferred after the base date, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of products or services, in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the maximum prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 16. Maximum prices for certain specified products. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this regulation, the maximum prices for the following products shall be as follows:

(a) Armored cable—(1) Manufacturers' prices. The maximum manufacturer's price for the sale of armored cable shall be determined pursuant to the schedule of manufacturer's prices to jobbers set forth in Appendix D to this regulation, subject to any price differential in effect to any other class of purchaser on the base date. The manufacturer shall apply to the prices listed in Appendix D all discounts (including the standard 5 per cent cash discount) and other conditions of sale which the manufacturer had in effect on the base date. The zones set forth in the appendix are the standard geographical shipping zones uniformly recognized in the industry. If the manufacturer was not selling armored cable on the base date, he must determine his maximum price under section 10.

(2) Resellers' prices. The maximum prices for sales of armored cable by resellers shall be determined as follows: The reseller shall apply to the prices listed in (1) the percentage margin over net invoiced cost that he was realizing on the base date, on sales of armored cable. If the reseller was not selling armored cable on the base date, he must determine his maximum price under section 11 (c).

(b) Products containing lead. The maximum price for any product (new and unused) which contains lead shall be determined as follows: The seller (manufacturer or reseller) shall add to the maximum net price determined in accordance with the applicable provisions of this regulation an amount not exceeding $0.00325 for each pound, or major fraction of a pound, of lead contained in the product.

(c) Solid copper weatherproof wire and cable. (1) Manufacturers. The maximum manufacturer's price for new solid, copper weatherproof wire and cable shall be determined by applying to a base date price of 17.5 cents a pound for solid, soft drawn, weatherproof wire or cable the differentials, and terms and conditions of sale, which the manufacturer had in effect on the base date.

(2) Resellers. The maximum reseller's price of new solid, copper weatherproof wire and cable shall be determined by adding 2.375 cents a pound to the net price determined under section 10.

ARTICLE III—MISCELLANEOUS

SEC. 17. Applications for adjustment—(a) Applications based upon impediments to supply—(1) Who may receive an adjustment. The maximum price established by this regulation for a product may be adjusted in the case of a supplier whose output or supply of that product cannot reasonably be expected to be replaced at lower prices than the proposed adjusted maximum price. In addition, any person who has entered into or proposes to enter into a war contract (as defined in Procedural Regulation #6) or a subcontract thereunder, may receive an adjustment.

(2) When adjustment may be granted—(i) In general. The OPA may adjust any maximum price established under this regulation whenever it finds that the maximum price of a product or service is at such a level that (taking into account the cost thereof, the profits position of the supplier, and the nature of his business) production or supply of the product or service is impeded or threatened and that the adjustment would not cause an increase in the cost of living.

(ii) Factors which may be considered. (a) The following factors are relevant to the consideration of whether production or supply of the product or service is impeded or threatened:

(1) Whether, and by what amount, the maximum price is below or above (i) the total unit costs less selling and administrative expenses properly allocable to the internal management of the business, in the case of a manufacturer, and (ii) the current price being charged the seller, in the case of any other seller.

(2) Whether, and by what amount, the maximum price is below or above total unit costs,

(3) Whether, and by what amount, the supplier's current over-all profits, before income and excess profits taxes, are greater or less than his average over-all profits during the normal base period adjusted for changes in investment.

(4) Whether the proposed price is higher than the price prevailing in the industry.

(5) Whether the supplier's sales of the product or service represent only a very small part of his total sales.

(6) Whether, and by what amount, the supplier previously sold the product or service below (i) its total unit costs less selling and administrative expenses properly allocable to the internal management of the business, in the case of a manufacturer, and (ii) the supplier's invoice cost, in the case of any other seller.

(7) Whether, and by what amount, the supplier previously sold the product or service at a price below its total unit costs.

(b) The following factors are relevant to the consideration of whether the adjustment would cause an increase in the cost of living:

(1) Whether the product or service, or a commodity in the production of which it is used, is of a type sold to civilian consumers other than industrial consumers.

(2) If so, whether the increase in price allowed by the adjustment would be absorbed prior to the sale to a non-industrial consumer.

(3) Whether, if the applicant did not produce or supply the product or service, his output or supply would be replaced by the same or a substitute commodity or service only at prices equal to or higher than the proposed adjusted maximum price.

(3) How the seller proceeds in applying for an adjustment—(i) In general. An application for adjustment under this paragraph (a) shall be filed in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 and shall be made on a copy of Form OPA 694–2168, (see Appendix C). If the seller's total sales of all commodities and services during the previous year exceed $500,000, the application shall be filed with the OPA National Office in Washington, D. C. If the seller's total sales of all commodities and services for the previous year did not exceed $500,000, the application shall be filed with the regional office of the OPA located in the same region in which the seller's business is located.

(ii) Application based on proposed wage or salary increase to be authorized by the National War Labor Board. A seller who believes that the conditions for an adjustment set forth in this paragraph (a) would exist if the National War Labor Board should grant a pending application for wage or salary increase may file an application for adjustment under this paragraph. Application for adjustment of maximum prices based on wage or salary increases requiring the approval of the National War Labor Board must also comply with Supplementary Order No. 28.

(4) Prices for deliveries made pending disposition of the application. A seller who has filed an application under this paragraph (a) may contract or agree that deliveries made during the pendency of the application shall be at a specific price which is higher than the existing maximum price which the seller wants to have adjusted. However, no payment in excess of that existing maximum price may be received until final disposition is made of the application. Where the application is disposed of by an order issued under this section, the price received for deliveries made subsequent to the filing of the application may not exceed the maximum price as determined by OPA. Where the application is disposed of by an amendment of general applicability, payment in excess of the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery may be made for deliveries made pending disposition of the application, only as expressly authorized by order of the Price Administrator.

A seller who wishes to enter into such an arrangement must specifically state to the buyer the following:

(i) The maximum price for the product or service;

(ii) The fact that an appropriate application for an adjustment of that maximum price has been filed with the OPA; and

(iii) The fact that the specific price quoted by him is subject to the approval of the OPA.

(5) Definitions—(i) Normal base period. The term "normal base period" means the period 1936–1939. However, if the seller demonstrates to the satisfaction of the OPA either (a) that his entire industry was operating during the greater part of that period at an unusually depressed level, or (b) that because of conditions prevailing during that period, he was then operating at an unusually depressed level in comparison to other sellers in the industry, and if he demonstrates also that some other period before January 1, 1941, represents a proper "normal base period", such other period may be considered. The mere fact that the rate of production or supply has increased since 1936–1939 will not be deemed evidence that the seller was operating at an "unusually depressed level" during that period. If the seller was not in business before January 1, 1941, he shall state that fact in his application.

(ii) Overall profits. The term "overall profits" means net profit resulting from the operation of all divisions of the seller, before the creation of any reserves, except ordinary reserves for depreciation and bad debts, and before income and excess profits taxes. In the case of a subsidiary wholly owned by a parent corporation, the term "overall profits" means the consolidated net profits of the parent corporation before the creation of any reserves, except ordinary reserves for depreciation and bad debts, and before income and excess profit taxes.

(iii) Subcontract. The term "subcontract" means any purchase order or agreement to perform all or any part of the work, or to make or furnish any commodity, required for the performance of another contract or subcontract.

(iv) Total unit costs. (a) In the case of a manufacturer, the term "total unit costs" means the direct unit cost of labor, materials, and subcontracted services, plus a proportion of factory overhead, administrative and other expenses, based on actual operating experience, properly allocable to the production of the product. It does not include provisions for income or excess profits taxes. In evaluating total unit costs, the OPA will determine whether the allocation of factory overhead, administrative and other expenses is based on a representative period of continuous, normal production.

(b) In the case of a reseller, the term "total unit costs" means the current price the seller is paying for the product plus the handling and administrative expense, normally applicable to handling of the product, properly allocable to the seller's total cost of doing business, but does not include provisions for income or excess profits taxes. In evaluating total unit costs, the OPA will determine whether the allocation of administrative and other expenses is based on a representative period of continuous, normal production.

(b) Application based upon a compensating appropriate decrease of other prices—(1) Who may receive an adjustment under this paragraph. Adjustments under this paragraph will be granted only to an essential supplier of an essential product or service. The meaning of these terms is explained in paragraph (a) (1) of this section.

(2) When adjustment may be granted. The OPA may make an adjustment of the maximum price if:

(i) The seller agrees to make and (simultaneously with an increase in the maximum price that may be authorized under this paragraph (b)) actually does make a reduction in his selling prices which will equal or exceed the total dollar amount of the adjustment granted under this paragraph; and

(ii) One of the following conditions is met:

(a) The increases and decreases in price are made to restore normal price relationships;

(b) The increases and decreases in price are affected by changes in the prices charged different classes of purchasers for the same product or service; or

(c) The increases and decreases in price are made to change the seller's price list discount structure.

Note that an adjustment will not be granted under this paragraph where the increases in price are to be made to civilian purchasers and the decreases in price are to be made to governmental purchasers.

(3) What an application under this paragraph must show. An application for price adjustment under this paragraph (b) must show that if the proposed adjustment is granted, the gross dollar amount of sales of the products or services affected by the adjustment will not be greater than it would have been in the absence of the adjustment. Whenever the OPA grants such an adjustment, it may require appropriate reports relating to the products affected.

(4) How the seller proceeds in applying for an adjustment. An application for adjustment under this paragraph (b) shall be filed in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1. If the seller's total sales during the previous year exceeded $500,000, the application shall be filed with the National Office of the OPA, Washington 25, D. C. Otherwise, the application must be filed with the Regional Office of the OPA located in the same region in which the seller's business is located.

(5) Adjustment of resellers' maximum prices. The maximum prices for sales of products may be adjusted in an order issued under this paragraph (b). This adjustment for resellers will reflect the increases and decreases in the reseller's cost due to the adjustment granted his supplier. However, where it has been customary for resellers of a product to determine their maximum prices by reference to a price list issued by their supplier, the order adjusting the supplier's maximum prices may require resellers to determine their maximum prices by reference to the revised price list issued by the supplier in accordance with the order issued under this paragraph (b). In such case, the supplier must revise his price list in accordance with the order issued under this paragraph (b).

(c) Application under a combination of paragraphs (a) and (b). A seller who desires to apply for an adjustment under paragraph (b) may, at any time, also apply under paragraph (a), if the facts of his case warrant it. In such case, the office considering his application will give the adjustment under pragraph (a) before applying paragraph (b).

(d) Procedural Regulation No. 6 superseded. No application for adjustment filed under Procedural Regulation No. 6 with respect to products or services covered by this regulation, will be granted.

(e) Amendment of general applicability. Where the Price Administrator deems it appropriate, he may grant the necessary relief by issuing an amendment of general applicability.

SEC. 18. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 1 issued by the OPA.

SEC. 19. Adjustable pricing. If the seller wishes, he may agree with the buyer to charge a price that can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery. Where the seller has filed an application for adjustment under section 17 he may, in accordance with the provisions of that section, deliver at a price which will be adjusted upwards in accordance with the action taken by the OPA on his application. In all other cases, unless authorized by the OPA, the seller or lessor must not deliver at a price which is to be adjusted upwards in accordance with action taken by the OPA after delivery. This authorization will be given only where: (a) a request for a change in the applicable price is pending; (b) authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production; and (c) it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the OPA having authority to act upon the pending request for a change in price. The authorization will be given by order.

SEC. 20. Records. Every person subject to the provisions of this regulation is required to keep certain records for inspection by the OPA, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall remain in effect. These records are:

(a) By a manufacturer. Every manufacturer shall keep for inspection by the OPA complete and accurate records of the following:

(1) Records of sales. Complete and accurate records of each sale of a product or service showing:

(i) The date thereof;

(ii) The name and address of the buyer;

(iii) An identification of each product or service sold by reference to either a price list or a production record;

(iv) The quantity of each product or service sold;

(v) The net price; and

(vi) The maximum price and computations showing the method by which it was determined.

(2) Price lists and discount sheets. Published price lists and discount sheets in effect on the base date or published thereafter.

(3) Prices charged. The prices at which he contracted to sell each product or services during the period of six months prior to and including the base date.

(4) Cost estimate sheets. Detailed cost estimate sheets and other data showing the calculation of maximum prices for all products or services for which the manufacturer did not have a list or established price in effect on the base date.

(b) By a reseller. Every reseller shall keep for inspection by the OPA accurate records of the following:

(1) Records of sales. A record of each sale of a product showing:

(i) The date of sale;

(ii) The name and address of the purchaser;

(iii) An identification of each product sold.

(iv) The quantity of each product sold;

(v) The net price received; and

(vi) The maximum price and the method by which it was determined.

(2) Records of purchases. Records of purchases of the kind the reseller has customarily kept.

(3) Price lists. Published price lists and discount sheets in effect on the base date and published thereafter.

(4) Prices charged. The prices at which he contracted to sell each product during the period of six months prior to and including the base date.

(d) By a seller of second-hand products. Every seller of second-hand products shall keep for inspection by the OPA accurate records of each sale of a second-hand product showing:

(1) The name and address of the purchaser;

(2) The date of sale;

(3) An identification of each second-hand product sold.

(4) The quantity of each second-hand product sold;

(5) The net price received; and

(6) The maximum price and the method by which it was determined.

SEC. 21. Reports. On or before November 28, 1945, every person subject to this regulation shall file with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., if he has not already done so, all published price lists and discount sheets he had in effect on the base date, or published thereafter, for the sale of the products or services covered by this regulation.

SEC. 22. Evasion—(a) In general. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase, lease of or relating to commodities or services covered by this regulation, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or service, or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Specific practices. The following are among the specific practices prohibited:

(1) Paying a purchase commission if the sum of the commission and the purchase price exceeds the maximum price.

(2) Requiring a customer to furnish material for processing not in accordance with previous practice.

(3) Entering into a joint venture with any other person subject to this regulation for cross-selling, cross-purchasing or cross-servicing.

(4) Reducing the period of any guaranty or warranty of performance in effect on the base date.

(5) Granting less than a reasonable allowance for commodities or real estate received in trade.

(6) Renting or leasing a new or second-hand product with an option to purchase, when the sum of the rental and the sale price exceeds the maximum price established by this regulation.

SEC. 23. Violation—(a) Civil and criminal action. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(b) Record-keeping and filing violations: failure to establish maximum price. If any person subject to this regulation fails to keep the records or file the reports required by this regulation, or if any person subject to this regulation fails to establish a maximum price or to apply to the OPA for the establishment of a maximum price, if he is required to do so, the OPA may issue an order fixing maximum prices for products or services such person sells. Any maximum price fixed in this manner will be in line with maximum prices established by this regulation. The order fixing the maximum price may apply to all deliveries or transfers for which a maximum price was not established in accordance with the provisions of this regulation. The issuance of such an order will not relieve the seller of his obligation to comply with the requirements of this regulation, or of the various penalties for failure to do so.

(c) License suspension. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1, licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. During the period of suspension, no sale for which the license has been suspended can be made.

SEC. 24. Definitions. (a) When used in this regulation, the term:

(1) "Manufacturer" means a supplier of services subject to this regulation or any of the following:

(i) Any person engaged in one or more operations in the fabrication, processing or assembly of the product being priced, including subcontractors.

(ii) Any person who sells a product which has been produced on his account from materials or parts owned by him.

(iii) Any person who sells a product which has been produced on his account from materials or parts owned by another.

(2) "OPA" means the Office of Price Administration.

(3) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(4) "Product" means any commodity covered by this regulation. Unless otherwise specified, this term means such a commodity in an unused and new condition.

(5) "Purchaser of the same class" and "class of purchaser" means a purchaser belonging to the same price class; that is, a group of purchasers to whom it was the seller's practice on the base date to sell the same product or service at a particular price. If, on the base date, the seller customarily sold, or offered to sell, the same product or service to all other purchasers, that purchaser is in a price class by himself.

If, on the base date, the seller had an established practice of charging the same price to certain customers on the basis of standards, such as the nature of the buyer (manufacturer, distributor, wholesaler, dealer, etc.), or the nature of the sale or lease (large, small, cash, credit, etc.), he must place a new purchaser of the same product or service in the proper price class in accordance with such standards. If the seller had no such standards, he must establish a price for the new purchaser under section 10, in the case of a manufacturer, and section 11, in the case of a reseller. For the purposes of this definition, a "new purchaser" means a purchaser to whom the seller did not sell, or offer to sell, the same type of product or service on the base date.

(6) "Reseller" means a seller who is not a manufacturer.

(7) "Service" means any service covered by this regulation.

(b) Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall apply to other terms used here.

SEC. 25. Delegation of authority. Any Regional Administrator and any District Director, who has been authorized to act by the Regional Administrator having jurisdiction over his district, may adjust maximum prices under section 17 of this regulation.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

This form is applicable only to products for which the manufacturer had a published list price or established price in effect on the base date, or for which OPA has approved a list price after the base date. This form may be adapted to the manufacturer's cost-keeping methods.

If a substantial change in design, specifications, or equipment has been made in any such product and a maximum price has not been previously approved by the Office of Price Administration for the product as modified, you should complete this report and send it in duplicate to the Office of Price Administration, Machinery Branch, Washington 25, D. C. The manufacturer may not receive more than 75% of the proposed price, or the maximum price before modification, whichever is the lower, until it has been approved by the Office of Price Administration or until thirty days have elapsed after the receipt of the report (or any additional information that may be requested) without the Office of Price Administration disapproving the proposed price. Final settlement must be made in accordance with the action taken by the Office of Price Administration on the report.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SCHEDULE B

1. Shop Labor:
Use current labor rates, not in excess of those approved by the National War Labor Board.
2. Subcontracted Services Purchased:
Use current prices, not in excess of your supplier's maximum price.
3. Materials (except purchased parts and subassemblies in item 4):
Use current prices, not in excess of your supplier's maximum price.
4. Purchased Parts and Subassemblies:
See instructions for item 3.
5. Shop Overhead:
Shop overhead charges shall be calculated by applying the lower of the following:
(a) The actual rate or rates in effect in the manufacturer's plant in the month preceding the base date, or
(b) The standard rate or rates, if any, consistently used by the manufacturer for price determining purposes in the month which includes the base date. Appendix A of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136 lists four base dates for the products covered by the regulation. These are October 1, 1941, October 15, 1941, March 31, 1942, and April 1, 1943. The date that must be used in determining the maximum price of any product depends upon the base date listed in Appendix A for that product. Maximum Price Regulation 82 lists the applicable base dates in section 7.
6a and 6b. Other Shop Costs (Specify):

In general, other shop costs may include such shop costs as those for perishable tools dies, molds, patterns, jigs, and workholding devices, provided they have not been included in shop overhead. The prices used shall be the actual prices paid, not in excess of the applicable maximum prices. In general, the manufacturer may include only those other shop costs which he used in determining his selling prices on the base date. These costs shall be amortized in accordance with the manufacturer's base date practice. If the manufacturer customarily uses machine-hour rates in determining shop costs, he may use such rates for the purpose of determining the maximum prices of modified products. However, the same rates must be used in determining the shop costs of the product, both before and after modification. Machine-hour rates used in such calculation must be based on labor or overhead rates which are not in excess of those specified in items 1 and 5 above.
7. Total Factory Cost:
The sum of items 1 to 6b inclusive.

NOTE: The "date the rate or price used was in effect" must be filled in for each of items 1 to 6b inclusive which you report in computing your total decrease or increase in factory cost due to the change in design, specification or equipment.

(2) Whenever the manufacturer is required to use a price which does not exceed his supplier's maximum price, he may rely on his supplier's written certification, if the manufacturer has no reason to doubt the validity of that certification.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SCHEDULE C

To your maximum price to the class of customers to whom you sell at the lowest net price add (or subtract if the modification of the product results in a lower factory cost) the amount shown in item 8 of Schedule B. This determines your maximum "new price after modification" to the class of customers who buy at the lowest net price.

Items sold on a list price basis:
(a) Compute your new maximum list price. Example: Assume the lowest net price after the modification is $150.00 and applies to a jobber receiving a discount of 25 per cent from the list price. The new list price is $150.00 divided by (100 per cent minus 25 per cent) .75. The maximum new list price is, therefore $200.00 in this case.
(b) To your maximum new list price apply your established discounts to determine your maximum net selling prices after the modification to your various other classes of customers. Net selling prices must not exceed your computed new maximum net prices.

Items not sold on a list price basis:
(a) Determine your "new price after modification" to the class of customers who buy at the lowest net price.

(b) To determine the "new price after modification" to any other class of customers multiply the "new price after modification" to that class of customers receiving the lowest net price by the percentage ratio of the corresponding net prices before the modification.
Example: Assume the following:
Jobber's net price before the modification $130.00
Dealer's net price before the modification $147.33
Jobber's net price after the modification $150.00
The dealer's net price after the modification is $147.33 (1/3) divided by $130.00 times $150.00. The dealer's net price after the modification, therefore, is $169.95.

NOTE: Since the maximum new prices may be used only for those products in which the modifications are actually made, manufacturers, in invoicing such modified products, are requested to include in such invoices after the model number or description the notation "revised" or any other explanation properly verifying the modification.

Name of company
Address—Number and street
City, postal zone number, state

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

This form is applicable only to products for which the manufacturer did not have a published list price or an established price in effect on the base date. The term "established price" in effect on the "base date" is defined in Section 28 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136. If the manufacturer publishes or proposes to publish a list price or if he is required in writing by the Office of Price Administration to establish a list price for any such product, he must complete this report and send it in duplicate to the Office of Price Administration, Machinery Branch, Washington 25, D. C. The form may be adapted to the manufacturer's cost-keeping methods.

No more than 75 percent of the proposed price may be received until OPA approves the proposed price or until thirty days have elapsed after receipt of the report (or all additional information that may be requested) without OPA disapproving the proposed price. Final settlement must be made in accordance with the action taken by OPA on the report.

BASE DATES

Appendix A of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136 lists four base dates for the products covered by the regulation. These are October 1, 1941, October 15, 1941, March 31, 1942, and April 1, 1943. The date that must be used in determining the maximum price of any product depends upon the base date listed in Appendix A for that product.

SCHEDULE A—GENERAL

1 Designate and describe product for which list price is proposed:
NOTE: If proposed price and catalog pages are attached which contain the answers to the following, you need not fill in this item.

Brand name	Model No.	Proposed effective date of price list

Type and kind of product

Specifications commonly shown on price pages. (Attach additional sheet or use back of this form if more space is needed.).

2 Describe in detail the price-determining method which you used for similar products on the base date. This should include the overhead rates, the machine hour rates, if any, rates for general administrative and selling expense, profit mark-up, discounts, and other bases of computation which were in use in your plant on the base date, for similar products.
NOTE: If you have already filed your base date price-determining method with OPA, you need not fill in this item.

SCHEDULE B—TERMS OF SALE

NOTE: The manufacturer need not fill in the following information if his proposed prices are net selling prices or if he has attached a price book page(s) which supplies the information asked in this schedule.

1	Trade discounts to be allowed to various classes of purchasers
2	Quantity discounts—specify quantities and discounts
3	Cash discounts—state amount and condition under which granted
4	Terms concerning freight charges
5	Charges for special services
6	Other terms, if any (specify)

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR SCHEDULE C

The manufacturer must use the price-determining method which was in use for similar products in his plant on the base date. This means that he must use the overhead rates, machine hour rates, if any, rates for general administrative and selling expense, profit mark-up, discounts, and other bases of computation which were in use in his plant on the base date.

If the manufacturer had no price-determining method for similar products in use in his plant on the base date, a price-determining method must be established under Section 10 (b) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136.

Whenever the manufacturer is required to use a price which does not exceed his supplier's maximum price, he may rely on his supplier's written certification if the manufacturer had no reason to doubt the validity of that certification.

Specific instructions for Schedule C are on opposite page.

SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS FOR SCHEDULE C

1. Shop Labor:
The manufacturer is required to use the straight-time labor rate that he paid each classification of labor on the base date, and to multiply such rates by the labor time estimated to be required to manufacture the product. The estimate of the number of clock hours required shall be based on previous production experience, if any. If, on the base date, the manufacturer used an average shop labor rate to cover all classifications of labor, he must apply such average rate.
If the manufacturer used machine hour rates on the base date, instead of shop labor rates, he may apply such machine hour rates. If he uses machine hour rates, he must explain the cost-factors which such rates are designed to cover.
2. Subcontracted Services Purchased:
If the manufacturer subcontracts services, he must use the actual prices paid, not in excess of his supplier's maximum prices for such subcontracted services.
3. Materials (Except purchased parts and subassemblies covered by RMPR 136, RPS 82, or MPR's 119, 147, 149 or 523):
In computing estimated costs for these materials the manufacturer is required to multiply the estimated quantity of each material to be used (based on previous production experience, if any) by the lower of the following prices:
1. The price which was or would have been paid by him on the base date.
2. The actual price paid, not in excess of his supplier's price for such material.
If the manufacturer is unable to determine by reasonable diligence the price that he would have paid for the material on the base date, he shall use the actual price paid by him, not in excess of the applicable maximum price.
4. Purchased Parts and Subassemblies (Covered by RMPR 136, RPS 82, or MPR's 119, 147, 149 or 523):
This item applies to purchased parts and subassemblies covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136 and any products covered by Revised Price Schedule 82 (Wire, Cable and Cable Accessories), Maximum Price Regulation 119 (Original Equipment Tires and Tubes), Maximum Price Regulation 147 (Bolts, Nuts, Screws and Rivets), Maximum Price Regulation 149 (Mechanical Rubber Goods), or Maximum Price Regulation 523 (Plastics Products).
The price used for such purchased part or subassembly shall be the price paid, not in excess of the applicable maximum price.
5. Shop Overhead:
Shop overhead charges shall be calculated by using the rate or rates which the manufacturer used in calculating shop overhead on the base date.
6a, b, c, and d. Other Shop Costs:
In general, other shop costs may include such shop costs as those for perishable tools, dies, molds, patterns, jigs, and work-holding devices, provided they have not been included in shop overhead. The prices used shall be the actual prices paid, not in excess of the applicable maximum prices. In general, the manufacturer may include only those other shop costs which he used in determining his selling prices on the base date.
If the other shop costs include engineering and developmental costs, the manufacturer must determine such costs by using the same methods and the same rates, if any, which he used on the base date.
If, on the base date, the manufacturer used machine hour rates in determining prices, he must continue to use such rates.
7. Total Estimated Shop Cost (per unit):
The sum of items 1 to 6d, inclusive.
8. General Administrative and Selling Expenses:
The manufacturer shall calculate general administrative and selling expenses by using the same methods and the same rates that he used on the base date.
9a and 9b:
Items 9a and 9b may be used for the recording of any other price-determining factors which were in use by the manufacturer on the base date. If used they must be explained.
10. Total Estimated Cost (per unit):
The sum of items 7 to 9b, inclusive.
11. Profit Mark-up:
The manufacturer must determine profit-mark-up by using the same methods and the same rates that he used on the base date.
12 and 13:
Use these items for any factors not included above which you used, on the base date, in determining your selling prices. If such other factors are used they must be explained.
14. Overtime Labor:
If the estimated overtime labor exceeds that provided for in the base date overhead or machine hour rate, the premium paid for such overtime may be added in computing maximum list price. However, no mark-up, overhead, or profit shall be applied to that premium.
15. Maximum Discount (if any):
In determining the computed maximum list price the manufacturer shall include the maximum discount rate which he applied on the base date in the sale of similar products to any class of purchaser.
16. Computed Maximum List Price (per unit):
The sum of items 10 to 15, inclusive.
17. Proposed New List Price (per unit):
The proposed new list price must not exceed the computed maximum list price (item 16).

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

This application should be filled out in duplicate. Schedules A and B call for information of a general nature relating to the company as a whole. Schedule C relates to an individual product for which a price increase is requested. In preparing the application please consider that the form is intended to cover a wide variety of products. Therefore, you may find that some of the questions do not apply to your product. Moreover, you may find that some point that is important in your case is not covered in the form. Adapt the form if this can be done or state the information on a separate sheet if that will be clearer. If any difficulty is experienced in completing this form, you may take it to the nearest OPA District Office for assistance in its preparation.
NOTE: A manufacturer should not use this form for a product which has been substantially modified since the base date of the regulation, unless he has first obtained approval of a maximum price under Section 8 of RMPR 136 (or MPR 82, section 9, for wire and cable).
The following facts are furnished to the Office of Price Administration in support of this application.

SCHEDULE A

1	General description of the company's business	4	Explain why you are requesting a price increase. (If more space is needed continue on back of this form.
2	Designate and describe products for which price increase is requested. (If more space is needed continue on back of this form.)	5	If applicant has filed any other application(s) for price adjustment with the Office of Price Administration within the past year give OPA docket number(s) of application(s).
3	If resellers are used in distributing the product(s) to final users, explain fully the method(s) of distribution on the back of this form.		Docket number(s)

SCHEDULE B

IMPORTANT: If you have submitted any of the following information on Office of Price Administration financial report forms A and B for certain periods or have furnished same on a previous application for adjustment of a maximum price, you may omit those periods in your present report. In the case of a subsidiary wholly owned by a parent corporation, the financial data should be submitted for the parent corporation.

1. Submit balance sheets and profit and loss statements for your last fiscal year, your most recent accounting period, and the base date year (1941, 1942, or 1943) established by the regulation for the product(s) for which you are requesting a price increase.
NOTE: Each profit and loss statement must show separately direct labor, direct material, other factory expense, administrative expense, selling expense, and officers' salaries, including the number of officers. In addition, "other factory expense," administrative expense, and selling expense must be further broken down in the manner in which such breakdowns are customarily prepared for your own use.

2. Submit balance sheets and profit and loss statements on OPA Form A, annual financial report, or your own prepared statements for the years 1936–1940. The filing of these data is optional, provided reports are available from the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Should the applicant prefer, this information will be requested by the Office of Price Administration directly from the Bureau of Internal Revenue. If your own prepared statements are presented the profit and loss statement should contain as a minimum the following items: Net sales, cost of goods sold broken down into direct labor, direct materials, other factory expense, administrative expense, selling expense, net operating profit and net profit before taxes.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER PERMITTING JOINT DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 18th day of October A. D., 1945.

Federal Water and Gas Corporation ("Federal"), a registered holding company, and Alabama Water Service Company ("Alabama"), a subsidiary of Federal, have filed a joint declaration with this Commission pursuant to section 12 (f) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, as part of Amendments Nos. 9, 9-A and 9-B in the above captioned proceeding. This declaration is concerned with a proposal by Alabama to sell its water distribution system located in the City of Greensboro, Alabama, and territory contiguous thereto in Hale County, Alabama, for $25,000 in cash, to Greensboro Water Company, a company organized on June 13, 1945, under the laws of Alabama. All of the capital stock of Greensboro Water Company is owned in equal portions by W. E. Matthews III, president of Alabama, and W. C. Christian, an employee of Alabama. This proposed sale by Alabama and the proposed purchase by Greensboro Water Company have been approved by the Alabama Public Service Commission.

Federal and Alabama have requested that this Commission find that the proposed sale is necessary or appropriate to the integration or simplification of the holding company system of which Federal and Alabama are members, and that our order to issue herein conform to the requirements of sections 371 (b), 371 (d), 371 (f) and 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, and contain the recitals and specifications described therein.

Notice of filing of said joint declaration having been given in the form and manner prescribed in Rule U-23 under the act and the Commission not having received a request for hearing with respect to said joint declaration within the time specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; the Commission deeming that no adverse findings herein under the applicable sections of the act and the rules promulgated thereunder are necessary and finding it appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers to permit said joint declaration to become effective; and it appearing that the proposed sale is a step in the consummation by Federal of its program for the divestment of its interests in the business and properties of Alabama and is necessary and appropriate to the integration or simplification of the holding company system of which Federal and Alabama are members and to effectuate the requirements of section 11 (b) of the act;

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of said act and the rules promulgated thereunder and subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 that the aforesaid joint declaration be, and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered and recited, That the sale by Alabama Water Service Company to Greensboro Water Company for $25,000 in cash of the properties specified, itemized and described in a certain document entitled "Specification and Itemization of Properties of Alabama Water Service Company to be Sold" marked Exhibit H-4 to Amendment No. 9-B and filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission as part of the record in this proceeding, which document is hereby incorporated by reference in this order and made a part hereof with the same force and effect as if fully set forth herein, is necessary and appropriate to the integration or simplification of the Federal Water and Gas Corporation holding company system of which Alabama Water Service Company is a member and is necessary and appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935;

It is further ordered, That the sale of said properties be completed within sixty days from the date of this order and that jurisdiction be, and it is hereby, reserved with respect to the application of the proceeds of said sale.

SCRAP DEALERS' INVENTORIES OF LEAD AND TIN SCRAP

The following direction is issued pursuant to PR 32:

(a) Purpose. In view of the continued shortage of secondary tin and lead, this direction restricts deliveries of scrap containing tin or lead to scrap dealers based upon their inventory and previous sales. It also tells how a person who wants to go into the business of being a scrap dealer may get War Production Board permission for an initial inventory to start operations. In addition, there is a restriction on brokers' or dealers' receipts of prepared used tin cans.

(b) Restriction on receipts of scrap. Except as provided in paragraph (g), no person may accept any delivery of scrap (as defined below) unless:

(1) After accepting the delivery his inventory would be one short ton or less (whether or not he is a scrap dealer), or

(2) (i) He is a scrap dealer; and (ii) his inventory of scrap (excluding the amount to be accepted) on the date of such acceptance of delivery is equal to or less than the amount of scrap by weight which he has delivered to others during the preceding 60 days; and (iii) he shall have filed such reports as may from time to time be required by the War Production Board.

(c) Persons not established as scrap dealers. Any person who is not but wishes to become a regular scrap dealer and therefore has no inventory of scrap must apply by letter to the War Production Board for permission to get an initial inventory in excess of one ton. This letter should state how much scrap he needs to start operating as a scrap dealer, the classes of persons he intends to buy from and sell to, and any other information to help the War Production Board decide whether he intends to become a regular scrap dealer.

(d) Prepared used tin cans. Except as provided in paragraph (g) no broker or dealer may accept delivery of any prepared used tin cans if his inventory of prepared used tin cans is or will by virtue of the acceptance become more than 60,000 pounds.

(e) Tinplate scrap and used tin cans under M-325. In addition to the restrictions contained in this direction, Order M-325 imposes additional restrictions on delivery and acceptance of tinplate scrap and used tin cans.

(f) Reports. All scrap dealers having an inventory of tin and lead scrap of 20 short tons or more shall file with the Bureau of Mines, as agent for the War Production Board, Ref: PR-32, on or before the 10th day of each month, on form Bureau of Mines 6-1112M, reports showing tin and lead scrap inventory, purchases, sales and such other information as may be required.

(g) Exceptions. This direction does not prohibit the acceptance of scrap or prepared used tin cans in transit on October 24, 1945. This direction also does not apply to smelters, manufacturers, detinners or other users. Their inventories are controlled by other War Production Board orders and regulations such as M-38, M-43 and Priorities Regulation 32.

(h) Definitions. As used in this direction:

(1) "Scrap" means all materials or objects which are the waste or byproduct of industrial fabrication or which have been discarded on account of obsolescence, failure or other reasons, and which contain lead or tin, or alloys or lead products containing lead or tin, in a form making such scrap suitable for industrial use including smelting. However, the word "scrap" as used in this direction does not include used tin cans or used tinplate crowns, screw caps or similar closures for containers.

(2) "Scrap dealer" means any person regularly engaged in the business of buying and selling scrap, which includes the functions of baling, sorting, pressing, shearing or otherwise preparing scrap for resale to users.

(3) "User" means any person, other than a scrap dealer, who consumes scrap in his operations, including melters and smelters.

(4) "Used tin can" means any used container made in whole or in part of tinplate which is not to be reused for packing a product.

(5) "Prepared used tin can" means a used tin can which has been thoroughly cleaned so as to remove all organic matter (including paper labels), the ends removed or sufficiently loosened to be folded within the container, and the sides flattened.

(i) Communications. All communications concerning this direction, including any appeals, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the War Production Board, Tin, Lead and Zinc Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref.: PR-32, Direction 5.

(j) Applicability of Priorities Regulation 32. All provisions of Priorities Regulation 32 apply to the materials covered by this direction except to the extent this direction gives different rules.

Issued this 24th day of October 1945.

ARTICLE I—SCOPE OF THIS REGULATION

SECTION 1. Articles covered. This regulation covers sales of new household mechanical refrigerators manufactured on or after July 1, 1945.

SEC. 2. Persons and transactions covered. This regulation covers all sales and deliveries by any person of household mechanical refrigerators manufactured on or after July 1, 1945.

SEC. 3. Definitions. As used in this regulation:

(a) "Refrigerator" means any new household mechanical refrigerator of the type commonly used in the home which operates either by compression or by absorption and which has a food storage capacity of 16 cubic feet or less.

(b) "Manufacturer" means any person operating a plant or factory which manufactures or assembles refrigerators, or a person who regularly sells private brand refrigerators to distributors, or a person who sells to purchasers for resale private brand refrigerators, patterns or dies for which he owns or controls.

(c) "Distributor" means any person who is not a "manufacturer" and who in the course of trade or business buys completed refrigerators for resale to persons other than ultimate consumers.

(d) "Dealer" means a person who buys completed refrigerators and resells them to ultimate consumers.

(e) "Ultimate consumer" means a person who purchases a refrigerator for his own use.

(f) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, or any other organized group; their legal successors or representatives.

(g) "Class of purchaser" means any purchaser or group of purchasers to whom the seller had an established practice during the period October 1–15, 1941 of selling the same type of article at prices different from those charged other purchasers, or groups of purchasers. A class of purchaser may be a single purchaser or a kind of purchaser (for example, an exclusive distributor, mail order establishments, department stores, etc.) or purchasers located in a particular area (for example, a distributor in the New England States, etc.) or purchasers who buy in particular quantities (for example, dealers who buy in quantities of 5 or more) or purchasers who buy under particular conditions of sale (for example, 2% cash discount for payment within 10 days, net 30 days, long term credit, sales on a delivered basis, etc.).

Any purchaser, kind of purchaser or purchaser on certain terms or conditions of sale which the industry has generally recognized as constituting a separate class of purchaser, and for sales to which the seller does not have a ceiling price established by or under this regulation is a new class of purchaser for that seller. A manufacturer's ceiling prices for sales to a new class of purchaser must be established under Section 10 of this regulation.

ARTICLE II—MANUFACTURERS' CEILING PRICES

SEC. 4. Models which had ceiling prices on March 30, 1942—(a) Determination of ceiling prices. Unless an order issued under this regulation provides otherwise, a manufacturer's ceiling price for each model refrigerator is the price in effect to each class of purchaser on March 30, 1942. If, on that date, on any particular model, the manufacturer had a price in effect for sales to one or more classes of purchasers, but not for sales to others, then the ceiling price to the class of purchaser for whom the manufacturer had no price for that model shall be the price calculated by applying to his ceiling price to any class of purchaser for that model, the differential between the two classes which the manufacturer had in effect October 1–15, 1941.

(b) Reports of ceiling prices determined under this section. Every manufacturer for whom a ceiling price is fixed by this section must send to the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., on or before November 10, 1945, a written report which states the model designation of each model so priced, the ceiling prices fixed for sales of this model, and the class of purchaser to whom each ceiling price applies.

SEC. 5. Repricing by special order. Refrigerators are a reconversion product for which adjustments in ceiling prices are found by the Administrator to be warranted in accordance with the reconversion pricing policy embodied in Amendment 67 to Maximum Price Regulation 188 and approved for industries not subject to Maximum Price Regulation 188 by Directive 78 issued by the Office of Economic Stabilization. Accordingly, orders may be issued under this section, adjusting ceiling prices established by section 4, to reflect legal increases (over 1941 factory costs) in the manufacturer's material prices and basic wage rate schedules of factory workers since October 1, 1941, together with a profit factor as determined by this Office equal to his own average net profit margin (before income taxes) for the period 1936–1939, or one-half the average industry profit margin for that period, whichever is higher. In determining the amount of any adjustment here authorized, the Office of Price Administration will act on the basis of the cost information called for on OPA Form 663–2445, calculated in accordance with the accompanying instructions.

Adjustments may be made under this section for manufacturers eligible to apply for an adjustment under Supplementary Order No. 119. Applications filed after November 10, 1945 will not be considered under this section but will be processed and adjustments granted in accordance with the terms of Supplementary Order No. 119.

SEC. 6. New or changed models involving minor changes. (a) A manufacturer's ceiling prices for any model of refrigerator he produces which does not differ by more than a "minor change" from another model for which he has established ceiling prices are the ceiling prices of the model already priced. Any change which reduces the quality, efficiency, convenience, or safety of operation of the refrigerator being changed is not a "minor change".

(b) For the purpose of this regulation only the following changes are minor changes:

(1) Cabinet frame and panels, not including the door:

(i) Changes in the gauge of sheet metal or modifications in the design of castings provided that the total net change does not amount to more than three pounds.

(ii) Changes in breaker strip or moulding materials except that the substitution of black strips or moulding for lighter colored materials is not a minor change.

(iii) Changes in insulation materials.

(iv) Changes in finish except that substitution of synthetic enamel for porcelain enamel and reduction of the number of coats are not minor changes.

(2) Cabinet equipment and accessories:

(i) Changes in the location, material, or finish of evaporators except that the omission or addition of an evaporator door and any change that reduces or increases the cubic capacity of the cabinet more than 10% are not minor changes.

(ii) Changes in shelf finish.

(iii) Changes in shelf arrangement which do not reduce or increase the total shelf area by more than 10%. Interchanging sliding and non-sliding shelves is not a minor change.

(iv) Changes in material for ice trays, except that any change which alters the tray capacity is not a minor change.

(v) Changes in design or location of defrost trays, meat keepers, hydrators and bins except that any change that alters the capacity of any of these items by more than 10% is not a minor change.

(3) Cabinet door and fittings:

(i) Changes in material, design, or location of nameplates.

(ii) Changes in material or location of hardware except that changes in the cost of the hardware exceeding 25 cents are not minor changes.

(iii) Changes in gasket design or material.

(4) Electric wiring and switches:

(i) Changes in electric wiring, light and switches except that the elimination of any light or switch is not a minor change.

(5) Machine parts and controls:

(i) Changes in the location of the motor compressor, burner, tubing, restrictor, condenser, control or relay.

(ii) Changes in the kind of refrigerant used.

(c) A manufacturer who makes a minor change in any model of refrigerator shall keep available for the inspection of the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act, as amended, remains in effect, a record of every such minor change, showing the model designation of the model being changed and a description of the minor changes being made.

SEC. 7. New or changed models involving a change, not a minor change—(a) Pricing formula. A manufacturer who cannot find his ceiling price for a new or changed model under section 4 or 6 or under any order issued under this regulation, but who has a ceiling price established for a comparable model, shall determine his ceiling price for the new or changed model according to the following formula:

(1) He shall find the model of refrigerator for which he has a ceiling price which is comparable to the model being priced. The "comparable" model is the one which is most like the refrigerator being priced in design, construction, and operation, which is closest to it in unit direct cost, and which is distributed through similar trade channels. If a refrigerator on which minor changes have been made is subsequently used as the comparable model in pricing a new or changed model, the cost of the comparable model shall be computed on the basis of the cost to make the refrigerator without the minor changes.

(2) He shall find the current unit direct cost of the comparable model. Current unit direct cost means the cost of direct materials and direct labor computed on the basis of (i) his normal production volume and his normal material prices practices; (ii) current material prices paid not to exceed ceiling prices; (iii) wage rates in effect at the time the report is prepared; (iv) labor efficiency and material waste allowances determined at the time of or just prior to the preparation of the report. For the purpose of this section, direct material and direct labor do not include any items of factory expense or burden, pattern and tool and die costs, production engineering, warehousing and shipping expense, royalties, and items of selling, general and administrative expense. If he is not producing the comparable model, he must, nevertheless, compute the current direct cost on the basis described above.

(3) He shall find the direct cost of the model being priced on the same basis as described in subparagraph (2) in a manner consistent with the computation of the current unit direct cost of the comparable model.

(4) He shall find his mark-up factor by dividing the ceiling price of the comparable model by its unit direct cost. He must use his ceiling price to the class of purchaser (distributors, dealers, mail order houses, etc.) who buys from him in the greatest volume.

(5) He shall multiply the unit direct cost of the model being priced by that mark-up factor. The result in his ceiling price to the class of purchaser used in subparagraph (4). His ceiling prices to any other class of purchaser for the model being priced must be calculated on the basis of the percentage differential which he had in effect during the period October 1–15, 1941 for sales to that class of purchaser.

(b) Reporting and waiting provisions. (1) If a manufacturer uses this section to find his ceiling price, he may not without special authorization sell, offer to sell, or deliver the refrigerator until his ceiling price has been approved by the Office of Price Administration. To receive that approval a manufacturer must comply with the reporting and waiting provisions which are stated below.

(2) The manufacturer must report the price which he has arrived at under this section on OPA Form 6067–2620 provided for that purpose giving all the information called for by that form, or if he cannot do so, an explanation of the reasons he cannot. These forms may be obtained by him from the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and his report must be filed there. With the form he must include an illustration and specifications of both the new and comparable models. If he receives a written acknowledgment and approval of his report, he may proceed at once to sell the refrigerator at the reported price. Fifteen days after mailing the report (or all additional information which may have been requested), in the absence of a contrary direction from the Office of Price Administration, he may treat his reported price as his ceiling price.

The manufacturer may not, however, unless he is specifically authorized to do so, deliver any article priced under this section until he has ascertained the retail ceiling prices for the article and has complied with the tagging requirements of section 17.

SEC. 8. Downward adjustment of certain prices established or reported. Prices established or reported under sections 6 or 7 are subject to reduction at any time by written order of the Office of Price Administration if (1) the price appears to be out of line with prices established for similar models taking into account the manufacturer's relationships with other manufacturers during the base period, or (2) the price is too high in comparison with the manufacturing or selling conditions actually experienced, or (3) the price is found to be incorrect under the provisions of the applicable pricing method. Any reduction under this section will not be retroactive.

SEC. 9. Ceiling prices fixed by special order. If a manufacturer cannot apply the formula in section 7 because he has no comparable model, then his ceiling price for sales to a particular class of purchaser is the price specifically authorized by the Office of Price Administration for such sale, in line with the level of ceiling prices fixed by this regulation. Applications for the establishment of such prices must be made in writing to the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. The manufacturer may not except in the case of sales to the U. S. or Allied Governments (see section 18 below), sell, offer to sell, or deliver a refrigerator for which a ceiling price must be fixed under this section prior to specific authorization by the Office of Price Administration.

Applications under this section shall contain a detailed breakdown of the unit direct costs of the new model (computed in the manner set forth in section 7 (a) (2)), a list of the major specifications of that model, a photograph or other illustration of that model, and the manufacturer's proposed ceiling prices for sales to each class of purchaser.

SEC. 10. Ceiling prices for sales to new classes of purchasers. If a manufacturer cannot find his ceiling price for sales to a particular class of purchaser under any of the preceding sections of this regulation, or under any order issued under this regulation, he shall apply for the establishment of ceiling prices or a method of determining his ceiling prices for sales to that class of purchaser. The application shall be made by letter to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, 25, D. C., and shall indicate the classes of purchasers for sales to whom prices are to be fixed.

In addition, the application shall set forth the manufacturer's proposed ceiling prices for those sales. An order will be issued under this section establishing ceiling prices or a method of determining ceiling prices in line with the level of ceiling prices fixed by this regulation.

SEC. 11. Establishment of ceiling prices in certain cases. If a manufacturer is required by this regulation to file a report under section 7 or to apply for the establishment of a ceiling price under Section 9 or 10, and he fails to do so, or he fails to provide any of the information required in these sections, the Office of Price Administration may, on its own motion, issue orders under this section fixing ceiling prices for the manufacturer's sales in line with the level of ceiling prices established by this regulation. Ceiling prices so established will be effective as of the date of the first sale.

SEC. 12. Reports, catalogs and price lists. (a) Every manufacturer of articles covered by this regulation must notify the Office of Price Administration whenever he changes the model designation of any refrigerator in his line, and whenever he adds a new model to his line. This report may be made by letter and must give the model designation of both the model changed and the new model. This report must be mailed within three days after the change or addition is made. The reporting requirements of this subsection are in addition to, and do not supersede, the reporting requirements of section 4 of this regulation.

(b) Every manufacturer must file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., a copy of every catalog and price list for refrigerators issued by him or in effect on or after March 30, 1942. In addition, every manufacturer must file a copy of every notification he issues to the trade after the effective date of this regulation concerning new prices, changes in prices, or changes in terms, discounts or allowances.

Copies of these notifications must be filed within 10 days after they have been issued to the trade.

ARTICLE III—CEILING PRICES FOR RESALES BY DISTRIBUTORS AND DEALERS

SEC. 13. Establishment of resale prices for distributors by order. Whenever the manufacturer's ceiling prices for a refrigerator have been determined under this regulation, an order may be issued fixing ceiling prices, or a method of determining ceiling prices for sales of the refrigerator by distributors. Distributors' ceiling prices established by an order under this section supersede any ceiling prices established under any other provision of this regulation for those sales.

SEC. 14. Distributors' ceiling prices. Unless the distributor's ceiling price for sales of a particular model of refrigerator to a particular class of purchaser has been established by an order issued under section 13, he shall determine his ceiling price under the first applicable rule of the following:

Rule 1. If the distributor quoted the identical model (or a model differing from it by minor changes only and priced under section 6) to the same class of purchaser at any time between March 30, 1942 and June 30, 1945, inclusive, he finds his ceiling price for such a sale as follows:

(a) He first ascertains his ceiling price fixed for that sale by Maximum Price Regulation No. 110, less any warehousing allowance included in it under § 1380.110 (b) (2) of that regulation.

(b) He then multiplies that figure by .987.

(c) The result is his ceiling price for that sale under this regulation.

Rule 2. If the distributor quoted the identical model (or a model differing from it by minor changes only and priced under section 6) between March 30, 1942 and June 30, 1945, inclusive, but cannot use Rule 1 because he did not quote a price for sales of that model to that particular class of purchaser, then his ceiling price for that sale is his ceiling price to any other class of purchaser as determined under Rule 1 adjusted to reflect his differential in effect during the period October 1–15, 1941 on sales to that particular class of purchaser.

Rule 3. If a distributor cannot use Rules 1 or 2, his ceiling price for a sale of a particular model to a particular class of purchaser is the ceiling price established under Rules 1 or 2 for such a sale by his "most closely competitive seller of the same class." A distributor's "most closely competitive seller of the same class" is a distributor who (a) is selling the identical model of refrigerator to the same class of purchaser, and (b) is located nearest to the seller.

Rule 4. If a distributor cannot otherwise find his ceiling price for a particular sale, his ceiling price for that sale is the price established by the Office of Price Administration in an order under this section. An application under this rule shall state the name of the manufacturer of the refrigerator being priced, its model designation, the classes of purchasers to whom the applicant proposes to sell the refrigerator, the ceiling prices he proposes for such sales, and a statement of the reasons why he cannot use the other Rules in this section to fix his ceiling prices. Until ceiling prices are fixed for his sales by an order under this section, a distributor whose ceiling prices must be fixed under this rule may not make sales or deliveries of any model covered by his application.

SEC. 15. Dealers' ceiling prices—(a) Prices set forth in section 24, Appendix A. A dealer's ceiling price for sales of a particular model of refrigerator is the applicable price set forth in section 24, Appendix A.

(b) Credit charges.. (1) Dealers who during the period October 1–15, 1941 collected a separately stated additional charge for the extension of credit on sales of refrigerators, may collect a charge for the extension of credit under this regulation, not exceeding such charge during the period October 1–15, 1941 on a similar sale on similar terms to the same class of purchaser. Dealers who did not so state and collect an additional charge, may collect a charge for the extension of credit only on installment plan sales; and the charge shall not exceed the separately stated additional charge for the extension of credit on a similar sale on similar terms to the same class of purchaser during the period October 1–15, 1941, by the dealer's closest competitor who made a separately stated charge.

An installment-plan sale as used in the above paragraph means a sale where the unpaid balance is to be paid in installments over a period of either (i) six weeks or more from the date of sale in the case of weekly installments, or (ii) eight weeks or more in the case of other than weekly installments.

(2) All charges for the extension of credit shall be quoted and stated separately. Any charge which is not quoted and stated separately or which otherwise does not conform to this subsection, shall, for the purposes of this regulation, be considered to be part of the price charged for the refrigerator sold.

(3) No dealer may require as a condition of sale that the consumer must buy on credit.

ARTICLE IV—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 16. Sales invoices. Every manufacturer, distributor, and dealer who sells a refrigerator after October 22, 1945, shall furnish every purchaser with an invoice showing the date of sale, the name and address of both the buyer and seller, the model number of each refrigerator he sold, the price charged, the quantity of each model sold, the terms of sale, and the nature and amount of any additional charges. Every seller must keep a copy of every sales invoice available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

SEC. 17. Tagging. (a) No person may sell at retail any refrigerator covered by this regulation unless there is attached to the refrigerator a label containing the OPA retail ceiling price for sales of the refrigerator by the seller.

(b) On and after November 7, 1945, no manufacturer may ship any refrigerator covered by this regulation to a distributor or dealer unless there is attached to the inside panel of the refrigerator door a label containing the OPA retail ceiling price of the refrigerator, a description of the area in which that price is applicable, the brand name and model designation of the refrigerator, a statement that the price includes delivery, five-year warranty, federal excise tax and installation to facilities provided by the consumer and a statement that the label may not be removed until after the refrigerator is delivered to the ultimate consumer.

SEC. 18. Sales to the United States and Allied Governments. (a) The ceiling price for sales to any agency of the United States Government or to any Allied Government by any seller other than a manufacturer of any refrigerator covered by this regulation shall be the seller's lowest ceiling price for sales of the refrigerator.

(b) A manufacturer may sell and deliver, and tentatively collect a price for, any refrigerator which is sold by him directly to any agency of the United States Government or to any Allied Government prior to the establishment of a ceiling price for sales by the manufacturer to that class of purchaser. The manufacturer must, however, inform the buyer that the ceiling price is still to be established under this regulation, and he must refund any amount collected which is in excess of the ceiling price approved or established by the Office of Price Administration. Within ten days after the manufacturer has entered into a contract for such a sale, he must file a report or an application as provided in sections 7, 9, or 10, whichever is applicable.

SEC. 19. Terms of sale. Unless this regulation or an order issued under it provides otherwise each ceiling price established by or under this regulation is subject to each seller's terms, allowances, discounts and price differentials no less favorable than those he had in effect for similar sales during the period October 1–15, 1941.

SEC. 20. Relation of this regulation to other price regulations. (a) The provisions of Revised Price Schedule 102 and Maximum Price Regulation No. 110 do not apply to sales and deliveries covered by this regulation except that all records which sellers were required to retain under those regulations must be kept and made available by them for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

(b) The ceiling price at which any article covered by this regulation may be exported by any person shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.

SEC. 21. Modification of provisions of this regulation. The provisions of this regulation as applied to classes of commodities or persons subject thereto may be modified by orders of general applicability issued under this section.

Orders may also be issued under this section, at the request of a manufacturer, altering his zoning practices and prices, and those of his distributors accordingly, when it appears that no increase in the general level of prices for refrigerators will result.

SEC. 22. Compliance with the regulation—(a) No buying or selling at over ceiling prices. Regardless of any contract or other obligation no person shall sell, offer to sell, or deliver, and in the course of trade or business, no person shall purchase or accept delivery of any refrigerator covered by this regulation at a price higher than the ceiling price fixed by this regulation, or before the manufacturer has properly determined his ceiling price under this regulation.

If, in violation of this provision, a sale, offer to sell, or delivery of a refrigerator covered by this regulation is made before its ceiling price has been properly established in accordance with this regulation, the ceiling price applicable to the sale, offer to sell or delivery, shall be the correct ceiling price for the refrigerator properly determined in accordance with this regulation.

(b) Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings, and suits for treble damages provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(c) Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1 licensing all persons who make sales under price control are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

(d) Certain practices forbidden. Any practice which has the effect of getting a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the dollar and cents price is hereby forbidden.

The following is an illustrative list of the things a seller is not permitted to do. A seller is not permitted to require the purchaser, as a condition of the sale or transfer of the new refrigerator, to make payment over a period of time; to require him to finance the purchase through any particular lending agency; to require him to purchase any equipment, accessories, repairs, parts, or services so as to increase the total compensation above the new refrigerator maximum price; to require him to purchase any other commodity or service; or to require him to make payment in whole or in part by exchanging, transferring or trading in any other product or commodity. Where there is an exchange, transfer, or trade-in in connection with a sale, it is a violation for the seller to give the purchaser an allowance for the product or commodity exchanged, transferred, or traded in which is less than its reasonable value.

Furthermore, the seller is prohibited from providing for the purchase of the new refrigerator by a lessee under a retail contract at an agreed valuation which together with the amount paid for the rental is higher than the applicable maximum price at the time the rental contract is entered into, and from making the terms and conditions of sale more onerous to purchasers than they customarily have been except to the extent allowed by this regulation.

It shall also be a violation for any person to charge, pay or receive a finder's fee or other compensation in connection with the procurement of a new refrigerator where the finder's fee or other compensation plus the purchase price for the new refrigerator exceeds the permitted maximum price, except that this prohibition shall not apply to the case of a bona fide employer-employee relationship between a seller generally engaged in the business of selling new refrigerators and an employee of the type of employee generally considered by the trade to be a new refrigerator salesman.

SEC. 23. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this regulation shall be applicable to the 48 States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 24. Appendix A: Ceiling prices for dealers' sales of refrigerators. The ceiling prices for sales by dealers of the refrigerator models listed below are the applicable prices listed in this appendix.

These prices include:

(1) Delivery.

(2) The five-year warranty.

(3) The Federal Excise Tax.

(4) In the case of an electric refrigerator, installation to electric facilities provided by the consumer, or, in the case of a gas refrigerator, installation to gas facilities provided by the consumer if the installation does not require the dealer to provide more than five feet of pipe or tubing.

They do not include state or local taxes imposed at the point of sale. No charge may be added for the extension of credit by the dealer to the ceiling prices in this appendix except in accordance with paragraph (b) of section 15 of this regulation.

The zones shown in the table vary from brand to brand.

Zone boundaries, where more than one zone price is listed, are those shown on maps on file with the Office of Price Administration.

This regulation shall become effective on October 22, 1945.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 22d day of October 1945.

Administrator.

PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PACKED FRUITS, BERRIES AND VEGETABLES (1945 AND LATER PACKS)

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Supplement 13 to Food Products Regulation No. 1 is amended in the following respects:

1. The second undesignated paragraph in section 4 (b) is amended to read as follows:

For sales to government procurement agencies, the processor figures his maximum price by taking 96% of his maximum price for sales to purchasers other than government procurement agencies, after it has been increased, in the case of subsidized commodities, by the amount of the direct subsidy payable per unit of the finished product.

2. In section 5 (a), the undesignated paragraph immediately preceding subparagraph (1) is amended to read as follows:

The processor who performs the wholesale function with respect to the item being priced (that is, by warehousing and selling it in less-than-carload quantities, from a branch warehouse owned or controlled by him, to retailers or to commercial, industrial or institutional users) shall, in each case, figure his maximum price for sales in this manner under the general pricing methods of this paragraph (a). However, in determining his base price, he shall include only sales made in this manner in the base period. Furthermore, in each case before applying the limitations of the price range, he shall adjust the applicable price range by adding to the top and bottom prices the freight, if any, incurred from factory to branch warehouse and multiplying each of the resulting figures by the markup named in Maximum Price Regulation No. 421[3] for cash-and-carry wholesalers or for service wholesalers, depending on whether delivery is made in the particular sale to the buyer's place of business.

The processor who qualifies as a retailer under Maximum Price Regulation No. 422[4] or 423[4] shall not use the pricing methods of this section, but he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for authorization of a maximum price under section 10 (c).

3. The last sentence in the first paragraph of section 5 (a) (1) (i) is amended to read as follows: "However, the following sales contracts shall be excluded, even when made during the base period: Sales to the armed forces of the United States; sales by a processor to his employees, to growers who supplied the raw material, or to other processors of the product unless at least 33⅓ percent of his 1941 pack of the product was sold to other processors, all regardless of brand; sales of damaged goods or of goods packed for experimental purposes; and sales to retailers or institutional users in quantities of less than 25 cases (basis No. 2 cans for vegetables and basis No. 2½ cans for fruit) unless at least 10% of the processor's 1940 or 1941 pack of the product was sold in such lesser quantities."

4. In section 5 (a) (2) the following paragraph is added immediately following item 8 of the list of the order in which steps are to be taken:

When pricing substandard grade of any item under subparagraph (2) or (4), the conversion for grade ordinarily made under step 3, above, must be taken immediately following step 4 and before step 5, since no price ranges are provided for substandard grade.

5. In section 5 (a) (4), First situation, the text of subdivision (iii) is amended to read as follows:

(iii) Next, the processor shall convert the price so figured for the selected item (for variety, style, sieve size, syrup differential, and grade, in the order named) as may be necessary to arrive at a gross maximum price (except for container size) for the item being priced, by applying the conversion factors named in the applicable appendix, and by applying to the resulting figure the limitations of the applicable price range. The price so figured shall then be converted for container type and size to a gross maximum price for the item being priced by applying the conversion factors named in the applicable appendix.

6. In section 5 (a) (4), Second situation, the text of subdivision (iii) is amended to read as follows:

(iii) Next, the processor shall convert the price so figured for the selected item (for variety, style, sieve size, syrup differential, and grade, in the order named) as may be necessary to arrive at a gross maximum price (except for container size) for the item being priced, by applying the conversion factors named in the applicable appendix, and by applying to the resulting figure the limitations of the applicable price range. The price so figured shall then be converted for container type and size to a gross maximum price for the item being priced by applying the conversion factors named in the applicable appendix.

7. In section 6 the note immediately following the first undesignated paragraph and immediately preceding the list of products is deleted.

8. The list of products in the text of section 6 preceding paragraph (a) is amended in the following respects:

JAMES G. ROGERS, Jr.,

Approved: October 11, 1945.

CLINTON P. ANDERSON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250, 9328, 9599 and 9620, I find that the issuance of this amendment, insofar as it establishes maximum prices for packed pears based on the raw material prices specified herein, is necessary to aid in the effective prosecution of the war.

PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PACKED FRUITS, BERRIES AND VEGETABLES (1945 AND LATER PACKS)

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Supplement 13 to Food Products Regulation No. 1 is amended in the following respects:

1. In section 5 (a) (2) the first undesignated paragraph is amended to read as follows:

As a general rule, in figuring maximum prices under subparagraph (2), (3), or (4), steps are to be taken separately in the following order (in many cases not all of the steps are necessary). Any variation from this order will be explained in the applicable appendix.

2. In section 15, Appendix D is amended in the following respects:

a. Paragraph (d) of the "Explanation" is amended to read as follows:

(d) Conversions for style of pack, grade and sieve size. In each case of conversion from one style of pack (whole or cut but not asparagus (horizontal or vertical) or French style), grade, and sieve size (including ungraded), to another style of pack, grade and sieve size (including ungraded), conversion for any two of these factors, conversion only from one sieve size to another sieve size of the same style of pack and grade, or conversion only from one style of pack to another style of pack of the same sieve size and grade, the processor shall figure the conversion (in one step) by taking the difference between the specific dollars-and-cents maximum prices named in Table 4 for the two items and either adding it to or subtracting it from the constructed base price as the situation requires, depending on whether the dollars-and-cents price named in Table 4 for the item being priced is higher or lower than that for an item (of the same sieve size and grade) from or to which the conversion is being made. If the conversion is for grade only, the conversion shall be figured under Table 8. For example, the Y Company, whose factory is located in Area 1, sold only No. 8 sieve Fancy whole snap beans in No. 2 cans during the base period, and is now pricing No. 4 sieve Extra Standard cut snap beans in No. 2 cans. To figure the conversion for style of pack, grade, and sieve size the company takes the difference between the dollars-and-cents prices named in Table 4 for the two items ($1.56 minus $1.27 equals $0.29). Because the company is pricing an item with a lower dollars-and-cents price than that named for the item (of same grade and sieve size) from which the conversion is being made the $0.29 differential is subtracted from its constructed base price in making the conversion for style of pack, grade, and sieve size.

b. Paragraph (e) of the "Explanation" is revoked.

c. Table 7 is revoked.

This amendment shall become effective October 23, 1945.

CHESTER BOWLES,
Administrator.

Approved: October 18, 1945.

TITLE 46—SHIPPING

Chapter I—Coast Guard: Inspection and Navigation

AMENDMENTS TO REGULATIONS

By virtue of the authority vested in me by R. S. 4405, 40 Stat. 602 and 54 Stat. 163–167 (46 U.S.C. 375, 288, and 526–526t), and Executive Order 9083, dated February 28, 1942 (3 CER, Cum. Supp.), the following amendments to the regulations are prescribed:

Subchapter C—Motorboats and Certain Vessels Propelled by Machinery Other Than by Steam More Than 65 Feet in Length

PART 27—REQUIREMENTS FOR MOTORBOATS AND MOTOR VESSELS OF MORE THAN 15 GROSS TONS CARRYING PASSENGERS FOR HIRE

FIRE EXTINGUISHING EQUIPMENT

Section 27.3-3 Machinery spaces is amended by changing the section heading to read as follows:

§ 27.3-3 Machinery spaces and tank spaces. • • •

Section 27.3-3 (c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 27.3-3 Machinery spaces and tank spaces. • • •

(c) All vessels using fuel having a flash point of 110° F. and lower and all vessels of more than 300 gross tons regardless of the flash point of the fuel used shall be fitted with an approved carbon dioxide fixed system in the machinery space. In addition all vessels using a fuel having a flash point of 110° F. and lower shall be fitted with an approved carbon dioxide fixed system in the fuel tank space.

The center heading over § 27.4-1 "Carburetor Backfire Flame Arrestor" is deleted and the following is substituted therefor:

INSTALLATION REQUIREMENTS FOR VESSELS USING LIQUID FUELS STORED AT ATMOSPHERIC PRESSURE AND TEMPERATURE AND HAVING FLASH POINTS OF 110° F. OR LOWER

Section 27.4-1 Where required is deleted and new §§ 27.4-1 to 27.4-4 inclusive are substituted therefor, reading as follows:

§ 27.4-1 Machinery and exhaust pipe. All installations shall be of marine type engines designed for rugged service. The following requirements shall govern all installations and be effective on new vessels or vessels converted to passenger service for the first time, construction of which is commenced on or after December 1, 1945, and to all existing vessels in so far as practicable:

(a) Drip collectors under carburetors. All carburetors, except the down draft type, shall have integral therewith or properly connected thereto, a drip collector of adequate capacity which shall be so arranged as to permit ready removal of fuel leakage and to prevent such leakage from reaching the bilge. Drip collectors shall be covered with flame screens.

(b) Backfire flame arrestors. All carburetors of every engine installed on all motorboats and motor vessels after April 25, 1940, shall be fitted with approved backfire flame arrestors and air intakes shall be so directed that backfire cannot blow down into the bilge.

(c) Exhaust manifold. The exhaust manifold shall either be water jacketed and cooled by discharge from a pump which operates whenever the engine is running or woodwork within 9 inches shall be protected by ⅛ inch asbestos board covered with not less than #22 USSG galvanized sheet iron or non-ferrous metal. A dead air space of ¼ inch shall be left between the protecting asbestos and the wood, and a clearance of not less than 2 inches maintained between the manifold and the surface of such protection.

(d) Exhaust pipe. The exhaust pipe shall be gas tight and the installation shall comply with one of the following requirements:

(1) All of the engine cooling water shall be discharged through the exhaust pipe and this water shall enter the exhaust pipe at a point as near to the manifold as practicable.

(2) A length of not less than 12 diameters of the exhaust pipe adjacent to the manifold shall be water jacketed and cooled in the same manner as the manifold. The remainder of the pipe shall be kept clear of internal woodwork at least 1½ inches.

(3) Woodwork within 6 inches of any part of the exhaust pipe shall be protected by ⅛ inch asbestos board covered with not less than #22 USSG galvanized sheet iron or non-ferrous metal. A dead air space of ¼ inch shall be left between the protecting asbestos and the wood, and a clearance of not less than ½ of its diameter shall be maintained between the pipe and the surface of such protection.

In all of the above cases the exhaust pipe shall be properly supported by noncombustible hangers or blocks and protective gratings shall be provided at such locations where persons or gear might come in contact therewith. Arrangements shall be made to provide access to the exhaust pipe throughout its length.

(e) Exhaust pipe bends, packing at bulkheads. Where exhaust lines pass through watertight bulkheads, non-combustible packings shall be installed. Exhaust piping shall be led to the point of escape without traps and with a minimum number of bends and elbows. 90° elbows or bends of less than 5 diameters radius are not permitted.

(f) Flexible exhaust pipe. Where flexibility is desirable a section of flexible metallic hose, or suitably reinforced rubber pipe, may be used in the exhaust line.

§ 27.4-2 Fuel tanks and piping. The following requirements shall govern all fuel tank and piping installations and be effective on new vessels or vessels converted to passenger service for the first time, construction of which is commenced on or after December 1, 1945, and to all existing vessels in so far as practicable:

(a) Fuel tanks, location. Fuel tanks shall be located in watertight compartments separate from but adjacent to the engine room, and accessible for exterior examination. The fuel tank installation shall be such that the tank or tanks may be lifted for periodic examinations.

(b) Portable fuel tanks. Portable fuel tanks are not permitted.

(c) Construction of fuel tanks. Construction of fuel tanks shall comply with the following:

(1) Materials shall consist of copper of thickness not less than #18 USSG or of iron or steel of thickness not less than #14 USSG. Non-corrosive alloys or other non-ferrous metals may be used subject to approval. Steel or iron tanks shall be galvanized both inside and outside by the hot dipped process after completion.

(2) Seams of fuel tanks shall be riveted, welded, or brazed, except that rolled and soldered joints may be used on small tanks of 20 gallons or less capacity provided the solder has a melting point of not less than 450° F.

(3) Tanks shall be designed with a factor of safety of not less than 4 based on the test head. Tanks shall be tested by static head above tank top of 10 feet of water without showing leakage or permanent deformation.

(4) Swash plates of the same material as the tank shall be fitted where necessary.

(5) Gauge glasses or try cocks are prohibited.

(d) Outlets and drains. Outlets in fuel lines for drawing loose gasoline for any purpose are prohibited. Drains or any openings in the bottom of fuel tanks are prohibited.

(e) Connections at tank, fuel suctions. All outlets shall pass through the top of fuel tanks and connections shall be fitted into spuds. These spuds shall either be riveted and soldered, welded, or brazed to the tank. Fuel suction lines shall run inside to near the bottom of the tank.

(f) Filling pipes and sounding tubes. Filling pipes and sounding tubes shall be so arranged that vapors or possible overflow when filling cannot escape to the inside of the hull but will run overboard. A pipe made tight to the tank and to the filling plate on deck clear of any coamings, etc., meets this requirement. Filling and sounding pipes shall extend to within ½ their diameter from the bottom of the tank or from the surface of the striking plate in case of a sounding pipe. A flame screen of non-corrodible wire mesh shall be fitted in the throat of the full pipe. Sounding tubes shall be kept closed at all times except during the act of sounding.

(g) Vent pipes. The net area of the vent pipe shall equal that of the fill pipe. Two vents or reliefs having a combined area equivalent to that specified above may be used in place of a single vent. Terminations of vent pipes shall be at least two feet above the deck and not less than three feet from any opening into living quarters or other below deck space. These terminations shall be fitted with flame screens.

(h) Flame screens. The term "flame screen" as used in paragraphs (f) and (g) means a single screen of corrosion resistant wire of at least 30 x 30 mesh, or two screens, both of corrosion resistant wire of at least 20 x 20 mesh, spaced not less than ½ inch nor more than 1½ inches apart.

(i) Auxiliary feeds. Auxiliary machinery shall either be supplied by branches from the main fuel line or from auxiliary fuel tanks which shall also meet the requirements previously outlined for main fuel tanks regarding location, construction, outlets, fill pipes, and vent pipes.

(j) Shut-off valves. A shut-off valve shall be installed in the fuel line as close to each tank as practicable and one as close to each carburetor as practicable. Arrangements shall be provided for operating all shut-off valves from outside the compartments in which they are located, preferably from on deck. The operating gear for the shut-off valves shall be accessible and in efficient working condition at all times. In addition a heat actuated device shall be located in the fuel line near the tank to automatically shut off the fuel supply in event of fire.

(k) Strainers. A suitable twin strainer shall be fitted in the fuel suction line within the engine compartment and this strainer shall be supported to take its weight off the line. Strainers shall be of the type opening on top for cleaning screens. A drip pan shall be fitted under the strainer.

(l) Materials, sizes, and workmanship of piping, valves and fittings. (1) Seamless drawn annealed copper tubing or iron pipe size copper pipe shall be used for all fuel lines. They shall be run in sight whenever practicable, protected from mechanical injury, and effectively secured against vibration by neat fitting soft non-ferrous metal clips with no sharp edges in contact with tubing. Where passing through steel decks or bulkheads, fuel lines shall be protected by close fitting ferrules of non-abrasive material or stuffing boxes. A short length of suitable flexible tubing or a loop of copper tubing shall be installed in the fuel line at or near the carburetor to prevent damage by vibration.

(2) Tubing wall thicknesses shall be not less than the following:

Outside diameter of tubing	Thickness
	B. W. G.	Inches
¼, ⅜, ½	#21	.032
⅞, 1	#19	.042

(3) Tube fittings shall be of non-ferrous drawn or forged metal and of the flared type and at least equal to the "S. A. E." Standard Practice Code for Refrigeration and Marine." Tubing shall be cut square and truly flared by tools designed for these purposes. Tube ends shall be annealed before flaring. Pipe fittings shall be of non-ferrous metal standard pipe threaded. Pipe thread joints shall be made tight with a suitable compound.

(4) Valves for fuel line shall be of non-ferrous metal of the union bonnet type with ground seats and they shall be installed to close against the flow. Cocks of any type are not permitted for use in fuel lines.

§ 27.4–3 Bulkheads. Machinery and fuel tank spaces shall be separated from accommodation spaces and from each other by vapor tight bulkheads (double diagonal wood, plywood, steel plate, or equivalent construction). These bulkheads shall extend completely to the bottom of the vessel and shall be effectively secured to the frames or the vessel's hull so as to efficiently seal off engine room and tank space bilges from accommodation spaces. These requirements shall be effective on new vessels or vessels converted to passenger service for the first time, construction of which is commenced on or after December 1, 1945, and to all existing vessels in so far as practicable.

§ 27.4–4 Ventilation. Every compartment in which an engine or fuel tanks are fitted shall be provided with adequate inlet ventilation ducts and induced exhaust blowers in accordance with these regulations. The following ventilation requirements shall govern all installations and be effective on new vessels or vessels converted to passenger service for the first time, construction of which is commenced on or after December 1, 1945, and to all existing vessels in so far as practicable:

(a) Requirements for power operated exhaust blowers shall be as follows:

Size and Space Ventilated and Maximum Time for Complete Air Change	Minutes
Less than 500 cu. ft.	2
500–1,000 cu. ft.	3
1,000–1,500 cu. ft.	4
Over 1,500 cu. ft.	5

Exhaust blower motors shall be outside of the ducts and if mounted in the compartment ventilated the motors shall be of the "explosion proof" types. Blower blades shall be non-sparking with reference to their housing. Exhaust blower switches shall be located outside the compartment ventilated and shall be of the type interlocked with the ignition switch so that the blowers are started before the engine ignition is switched on. A red warning sign at the switch shall state that the blowers shall be operated prior to starting the engines a sufficient period of time to insure one complete air change in the compartments ventilated.

(b) Size and shape of ducts. The area of ducts shall be such as to limit air velocity to a maximum of 2,000 feet a minute. Ducts may be of circular, rectangular, oval, or other regular section: Provided, That in no case shall one dimension exceed twice the other.

(c) Location and lead of ducts. The two inlet ducts shall be located at one end of the compartment and they shall lead to the lowest part of compartment or bilge on each side. Ducts shall lead to the exhauster from the lowest part of compartment or bilge on each side of the compartment at the end opposite from that at which the inlet ducts are fitted.

(d) Construction of ducts. Ducts shall be constructed of non-ferrous metal or galvanized ferrous metal not less than #22 USSG, intact and gas tight from end to end and shall be of substantial construction. The ducts shall lead as direct as possible and be properly fastened and supported.

(e) Cowls, scoops, and screening. All inlet ducts shall be provided with cowls or scoops having a free area not less than twice the required duct area. When cowls or scoops are screened the mouth area shall be increased to compensate for the area of the screen wire. Dampers shall not be fitted. Cowls or scoops are to be kept open at all times except when the stress of weather is such as to endanger the vessel if these openings are not temporarily closed. Inlet and exhaust openings shall not be located where the natural flow of air is unduly obstructed or adjacent to possible sources of vapor ignition, nor shall they be so located that exhaust air may be taken in the inlet vents.

The center heading over § 27.5–1 "Ventilation" is deleted and the following is substituted therefor:

Section 27.5–1 Where required is deleted and new §§ 27.5–1 to 27.5–5 inclusive are substituted therefor, reading as follows:

The following requirements shall govern all installations and be effective on new vessels or vessels converted to passenger service for the first time, construction of which is commenced on or after December 1, 1945, and to all existing vessels in so far as practicable.

(a) Exhaust pipes. The requirements of § 27.4–1 (d), (e), (f), and (g) shall apply with the exception that ¼ inch asbestos board is required where ⅛ inch thickness is specified.

(b) Starting torches. In engines of the semi-Diesel or hot-bulb type, woodwork within three feet of starting torches shall be protected by ¼ inch asbestos board covered with sheet metal and a dead air space of ¼ inch left between the protecting asbestos and the wood

§ 27.5–2 Fuel tanks and piping. The following requirements shall govern all fuel tank and piping installations and be effective on new vessels or vessels converted to passenger service for the first time, construction of which is commenced on or after December 1, 1945, and to all existing vessels in so far as practicable:

(a) At least two ventilators fitted with cowls or their equivalent for the purpose of properly and efficiently ventilating the bilges of every engine and fuel tank compartment shall be provided.

(b) Motorboats and motor vessels coming under the requirements of this section and so constructed that the greater portion of the bilges under the engine and fuel tanks are open and exposed to the natural atmosphere at all times are not required to be fitted with ventilators.

§ 27.5–4 Auxiliaries. Installations of auxiliary machinery using liquid fuels stored at atmospheric pressure and temperature and having flash points of 110° F. or lower shall comply with all provisions of §§ 27.4–1 to 27.4–4, inclusive.

§ 27.5–5 Starting. Machinery on vessels coming under the provisions of this part which use fuels stored at atmospheric pressure and temperatures and having flash points of 110° F. or lower for starting shall comply with the applicable provisions of §§ 27.4–1 to 27.4–4, inclusive.

Rescinding General Order 36 (8 F. R. 10991) and continuing certain functions of the Coordinator for Ship Repair and Conversion.

The Office of the Coordinator for Ship Repair and Conversion was created by the Navy Department and the United States Maritime Commission on June 12, 1941, for the purpose of more effectively handling the repair and conversion of all ships carried out in the private shipyards of the United States. For the reasons set forth therein, War Shipping Administration General Order 36 was issued on August 5, 1943, by the Administrator, War Shipping Administration, successor to the repair functions of the Maritime Commission, to further the intent and purpose of the Coordinator's Office, namely, the full utilization of repair facilities of the United States in prosecuting the war to a successful conclusion. It now appears that the regulations covering repairs and other work on merchant vessels contained in General Order 36 no longer are required to further the intent and purpose of the Coordinator's Office.

Accordingly, effective October 31, 1945, I hereby revoke General Order 36 and promulgate the following:

§ 301.101 Office of the Coordinator for Ship Repair and Conversion. The Office of the Coordinator for Ship Repair and Conversion will continue for the purpose of maintaining appropriate records of the available facilities and capacities of the various shipyards and the work in progress and the work to be done and will be prepared to consult with and make recommendations to the Maintenance and Repair representatives and to agents of the War Shipping Administration on questions arising out of the conflict of priorities, temporary congestion or other conditions and to report to the Administrator concerning such matters and the conditions under which work is awarded to repair yards.

§ 301.102 Information to be furnished Coordinator. The Office of the Coordinator may continue to call upon the Maintenance and Repair organization of the War Shipping Administration, and upon shipyards and ship repair plants for any information relative thereto as provided in the act of May 2, 1941 (Public Law 46, 77th Cong., 55 Stat. 148).

§ 301.103 Division of Maintenance and Repair Liaison with Army and Navy. Local Maintenance and Repair representatives of the War Shipping Administration will maintain local consultation groups or committees with Maintenance and Repair representatives of the Army and Navy for the purpose of mutual consultation and disposition of problems, particularly those which may arise out of the conflict of priorities, temporary congestion, or other conditions.

§ 301.104 Use of records of Coordinator's Office. Information and records of the Coordinator's Office will be made available to the local groups or committees described in § 301.103, as required.

[Region IV Order G–1 Under Gen. Order 61]

USED LUMBER IN ALABAMA, GEORGIA, MISSISSIPPI AND SOUTH CAROLINA

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region IV of the Office of Price Administration by General Order No. 61, it is hereby ordered:

Article I—Coverage of This Order

SECTION 1. Products, transactions and area covered. This order applies to sales or purchases by any person of the categories of used lumber for which maximum prices are established in this order, when made for delivery in the following area: All of that area lying within the geographical limits of the States of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina.

This order does not apply to sales of used plywood.

Article II—Definitions

SEC. 2. Used lumber. Used lumber means lumber and lumber products (except used plywood) which have been recovered from, and were at one time a part of, a building, structure, or fabricated item made wholly or partially of lumber.

SEC. 3. Categories of used lumber. Maximum prices are established in this order for the categories of used lumber described below, including such lumber when run to standard or special patterns; but such descriptions are not intended to, and do not, include items customarily produced and sold as moldings, millwork or plywood.

(a) Boards. Used lumber of less than 2" nominal thickness not exceeding 12" in nominal width ("nominal thickness" means thickness of the piece before planing. Actual thickness, after planing to produce an even and uniform surface, is generally ¼" to ⅜" less than nominal thickness).

(b) Dimension. Used lumber of 2" nominal thickness not exceeding 12" in nominal width.

(c) Planks or small timbers. Used lumber of over 2" and up to and including 4" nominal thickness and of 12" or less nominal width; also, nominal thickness over 4" up to and including 6" in all nominal widths up to and including 8".

(d) Large timbers. Used lumber of nominal sizes larger than 6" x 8"; also, nominal thicknesses of more than 2" when wider than 12".

(e) Flooring. Used lumber planed to approximately $^{25}/_{32}$" thickness, and which has tongue and groove or other construction commonly used for flooring.

(f) Scrap lumber is used lumber of any of the other categories described in this section which, because of defects in quality or deficiencies in size, do not meet the grade specifications in section 4.

Plywood, which is exempt from this order, is defined to be three or more thin layers of lumber, glued together with the grain of each layer at an angle to that of the adjoining layer, to form a material having the general characteristics of a thin board.

SEC. 4. Grades. The following are the grades of used lumber referred to in "Appendix A".

(a) Grades of boards, dimension, planks and timbers. (1) First grade is used lumber in the form of boards, dimension, planks or timbers which are at least 5' in length, and which are sound, strong, of uniform width and thickness, suitable for substantial construction purposes, free from loose or rotten knots, knot holes and rot, and without other defects which might materially impair the strength of the piece, from which all nails, bolts, cement, plaster or other foreign matter have been removed, and which has been surfaced to standard or special patterns.

(2) Secondary grade is used lumber in the form of boards, dimension, planks or timbers, which individually are at least 5' in length, and which though failing to qualify as first grade are reasonably good construction lumber. They must be free from rot, but may contain loose knots, knot holes or other defects which do not interfere with their use for construction purposes, from which all nails, bolts, cement, plaster or other foreign matter have been removed, and which has been surfaced to standard or special patterns. Each piece of used lumber sold as secondary grade must show more than 50 percent of first grade used lumber in lengths of at least 5 feet.

(3) Third grade lumber is used lumber meeting the general requirements of first and/or secondary grades but from which nails, bolts, cement, plaster or other foreign matter have not been removed, and used lumber which does not meet the requirements of first or secondary grades, and which has been surfaced to standard or special patterns.

(b) Grades of flooring. (1) Reclaimed flooring is used flooring of $^{25}/_{32}$" or $^{13}/_{16}$" thickness, entirely free of nails or other foreign matter and with upper face whole or free from voids or splits. A tolerance of ⅛" in thickness will be permitted where flooring is worn or sanded. Not more than 25 percent of the tongue may be missing on any piece nor more than 25 percent of the lower surface representing the upper part of the groove.

(2) Unreclaimed flooring is used flooring which meets the specifications for reclaimed flooring except that nails or other foreign matter have not been removed.

SEC. 5. Persons. The term "person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or their legal successors or representatives; the United States, or any government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of the foregoing.

SEC. 6. Sales. "Sale" includes a barter, exchange, lease or transfer, and an agreement or offer to sell, barter, exchange, lease or transfer.

SEC. 7. Established yard. Seller's established yard means premises occupied by the seller for the purpose of regularly and continually maintaining a stock of new and/or used lumber from various unrelated sources of supply.

Article III—Specific Requirements

SEC. 8. Posting ceiling prices. Every person selling used lumber for delivery in, or from stocks located in, the area covered by this order shall obtain from the Office of Price Administration at least two copies of the price schedule fixed in this order. One copy of such order must be posted and maintained in a prominent place at or near each location in the area where used lumber is offered for sale, in such manner that it can be easily read, and that purchasers can approach it within a distance of two feet. One other copy must be kept available so that it may be shown to and read by any customer at his request.

SEC. 9. Sales slips and receipts. Where a sale of used lumber is covered by this order and the total price of the sale is $5 or more, the seller shall, regardless of his previous practice and whether or not requested by buyers, give to the buyer a sales slip, bill, receipt, or other written evidence of the sale, setting forth the following:

Name and address of seller.
Buyer's name.
Place of delivery.
Location from which stock is sold (seller's yard or site other than seller's yard).
Description of items sold and itemized prices (in terms of categories, grades, lengths, quantities and any other specification affecting the price).
Total price.
Additions (for delivery or other extra).

SEC. 10. Records and reports. Every person who makes a sale of used lumber shall keep a record of such sale showing the name of the buyer and place of delivery, date of the sale, the grades sold, the quantities sold and the price charged in the same detail as required in section 9. Such records shall be kept for a period of 2 years or for the duration of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, whichever be the shorter.

Article IV—Prohibited Practices and Penalties

SEC. 11. Sales of used lumber at higher than maximum prices prohibited. (a) On and after the effective date of this order, regardless of any contract or obligation, no person shall make a sale or delivery of used lumber of the varieties covered by this order and no person shall buy or receive such used lumber under a sale, at prices higher than the maximum prices fixed by this order; and no person shall agree, offer, or attempt to do any of these things.

(b) Prices lower than the maximum prices may, of course, be charged and paid.

SEC. 12. Prohibited practices. Any practice which is designed to get the effect of a higher than ceiling price is as much a violation of this order as a direct over-the-ceiling charge. This applies to changes in credit practices and cash discounts and to devices making use of commissions, services, transportation arrangements, premiums, special privileges, tying-agreements, trade understandings and the like. Such practices include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) Getting the effect of a higher price by changing the credit practices from what they were in March 1942. This includes decreasing credit periods, or making greater charges for extension of credit.

(b) Refusing to sell except in small quantities, or with or without delivery under circumstances which bring the seller an extra return.

(c) Wrongly grading used lumber for which maximum prices are fixed in this order; or incorrectly or incompletely recording the information required by section 9 to be set forth on the sales slip, receipt or other evidence of sale.

(d) Quoting a gross price above the maximum price, even if accompanied by a discount, the effect of which is to bring the net price below the maximum.

(e) Charging, paying, or receiving a commission for the service of procuring, buying, selling, or locating used lumber covered by this order, or for any related service which does not involve actual physical handling of used lumber, if the commission plus the purchase price results in a total payment by the buyer of such used lumber which is higher than the maximum price permitted by this order. For the purpose of this order, a commission is any compensation, however designated, which is paid, wholly or in part, for the procurement of lumber, and which is based directly or indirectly on the quantity, price, or value of the lumber in connection with which the service is rendered.

SEC. 13. Penalties. (a) Any person violating any provision of this order is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and proceedings for suspension of license provided for in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(b) Any person making a sale of used lumber covered by this order for which the total price is higher than $5 and who either fails to give the buyer a sales slip, paid bill, receipt, or other evidence of sale, or although such document is given, fails to set forth in it the information required to be set forth by section 9, so that a determination can be made as to whether or not the price charged was proper, shall be limited to making a charge of $5 per M'BM for all lumber delivered under such sale. The application or enforcement of this provision to a sale or against a seller shall not exclude the application or enforcement of the penalties provided in paragraph (a) of this section.

Article V—Maximum Prices

SEC. 14. Ceiling prices for any category of used lumber for which maximum prices are not fixed in this order are subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation unless subsequently fixed by regional or district order.

SEC. 15. Maximum prices—(a) Local sales out of seller's established yard. The maximum prices set forth in the table appearing in Appendix "A" shall apply to all sales of used lumber of the categories covered by this order, when the used lumber, at the time the order is taken, is part of a stock at the seller's established yard, and delivery is made either at the yard, or by truck, within a radius of thirty miles of such yard. If rail shipment either by the seller or buyer should be made, see paragraph (c) (2) of this section.

(b) Local sales from site other than the seller's established yard. When a sale is made for delivery from stock located at a site other than the seller's established yard, and delivery is made either at the site, or by truck within a radius of thirty miles of such site, the maximum prices applicable to such sale shall be $2.00 per M'BM less than the prices set forth in Appendix "A". If rail shipment either by the seller or buyer should be made, see paragraph (c) (2) of this section.

(c) Other than local sales—(1) When delivery is by truck. When a sale is made for delivery by truck to the buyer at a point located further than thirty miles from the place where the shipment originates, the maximum price applicable to such sale shall be $5 per M'BM less than the price fixed for a local sale from such place under paragraph (a) or (b) above.

(2) When rail transportation is involved. When a sale is made which involves shipment by rail of used lumber, either by the buyer or seller, from the seller's established yard or from a site other than such yard, the maximum price applicable to such sale shall be $5 per M'BM less than the price fixed for a local sale from such place under paragraphs (a) and (b) above.

SEC. 16. Additions for delivery. (a) If the buyer requests delivery within a free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may not charge for making the delivery. If delivery is requested and refused, the maximum price must be reduced by the actual cost incurred by the purchaser for making the delivery.

(b) If the buyer requests delivery outside the free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may add a charge for delivery as follows:

(1) Where delivery is by common or contract carrier, the actual amount paid to the carrier by the seller may be charged.

(2) Where delivery up to 100 miles is by truck owned or controlled by the seller, the amount added for delivery may not be higher than 10 cents per M'BM for each mile from point of origin to place of delivery, but not for any part of the return trip. When truck delivery over 100 miles is to be made, the addition may not be more than 10 cents per M'BM for each mile from the point of origin to the nearest possible point of rail loading-out plus the amount of rail transportation from there to destination.

(3) A minimum charge of 75 cents may be made on any delivery, where the permissible charges do not amount to 75 cents.

(c) If the buyer elects to take delivery at the site of the lumber or at the seller's established yard, no reduction in price shall be required for that reason. This does not, however, affect the application of the provisions of section 15 (b).

This order may be amended, modified or revoked at any time.

Issued: September 26, 1945.

ALEXANDER HARRIS,
Regional Administrator.

Such practices include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) Getting the effect of a higher price by changing the credit practices from what they were in March 1942. This includes decreasing credit periods, or making greater charges for extension of credit.

(b) Refusing to sell except in small quantities, or with or without delivery under circumstances which bring the seller an extra return.

(c) Wrongly grading used lumber for which maximum prices are fixed in this order; or incorrectly or incompletely recording the information required by section 9 to be set forth on the sales slip, receipt or other evidence of sale.

(d) Quoting a gross price above the maximum price, even if accompanied by a discount, the effect of which is to bring the net price below the maximum.

(e) Charging, paying or receiving a commission for the service of procuring, buying, selling, or locating used lumber covered by this order, or for any related service which does not involve actual physical handling of used lumber, if the commission plus the purchase price results in a total payment by the buyer of such used lumber which is higher than the maximum price permitted by this order. For the purpose of this order, a commission is any compensation, however designated, which is paid, wholly or in part, for the procurement of lumber, and which is based directly or indirectly on the quantity, price or value of the lumber in connection with which the service is rendered.

SEC. 13. Penalties. (a) Any person violating any provision of this order is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and proceedings for suspension of license provided for in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(b) Any person making a sale of used lumber covered by this order for which the total price is higher than $5 and who either fails to give the buyer a sales slip, paid bill, receipt or other evidence of sale, or although such document is given, fails to set forth in it the information required to be set forth by section 9, so that a determination can be made as to whether or not the price charged was proper, shall be limited to making a charge of $5 per M'BM for all lumber delivered under such sale. The application or enforcement of this provision to a sale or against a seller shall not exclude the application or enforcement of the penalties provided in paragraph (a) of this section.

Article V—Maximum Prices

SEC. 14. Ceiling prices for any category of used lumber for which maximum prices are not fixed in this order are subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation unless subsequently fixed by regional or district order.

SEC. 15. Maximum prices—(a) Local sales out of seller's established yard. The maximum prices set forth in the table appearing in Appendix "A" shall apply to all sales of used lumber of the categories covered by this order, when the used lumber, at the time the order is taken, is part of a stock at the seller's established yard, and delivery is made either at the yard, or by truck, within a radius of thirty miles of such yard. If rail shipment either by the seller or buyer should be made, see paragraph (c) (2) of this section.

(b) Local sales from site other than the seller's established yard. When a sale is made for delivery from stock located at a site other than the seller's established yard, and delivery is made either at the site, or by truck within a radius of thirty miles of such site, the maximum prices applicable to such sale shall be $2.00 per M'BM less than the prices set forth in Appendix "A". If rail shipment either by the seller or buyer should be made, see paragraph (c) (2) of this section.

(c) Other than local sales—(1) When delivery is by truck. When a sale is made for delivery by truck to the buyer at a point located further than thirty miles from the place where the shipment originates, the maximum price applicable to such sale shall be $5 per M'BM less than the price fixed for a local sale from such place under paragraph (a) or (b) above.

(2) When rail transportation is involved. When a sale is made which involves shipment by rail of used lumber, either by the buyer or seller, from the seller's established yard or from a site other than such yard, the maximum price applicable to such sale shall be $5 per M'BM less than the price fixed for a local sale from such place under paragraphs (a) and (b) above.

SEC. 16. Additions for delivery. (a) If the buyer requests delivery within a free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may not charge for making the delivery. If delivery is requested and refused, the maximum price must be reduced by the actual cost incurred by the purchaser for making the delivery.

(b) If the buyer requests delivery outside the free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may add a charge for delivery as follows:

(1) Where delivery is by common or contract carrier, the actual amount paid to the carrier by the seller may be charged.

(2) Where delivery up to 100 miles is by truck owned or controlled by the seller, the amount added for delivery may not be higher than 10 cents per M'BM for each mile from point of origin to place of delivery, but not for any part of the return trip. When truck delivery over 100 miles is to be made, the addition may not be more than 10 cents per M'BM for each mile from the point of origin to the nearest possible point of rail loading-out plus the amount of rail transportation from there to destination.

(3) A minimum charge of 75 cents may be made on any delivery, where the permissible charges do not amount to 75 cents.

(c) If the buyer elects to take delivery at the site of the lumber or at the seller's established yard, no reduction in price shall be required for that reason. This does not, however, affect the application of the provisions of section 15 (b).

This order may be amended, modified or revoked at any time.

This order shall be effective October 15, 1945.

Issued: September 26, 1945.

ALEXANDER HARRIS,
Regional Administrator.

[Region IV Order G-3 Under Gen. Order 61]

USED LUMBER IN TENNESSEE

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region IV of the Office of Price Administration by General Order No. 61; it is hereby ordered:

Article I—Coverage of This Order

SECTION 1. Products, transactions and area covered. This order applies to sales or purchases by any person of the categories of used lumber for which maximum prices are established in this order, when made for delivery in the following area: All of that area lying within the geographical limits of the State of Tennessee.

This order does not apply to sales of used plywood.

Article II—Definitions

SEC. 2. Used lumber. Used lumber means lumber and lumber products (except used plywood) which have been recovered from, and were at one time a part of, a building, structure or fabricated item made wholly or partially of lumber.

SEC. 3. Categories of used lumber. Maximum prices are established in this order for the categories of used lumber described below, including such lumber when run to standard or special patterns; but such descriptions are not intended to, and do not, include items customarily produced and sold as moldings, millwork or plywood.

(a) Boards. Used lumber of less than 2" nominal thickness not exceeding 12" in nominal width ("nominal thickness" means thickness of the piece before planing. Actual thickness, after planing to produce an even and uniform surface, is generally ¼" to ⅜" less than nominal thickness).

(b) Dimension. Used lumber of 2" nominal thickness not exceeding 12" in nominal width.

(c) Planks or small timbers. Used lumber of over 2" and up to and including 4" nominal thickness and of 12" or less nominal width; also, nominal thickness over 4" up to and including 6" in all nominal widths up to and including 8".

(d) Large timbers. Used lumber of nominal sizes larger than 6" x 8"; also, nominal thicknesses of more than 2" when wider than 12".

(e) Flooring. Used lumber planed to approximately $^{25}/_{32}$" thickness, and which has tongue and groove or other construction commonly used for flooring.

(f) Scrap lumber is used lumber of any of the other categories described in this section which, because of defects in quality or deficiencies in size, do not meet the grade specifications in Section 4.

Plywood, which is exempt from this order, is defined to be three or more thin layers of lumber, glued together with the grain of each layer at an angle to that of the adjoining layer, to form a material having the general characteristics of a thin board.

SEC. 4. Grade. The following are the grades of used lumber referred to in "Appendix A".

(a) Grades of boards, dimension, planks and timbers. (1) First grade is used lumber in the form of boards, dimension, planks or timbers which are at least 5' in length, and which are sound, strong, of uniform width and thickness, suitable for substantial construction purposes, free from loose or rotten knots, knot holes, and rot, and without other defects which might materially impair the strength of the piece, from which all nails, bolts, cement, plaster or other foreign matter have been removed, and which has been surfaced to standard or special patterns.

(2) Secondary grade is used lumber in the form of boards, dimension, planks or timbers, which individually are at least 5' in length, and which though failing to qualify as First grade are reasonably good construction lumber. They must be free from rot, but may contain loose knots, knot holes or other defects which do not interfere with their use for construction purposes, from which all nails, bolts, cement, plaster or other foreign matter have been removed, and which has been surfaced to standard or special patterns. Each piece of used lumber sold as Secondary grade must show more than 50 percent of First grade used lumber in lengths of at least 5 feet.

(3) Third grade lumber is used lumber meeting the general requirements of First and/or Secondary grades but from which nails, bolts, cement, plaster or other foreign matter have not been removed, and used lumber which does not meet the requirements of First or Secondary grades, and which has been surfaced to standard or special patterns.

(b) Grades of flooring. (1) Reclaimed flooring is used flooring of $^{25}/_{32}$" or $^{13}/_{16}$" thickness, entirely free of nails or other foreign matter and with upper face whole or free from voids or splits. A tolerance of ⅛" in thickness will be permitted where flooring is worn or sanded. Not more than 25 percent of the tongue may be missing on any piece nor more than 25 percent of the lower surface representing the upper part of the groove.

(2) Unreclaimed flooring is used flooring which meets the specifications for reclaimed flooring except that nails or other foreign matter have not been removed.

SEC. 5. Persons. The term "person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or their legal successors or representatives; the United States, or any government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of the foregoing.

SEC. 6. Sales. "Sale" includes a barter, exchange, lease or transfer, and an agreement or offer to sell, barter, exchange, lease or transfer.

SEC. 7. Established yard. Seller's established yard means premises occupied by the seller for the purpose of regularly and continually maintaining a stock of new and/or used lumber from various unrelated sources of supply.

Article III—Specific Requirements

SEC. 8. Posting ceiling prices. Every person selling used lumber for delivery in, or from stocks located in, the area covered by this order shall obtain from the Office of Price Administration at least two copies of the price schedule fixed in this order. One copy of such order must be posted and maintained in a prominent place at or near each location in the area where used lumber is offered for sale, in such manner that it can be easily read, and that purchasers can approach it within a distance of two feet. One other copy must be kept available so that it may be shown to and read by any customer at his request.

SEC. 9. Sales slips and receipts. Where a sale of used lumber is covered by this order and the total price of the sale is $5 or more, the seller shall, regardless of his previous practice and whether or not requested by buyers, give to the buyer a sales slip, bill, receipt, or other written evidence of the sale, setting forth the following:

Name and address of seller.
Buyer's name.
Place of delivery.
Location from which stock is sold (seller's yard or site other than seller's yard).
Description of items sold and itemized prices (in terms of categories, grades, lengths, quantities and any other specification affecting the price).
Total price.
Additions (for delivery or other extra).

SEC. 10. Records and reports. Every person who makes a sale of used lumber shall keep a record of such sale showing the name of the buyer and place of delivery, date of the sale, the grades sold, the quantities sold and the price charged in the same detail as required in Section 9. Such records shall be kept for a period of 2 years or for the duration of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, whichever be the shorter.

Article IV—Prohibited Practices and Penalties

SEC. 11. Sales of used lumber at higher than maximum prices prohibited. (a) On and after the effective date of this order, regardless of any contract or obligation, no person shall make a sale or delivery of used lumber of the varieties covered by this order and no person shall buy or receive such used lumber under a sale, at prices higher than the maximum prices fixed by this order; and no person shall agree, offer, or attempt to do any of these things.

(b) Prices lower than the maximum prices may, of course, be charged and paid.

SEC. 12. Prohibited practices. Any practice which is designed to get the effect of a higher than ceiling price is as much a violation of this order as a direct over-the-ceiling charge. This applies to changes in credit practices and cash discounts and to devices making use of commissions, services, transportation arrangements, premiums, special privileges, tying-agreements, trade understandings and the like. Such practices include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) Getting the effect of a higher price by changing the credit practices from what they were in March 1942. This includes decreasing credit periods, or making greater charges for extension of credit.

(b) Refusing to sell except in small quantities, or with or without delivery under circumstances which bring the seller an extra return.

(c) Wrongly grading used lumber for which maximum prices are fixed in this order; or incorrectly or incompletely recording the information required by section 9 to be set forth on the sales slip, receipt or other evidence of sale.

(d) Quoting a gross price above the maximum price, even if accompanied by a discount, the effect of which is to bring the net price below the maximum.

(e) Charging, paying or receiving a commission for the service of procuring, buying, selling, or locating used lumber covered by this order, or for any related service which does not involve actual physical handling of used lumber, if the commission plus the purchase price results in a total payment by the buyer of such used lumber which is higher than the maximum price permitted by this order. For the purpose of this order, a commission is any compensation, however designated, which is paid, wholly or in part, for the procurement of lumber, and which is based directly or indirectly on the quantity, price or value of the lumber in connection with which the service is rendered.

SEC. 13. Penalties. (a) Any person violating any provision of this order is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and proceedings or suspension of license provided for in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(b) Any person making a sale of used lumber covered by this order for which the total price is higher than $5 and who either fails to give the buyer a sales slip, paid bill, receipt, or other evidence of sale, or although such document is given, fails to set forth in it the information required to be set forth by section 9, so that a determination can be made as to whether or not the price charged was proper, shall be limited to making a charge of $5 per M'BM for all lumber delivered under such sale. The application or enforcement of this provision to a sale or against a seller shall not exclude the application or enforcement of the penalties provided in paragraph (a) of this section.

Article V—Maximum Prices

SEC. 14. Ceiling prices for any category of used lumber for which maximum prices are not fixed in this order are subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation unless subsequently fixed by regional or district order.

SEC. 15. Maximum prices—(a) Local sales out of seller's established yard. The maximum prices set forth in the table appearing in Appendix "A" shall apply to all sales of used lumber of the categories covered by this order, when the used lumber, at the time the order is taken, is part of a stock at the seller's established yard, and delivery is made either at the yard, or by truck, within a radius of thirty miles of such yard. If rail shipment either by the seller or buyer should be made, see paragraph (c) (2) of this section.

(b) Local sales from site other than the seller's established yard. When a sale is made for delivery from stock located at a site other than the seller's established yard, and delivery is made either at the site, or by truck within a radius of thirty miles of such site, the maximum prices applicable to such sale shall be $2.00 per M'BM less than the prices set forth in Appendix "A". If rail shipment either by the seller or buyer should be made, see paragraph (c) (2) of this section.

(c) Other than local sales—(1) When delivery is by truck. When a sale is made for delivery by truck to the buyer at a point located further than thirty miles from the place where the shipment originates, the maximum price applicable to such sale shall be $5 per M'BM less than the price fixed for a local sale from such place under paragraph (a) or (b) above.

(2) When rail transportation is involved. When a sale is made which involves shipment by rail of used lumber, either by the buyer or seller, from the seller's established yard or from a site other than such yard, the maximum price applicable to such sale shall be $5 per M'BM less than the price fixed for a local sale from such place under paragraphs (a) and (b) above.

SEC. 16. Additions for delivery. (a) If the buyer requests delivery within a free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may not charge for making the delivery. If delivery is requested and refused, the maximum price must be reduced by the actual cost incurred by the purchaser for making the delivery.

(b) If the buyer requests delivery outside the free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may add a charge for delivery as follows:

(1) Where delivery is by common or contract carrier, the actual amount paid to the carrier by the seller may be charged.

(2) Where delivery up to 100 miles is by truck owned or controlled by the seller, the amount added for delivery may not be higher than 10 cents per M'BM for each mile from point of origin to place of delivery, but not for any part of the return trip. When truck delivery over 100 miles is to be made, the addition may not be more than 10 cents per M'BM for each mile from the point of origin to the nearest possible point of rail loading-out plus the amount of rail transportation from there to destination.

(3) A minimum charge of 75 cents may be made on any delivery, where the permissible charges do not amount to 75 cents.

(c) If the buyer elects to take delivery at the site of the lumber or at the seller's established yard, no reduction in price shall be required for that reason. This does not, however, affect the application of the provisions of section 15 (b).

This order may be amended, modified or revoked at any time.

This order shall be effective October 15, 1945.

Issued September 26, 1945.

Regional Administrator.

COTTON PICKING SERVICES IN MISSISSIPPI DELTA, MISSISSIPPI

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator, Region IV, Office of Price Administration, by § 1499.676 (a) (1) of Revised Supplementary Service Regulation 43 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165, it is hereby ordered:

(a) What this order does. This order establishes maximum prices for the services of picking, pulling, and snapping cotton and services incidental thereto when supplied by independent contractors in the "Mississippi Delta Area".

(b) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any contract, agreement, or other obligation, no person shall:

(1) Sell, offer to sell, buy, or offer to buy, any of the services covered by this order at prices higher than those determined by application of the rates herein set forth, but less than maximum prices may, at any time, be charged, paid, offered, or received; or

(2) Obtain a higher than maximum price by:

(i) Charging for the services covered hereby by using any basis or rate of payment other than that provided herein; (any price based upon any other basis or rate of payment shall not exceed the price calculated as provided herein).

(ii) Making, receiving, or paying any extra charge for securing or furnishing cotton sacks, baskets, or scales, for furnishing drinking water to the pickers, or for the performance of any other service not specifically named herein;

(iii) Engaging in any practice designed to obtain higher than the maximum prices established by this order;

(iv) Giving, offering, or paying a bonus to a contractor, or demanding or receiving a bonus from a cotton producer in connection with the services covered by this order; or

(v) Using any tying agreement by making any requirement that any service or commodity in addition to the services covered by this order be purchased by any purchaser of the services covered hereby, or by making any requirement that any or all of the services named in subparagraphs (d) (3), (d) (4), (d) (5), and (d) (6) be purchased by the purchasers of the services named in subparagraph (d) (1) or (d) (2).

(c) Area covered. This order covers all sales of the specified services when such services are rendered in whole or in part in the "Mississippi Delta Area" of the State of Mississippi as defined herein.

(d) Maximum prices. The maximum prices permitted by this order shall be those calculated on the basis of the following rates:

(1) For securing cotton pickers, hauling cotton pickers to and from the field, and picking well picked, clean seed cotton, the independent contractor may charge the amount he actually pays to the cotton pickers (not to exceed $2.10 per cwt.) plus 20¢ per cwt.

(2) For securing cotton pickers, hauling cotton pickers to and from the field, and pulling or snapping cotton, the independent contractor may charge the amount he actually pays the cotton pickers pulling or snapping the cotton (not to exceed $1.15 per cwt.) plus 20¢ per cwt.

(3) The contractor may charge for the operation of any truck, bus, or other motor driven vehicle used in the rendition of the services covered by this order (including hauling seed cotton to the gin as provided for in subparagraph (d) (6)) at a rate of not more than 12½¢ per mile for the necessary and actual mileage of the vehicle.

(4) If a purchaser of the services named in subparagraph (d) (1) or (d) (2) requests the service of weighing the seed cotton, the contractor may charge therefor at a rate of not more than 5¢ per cwt. of seed cotton.

(5) If a purchaser of the services named in subparagraph (d) (1) or (d) (2) requests the services of a "hustler" and supervision by the contractor of the picking of the seed cotton, the contractor may charge therefor at a rate of not more than 5¢ per cwt. seed cotton.

(6) If a purchaser of the services named in subparagraph (d) (1) or (d) (2) requests the service of hauling the seed cotton to the gin, the contractor may charge therefor at a rate of not more than 5¢ per cwt. of seed cotton.

(e) Taxes. Mississippi State Sales Tax may be added to the prices named herein.

(f) Definitions. (1) Except as otherwise provided herein, and except as the context may otherwise require the definitions contained in Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165 and Revised Supplementary Service Regulation 43 thereunder shall be applicable to the terms used herein.

(2) "Mississippi Delta Area" includes the Counties of Bolivar, Coahoma, Humphreys, Issaquena, Leflore, Quitman, Sharkey, Sunflower, Tunica, and Washington and all that part of the Counties of Carroll, DeSoto, Grenada, Holmes, Panola, Tallahatchie, Tate, Warren, and Yazoo, lying between the Mississippi River and the base of the foothills, all in the State of Mississippi. When streams enter the delta area from the hills, a line drawn from the base of the hills on one side thereof to the base of the hills on the other side shall be deemed, for the purposes of the foregoing definition, the edge of the foothills.

(3) "Independent contractor" as used in this order refers to a person who supplies or offers to supply any or all of the services listed in paragraph (d) hereof and who employs one or more cotton pickers.

(4) "Hustler" as used in subparagraph (d) (5) of this order is an employee of the contractor who takes the sacks of seed cotton from the pickers in the field, carries the sacks to the scales, carries the sacks from the scales to the vehicle in which the cotton is to be hauled, empties the sacks into this vehicle, "tramps" the cotton in this vehicle, and returns the sacks to the pickers.

(g) Applicability of other regulations—(1) Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165. Except as otherwise provided herein, all transactions subject to this order shall remain subject to all provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165, together with all amendments, orders, or supplementary regulations which heretofore have been, or hereafter may be, issued.

(2) Licensing Order 1. The provisions of Licensing Order 1, licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this order. A seller's license may be suspended for violation of the license, or of one or more applicable price schedules, regulations, or orders. A seller whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

(h) Enforcement. (1) Persons violating any provision of this order are subject to the civil and criminal penalties, including suits for treble damages, provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who have any evidence of any violation of this order are urged to communicate with the Jackson District Office, Office of Price Administration, Tower Building, Jackson 1, Mississippi.

(i) Power to amend or revoke. This order may be revoked, amended, or corrected at any time by the Price Administrator or by the Regional Administrator of Region IV.

(j) This revised order supersedes Order No. G–4 under Revised Supplementary Service Regulation 43 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165 as of its effective date; therefore, said Order No. G–4 is hereby revoked as of the effective date hereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective October 8, 1945, and expire at 11:59 p. m. December 20, 1945; however, it may be continued in effect for a longer period by amendment.

Issued: October 3, 1945.

Acting Regional Administrator.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

[File Nos. 70–1157, 70–1165]

WISCONSIN POWER AND LIGHT CO. AND NORTH WEST UTILITIES CO.

ORDER PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 19th day of October, A. D., 1945.

North West Utilities Company, a registered holding company, and its subsidiary, Wisconsin Power and Light Company, having filed applications and declarations pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, particularly sections 6, 7, 9, 10 and 12 thereof, with respect, among other things, to the following transactions:

1. Wisconsin Power and Light Company proposes to amend its Articles of Organization (a) by changing each share of its common stock having a par value of $50 to five shares of common stock having a par value of $10 each, (b) by increasing the authorized Preferred Stock from $20,000,000 to $28,800,000, and (c) by incorporating various provisions stated to be designed for the protection of the Preferred Stock.

2. Wisconsin Power and Light Company proposes to issue and sell to certain banks $3,800,000 principal amount of 2%, Serial Notes, (5% after maturity) payable semi-annually over a period of seven years and to apply the proceeds from the sale of such notes, together with other funds of the company, to the payment and retirement of all its outstanding Serial Notes in the aggregate principal amount of $4,070,000 maturing serially to August 1, 1951 and bearing interest at 2¼%, 2¾% and 3%.

Wisconsin Power and Light Company having proposed to solicit proxies in connection with a special meeting of its stockholders to be held early in November, 1945, to vote upon the proposed amendments to its Articles of Organization and the proposed issue and sale of serial notes, and having filed copies of the proposed notice of such meeting, proxy and proxy statement; and

Wisconsin Power and Light Company having requested that the declaration with respect to the proxy solicitation material be considered and disposed of independently of the principal transactions and that the Commission enter its separate order permitting said declaration as to all such proxy solicitation material to become effective; and

It appearing that the solicitation of authorizations of stockholders, as proposed to be conducted, does not make it necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers or to prevent the circumvention of the provisions of the Act or the Rules and Regulations thereunder that the Commission issue any order with respect thereto other than an order permitting the declaration as to such solicitation to become effective;

It is therefore ordered, That, without passing upon the merits of the applications or declarations filed pursuant to sections 6, 7, 9, 10 and 12, the declaration as to solicitation of authorizations be and it is hereby permitted to become effective forthwith.

By the Commission.

CAPE & VINEYARD ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 22d day of October 1945.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration or application (or both) has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Cape & Vineyard Electric Company, a subsidiary of New England Gas and Electric Association, a registered holding company; and

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than October 31, 1945, at 5:30 p. m., E. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request and the nature of his interest, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. At any time thereafter such declaration or application, as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective or granted, as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to said act, or the Commission may exempt such transaction as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

All interested persons are referred to said declaration or application which is on file in the office of said Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized below:

In accordance with an agreement made on September 14, 1945, by and between Cape & Vineyard Electric Company and John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company it is proposed to reduce the interest rate on the First Mortgage Bonds, Series B, due March 1, 1968, of Cape & Vineyard Electric Company from 4% per annum to 3⅛% per annum, effective as of September 1, 1945. There are issued and outstanding $1,000,000 aggregate principal amount of Series B bonds due March 1, 1968, all of which are owned and held by the insurance company. The filing states that no State commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

In connection with the proposed reduction of interest rate the company proposes to execute two supplemental indentures for the purpose of effecting the inclusion under the general mortgage of certain parcels acquired by the company since the execution of the principal indenture and supplemental indentures thereto, and for the purpose of curing certain defects and ambiguities or inconsistencies in the wording of the principal indenture in that such indenture fails to define the term "entitled to vote", and is ambiguous or inconsistent with respect to the use of the words "the bonds then outstanding", "all bonds then outstanding", and "all bonds outstanding".

By the Commission.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATIONS OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

RESTRICTED PRIORITIES ASSISTANCE FOR NON-MILITARY PURPOSES

§ 944.49 Priorities Regulation 28—(a) What this regulation does. As a result of victory over Japan, military procurement has been drastically reduced. The supply of materials for non-military use is expected to increase rapidly so as to be generally adequate to meet all demands. There is consequently no further need for general priorities assistance for essential non-military needs, and WPB has announced the termination of AA ratings and the Controlled Materials Plan at the end of September. It is WPB's general policy not to grant further priorities assistance for non-military purposes. However, WPB is introducing a new non-extendible CC rating for limited priorities assistance, where required in individual cases to assist reconversion or insure the continued fulfillment of essential civilian or export needs. This includes preference ratings for all purposes other than military procurement including production, construction; capital equipment, maintenance, repair, operating supplies, and export materials. This regulation explains the conditions under which WPB will assign the CC rating.

(b) Other procedures for assigning ratings replaced. Preference ratings for non-military purposes will be assigned from now on only in the way and under the conditions described in this regulation which supersedes previous procedures.

(c) Applications—(1) How to apply for a CC rating. Ordinarily, application for a CC rating under this regulation will be made on Form WPB-541A (revised) at your local field office. In a few cases, WPB may announce that a form other than WPB-541A (revised) may be provided. For instance, applications for textiles and related items for certain end uses should be made as explained in the orders in the M-317 series, and the M-328 series, and their schedules and directions.

(2) WPB will return applications now on hand. Since the surrender of Japan will make priorities assistance generally unnecessary, WPB will not process applications for preference ratings and allotments of controlled materials which have already been filed under old procedures, but will return them without action, except those requiring immediate emergency assistance. If you still need a preference rating, and if you can meet the conditions described in this regulation, you may file again.

(d) When the WPB may assign a CC rating. It is the general policy of the WPB not to grant further priorities assistance for non-military purposes. However, the WPB may in limited cases grant CC preference ratings for specific items and quantities of materials or equipment under the following conditions:

(1) The applicant is not able, without preference rating assistance, to get the item in the minimum quantity and on the latest date practicable, and the item is required for at least one of the following reasons:

(i) In cases other than capital equipment or construction, it is a bottleneck item, a great majority of materials being obtainable without priorities assistance, and it is needed to maintain or begin operations in a plant at the minimum economic rate, or

(ii) The item is needed to prevent a delay in the completion on time of military production or construction, or

(iii) The item is needed to sustain or increase production of an item or a service which WPB has determined is in such tight supply that it is a serious threat to the economy (do not apply for a CC rating on this ground unless your product has been declared critical by a direction to this regulation or other formal action of WPB), or

(iv) The item is needed to eliminate serious hazard to life, health, or safety of a large number of people, or to maintain essential public or other community services, or

(v) The item is needed to replace an item which has been destroyed by flood, fire, tornado, or other act of God, and the item is essential to the continued operation of the plant, facility, service, or the item is to be used on a farm, or

(vi) The item is needed for construction on a home to be occupied by a World War II veteran; and the application is made by the veteran. (In such cases, priorities assistance will be granted without a showing that the veteran is unable to get other suitable accommodations in accordance with the policy established by Congress in the Independent Offices Appropriation Act of 1946. Priorities assistance will be given to veterans who need it for other purposes if they meet the other conditions described in this paragraph (d).) or

(vii) In the case of machinery and equipment, other than as provided above, the item is essential to the continued operation of the plant, facility, or service, and is needed in an emergency to replace equipment which is actually broken down and is not repairable, or to replace equipment which has been condemned by public authority or by insurance underwriters as unsafe, which is not repairable and must be replaced under requirements of law or insurance contracts; or the item is a "bottleneck item", most of the equipment being present or obtainable without priorities assistance, and it is needed to maintain or begin operations in a plant at the minimum economic rate, or

(viii) In the case of construction, other than veterans' homes under (d) (1) (vi), the material or item is a bottleneck item, a great majority of materials being obtainable without priorities assistance, and it is needed to complete construction required for reconversion or other essential needs, or

(ix) The item is a repair part needed to prevent imminent breakdown of equipment which is essential to the continued operation of the plant, facility or service, or

(x) The item is needed to incorporate into a product to be delivered on a CC rating; and the item is not on hand or available on order, or

NOTE: Subdivision (xi) formerly subdivision (vii), redesignated Oct. 25, 1945.

(xi) Where for other reasons, failure to obtain delivery of the item would result in unreasonable and exceptional hardship.

(2) Special consideration will be given to the needs of small business.

(3) WPB will not grant a CC rating in cases where it would preempt an undue proportion of the limited amounts available. If a material is in such short supply that it is generally hard to obtain, WPB may provide other procedures rather than a rating under this regulation.

(4) In addition to the above, CC ratings may be granted for textile and related items for certain uses as provided in orders in the M-317 series and the M-328 series, and their schedules and directions.

NOTE: Paragraph (e), formerly paragraph (f), redesignated Oct. 25, 1945.

(e) CC ratings for export—(1) In general. In the case of materials for export (other than those textiles and related items referred to in paragraph (f) (2) below), applications from Canada will be handled on the same basis as United States applications. In the case of other exports, WPB will assign a CC rating to materials where it is demonstrated that a rating is necessary for procurement of materials in this country to prevent serious injury to the minimum essential civilian economies of friendly foreign nations or to obtain vitally needed supplies from foreign sources, or for other reasons of high public policy. Applications for such rating should be made to the Foreign Economic Administration on the forms prescribed by that agency.

(2) Certain textiles and related items. For exports, including shipments to Canada, of cotton broad woven fabrics for which set-asides are provided in the distribution schedules of Order M-317A, seine twine, fish netting, and cotton yarn, CC ratings may be granted, on specific applications only, to the extent of the export programs fixed by the WPB. Applications for such rating should be made to the Foreign Economic Administration, on the forms prescribed by that agency; except that for shipments to Canada applications should be filed with the Cotton Administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and will be acted on by the WPB.

Issued this 25th day of October 1945.

[Priorities Reg. 28, Direction 1]

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR ASSIGNMENT OF CC RATINGS IN ORDER TO INCREASE PRODUCTION OF COAL

The following direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 28:

(a) The supply of coal in the area east of the Mississippi river is substantially less than present and anticipated requirements; and this shortage is so serious as to threaten the economy of the country during the reconversion period. Consequently, WPB will assign CC ratings as provided in paragraph (d) (1) (iii) of Priorities Regulation 28 in accordance with the conditions of this direction when necessary to maintain or increase production of coal.

(b) Producers of coal—(1) Capital equipment. CC ratings may be assigned to producers of coal located in the area east of the Mississippi river for their purchase of capital equipment, other than coal mining machinery controlled by Order L-269, where the producer is unable to obtain delivery without a rating, and

(i) The equipment will result in a substantial increase in production, or

(ii) The equipment is needed to replace present operating equipment which is in danger of imminent breakdown. CC ratings will not be assigned to the delivery of mining equipment controlled by Order L-269. The WPB will schedule machinery controlled by that order so as to obtain maximum production of coal.

(2) Construction. CC ratings may be assigned for materials required for construction at present mines east of the Mississippi river where the operator shows he cannot obtain delivery without a rating and the construction is necessary to prevent a loss in production or will result in increased production. CC ratings for other construction will be assigned under Priorities Regulation 28.

(3) Maintenance, repair, and operating supplies. CC ratings may be assigned for maintenance, repair, and operating supplies needed by operators where the operator demonstrates that he is unable to obtain the item without priorities assistance. However, CC ratings will be assigned for special repair parts for mining machinery controlled by Order L-269 only where the repair part is essential for the continued operation of the mine, and then only where it will not interfere with delivery of mining machinery for more essential purposes.

(c) Manufacturers of mining machinery under L-269—(1) Production materials. CC ratings may be assigned for production materials to manufacturers of mining machinery controlled by Order L-269 where the manufacturer demonstrates that he is unable without a rating to obtain delivery of the minimum amount at the latest date required to maintain production of mining machinery.

(2) Capital equipment and MRO. CC ratings for capital equipment and MRO for the machinery manufacturer will be assigned only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28.

(d) Denials of CC ratings. The CC rating will be denied where it appears that the item for which the CC rating is requested is available, but under different terms of sale or from a supplier other than the applicant's customary supplier.

(e) PR-28 still applies. In any case not covered by the above, CC ratings will be assigned only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28.

[Priorities Reg. 28, Direction 2]

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR ASSIGNMENT OF CC RATINGS IN ORDER TO INCREASE MANUFACTURE OF CLAY BUILDING PRODUCTS

The following direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 28:

(a) The supply of clay building products (brick (common and face), structural tile, and clay sewer pipe) is substantially less than present and anticipated requirements; and this shortage is so serious as to threaten the required expansion in construction. This shortage is therefore a serious threat to the economy of the country during the reconversion period. Consequently, WPB will assign CC ratings as provided in paragraph (d) (1) (iii) of Priorities Regulation 28 in accordance with the conditions of this direction where necessary to maintain or expand the production of clay building products as provided in this direction.

(b) Manufacturers of clay building products—(1) Capital equipment. CC ratings may be assigned to manufacturers of clay building products (brick (common and face), structural tile and clay sewer pipe) for capital equipment other than "special machinery" where the manufacturer is unable to obtain delivery without a rating, and:

(i) The equipment will result in a substantial increase in production, or

(ii) The equipment is needed to replace present operating equipment which is in danger of imminent breakdown. CC ratings may be assigned to the delivery of "special" machinery only under the provisions of Priorities Regulation 28.

(2) Construction. CC ratings may be assigned for materials which cannot be obtained without ratings, and where required for construction of new plants and expansion of existing plants. However, CC ratings will not be assigned for construction in areas where other clay product facilities are curtailed due to lack of labor unless the applicant can demonstrate that he will operate the new facility without increased manpower requirements. In other areas, CC ratings will be assigned for construction materials only under the conditions of Priorities Regulation 28.

(3) Production materials and MRO. CC ratings may be assigned for production materials and MRO needed by clay product manufacturers where the manufacturer demonstrates that he is unable to obtain the item without priorities assistance, but regardless of whether the item is needed to maintain minimum economic production in the plant.

(c) Manufacturers of "special" clay product machinery—(1) Production materials. CC ratings may be assigned to manufacturers of "special" clay product machinery for production materials where the manufacturer of the clay product machinery demonstrates that he is unable to obtain delivery of the minimum amount at the latest date without a rating.

(2) Capital equipment and MRO. CC ratings for capital equipment and MRO for the machinery manufacturer will be assigned only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28.

(3) Meaning of "special" clay product machinery. Special clay product machinery as used in this paragraph and in paragraph (b) (1) means machinery and equipment of a general type designed solely for the production of clay products and useful only for that purpose (such as de-airing machines, extrusion heads, clay grinders and pulverizers and brick presses), but does not include general types of equipment suitable for other use even though a particular piece of equipment is designed and built expressly for the clay products manufacturer (e. g., an electric motor built by a motor manufacturer specially for a brick manufacturer).

(d) Denials of CC ratings. The CC rating will be denied where it appears that the item for which a CC rating will be used is available, but under different terms of sale or from a supplier other than the applicant's customary supplier.

(e) PR-28 still applies. In any case not covered by the above, CC ratings will be assigned only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR ASSIGNMENT OF CC RATINGS IN ORDER TO INCREASE PRODUCTION OF STREPTOMYCIN

The following direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 28:

(a) Production of streptomycin is substantially below minimum requirements and the increased production of this drug for military and civilian use is important in the treatment of certain serious diseases. Consequently, WPB will assign CC ratings as provided in paragraph (d) (1) (iii) of Priorities Regulation 28 in accordance with the conditions of this direction where necessary to expand the production of streptomycin.

(b) Producers of streptomycin—(1) Capital equipment and construction. Generally, approved construction projects for the production of streptomycin have been assigned MM preference ratings, consequently CC ratings will not be assigned.

(2) Production materials and MRO. CC ratings may be assigned for production materials and MRO needed by producers of streptomycin where the producer demonstrates that he is unable to obtain the item without priorities assistance.

(c) Builders of streptomycin projects. CC ratings will be assigned to persons engaged in building streptomycin plants for capital equipment and MRO required to complete the construction on time where the builder demonstrates that he is unable to obtain essential machinery, equipment or supplies without the use of ratings.

(d) PR-28 still applies. In any case not covered by the above, CC ratings will be assigned only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28.

[Priorities Reg. 28, Direction 4]

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR ASSIGNMENT OF CC RATINGS IN ORDER TO INCREASE PRODUCTION OF MALLEABLE IRON CASTINGS AND GREY IRON CASTINGS, INCLUDING CAST IRON SOIL PIPE

The following direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 28:

(a) The supply of malleable iron castings and grey iron castings, including cast iron soil pipe, is substantially less than present and anticipated requirements; and this shortage is so serious as to threaten increased production of peacetime products. This shortage is therefore a serious threat to the economy of the country during the reconversion period. Consequently, WPB will assign CC ratings as provided in paragraph (d) (1) (iii) of Priorities Regulation 28 in accordance with the conditions of this direction where necessary to maintain or expand the production of malleable iron castings and grey iron castings, including cast iron soil pipe.

(b) Producers of castings—(1) Capital equipment. CC ratings may be assigned to producers of malleable iron castings and grey iron castings, including cast iron soil pipe for their purchase of capital equipment where the producer is unable to obtain delivery without a rating, and

(i) The equipment will result in a substantial increase in production, or

(ii) The equipment is needed to replace present operating equipment which is in danger of imminent breakdown.

(2) Construction. CC ratings may be assigned for materials which cannot be obtained without ratings, and where required for construction of new foundries or expansion or modernization of existing foundries where increased production will result. However, CC ratings will not be assigned for construction in areas where other foundries in the same area are curtailed due to lack of labor, unless the applicant can demonstrate that he will operate the new facility without increase in labor requirements. In other cases, CC ratings will be assigned for construction materials only under the conditions of Priorities Regulation 28.

(3) Production materials and MRO. CC ratings may be assigned for production materials and MRO needed by foundries where the foundry demonstrates that it is unable to obtain the item without priorities assistance and regardless of whether the item is needed to maintain minimum economic production in the foundry.

(d) Denials of CC ratings. The CC rating will be denied where it appears that the item for which a CC rating will be used is available, but under different terms of sale or from a supplier other than the applicant's customary supplier.

(e) Definition. The term "foundry" as used in this direction includes any producer of malleable iron castings or grey iron castings, including cast iron soil pipe.

(f) PR 28 still applies. In any case not covered by the above, CC ratings will be assigned only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28.

PART 1315—RUBBER AND PRODUCTS AND MATERIALS OF WHICH RUBBER IS A COMPONENT

[MPR 220, Amdt. 24]

CERTAIN RUBBER COMMODITIES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 220 is amended in the following respects:

1. A new section designated § 1315.1557g is added to read as follows:

§ 1315.1557g Maximum manufacturers' prices for cements—(a) Applicability of this section. (1) This section and not §§ 1315.1553 to 1315.1557, inclusive, establishes maximum prices for sales by manufacturers of cements and adhesives made in whole or in part of rubber, synthetic rubber, or substitute rubber and pyroxylin base cements and adhesives. This regulation does not apply to tire and tube repair cements or to cements and adhesives made of vegetable and animal material other than natural rubber, synthetic rubber or substitute rubber, such as starch, casein, and glue.

(2) The maximum prices for all cements and adhesives covered by this section which were established prior to October 30, 1945, by this regulation or any other regulation or by any order of the Office of Price Administration (except those previously priced by order of the Office of Price Administration under § 1315.1558 of this regulation) shall be re-established in accordance with paragraph (c) and thereafter redetermined in accordance with paragraph (d) of this § 1315.1557g, or in accordance with paragraph (g) if their maximum prices cannot be re-established under paragraphs (c) and (d).

(b) Maximum prices. The maximum price for a sale by a manufacturer of a cement or adhesive covered by this section (except the first $50.00 of sales of a new commodity covered by this section which is made experimentally in a laboratory and not by ordinary production methods) shall be the sum total of direct labor and materials costs, waste and gross margin, computed in accordance with paragraph (c).

(c) Computation of the maximum price—(1) Direct labor costs. Direct labor costs shall be those labor costs which were treated as such in the manufacturer's accounting system in effect on March 1, 1942, and shall be determined by multiplying the estimated number of hours of each type of labor required in the manufacture of the commodity being priced by the highest wage rate in effect in the manufacturer's plant during March 1942 for that type of labor. If the manufacturer did not employ a given class of labor during March 1942, he shall use the wage rate paid during March 1942 by the nearest employer operating under comparable conditions who employed that class of labor during that period.

(2) Direct materials costs. Direct materials costs shall be those materials costs which were treated as such in the manufacturer's accounting system in effect on March 1, 1942, and shall be determined by multiplying the estimated quantity of each type of material required in the manufacture of the commodity being priced by the following material prices:

(i) For synthetic rubber, the manufacturer shall use the net price, not to exceed the maximum price, for the material in effect to him on the date on which he calculates his maximum price, or the price which was in effect to him on August 1, 1943, whichever is lower.

(ii) For all other materials, the manufacturer shall use the highest net materials prices in effect to him, or, if no price was in effect to him, the highest net materials price in effect to a purchaser of the same class as the manufacturer, during March 1942, or the current price, whichever is lower. If there was no March 1942 price of any such material, the materials cost to be used in determining the maximum price shall be the first ascertainable net price (not exceeding the maximum price) in effect to the manufacturer after March 31, 1942, or the current price, whichever is lower.

(3) Waste. Waste costs shall be determined by applying the same methods as were used by the manufacturer in similar production in March 1942 adjusted to reflect the estimated quantity of waste in the production of the cement or adhesive being priced.

(4) Gross margin. Gross margin, other than waste, shall be calculated by the methods and rates used by the manufacturer on March 1, 1942, for his sales of the type of cement or adhesive being priced. These methods and rates shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (f) of this section.

(d) Recomputation of the maximum price. If a cement or adhesive priced under paragraph (c) is produced or supplied by the manufacturer for a period of two months after being priced, its maximum price shall be redetermined by substituting actual labor hours and actual quantity of materials for the estimated hours and estimated quantity of materials used in the original computation of the maximum price. This redetermination of the maximum price shall be made between sixty and seventy-five days after the manufacturer begins production of the commodity which he has priced under paragraph (c). If the manufacturer's production experience during the first two months of production is inadequate to determine his costs accurately, he may request and receive approval from the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for a further period for recomputation. This request must be made at the time set forth above for the first recomputation.

(e) Maximum price for the first $50.00 of sales of a commodity made in the laboratory. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section the manufacturer's maximum price for the first $50.00 of sales of a new commodity covered by this section which is made experimentally in a laboratory and not by ordinary production methods shall be any price therefor agreed upon by the manufacturer and the purchaser. Paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) shall apply to all sales in excess of the first $50.00 of sales.

(f) Reports. On or before November 30, 1945, every manufacturer subject to the provisions of this section shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.:

(1) The price determining methods and rates in effect in each of his plants on March 1, 1942, for the determination of gross margin on cements.

(2) All cash, trade and quantity discounts, freight allowances and all other discounts and allowances and differentials in effect in each of his plants on March 1, 1942, for sales of the commodities priced by this section to each class of purchaser.

(g) Cements which cannot be priced under paragraphs (b) and (c). A manufacturer's maximum price for cements and adhesives covered by this section which cannot be established under paragraphs (b) and (c) or under paragraph (e) of this section, shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of § 1315.1558.

2. A new section designated § 1315.1559b is added to read as follows:

§ 1315.1559b Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets or stock in trade are sold or otherwise transferred after March 31, 1942, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of commodities or services, in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the maximum prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the record provisions of this regulation.

3. Section 1315.1567 is amended in the following respects:

a. A new paragraph designated (b) is added to read as follows:

(b) The following items when made of sheet rubber or sheeted resin: (1) baby pants, (2) crib sheets, (3) diaper covers, (4) hospital sheeting.

This amendment shall become effective October 30, 1945.

PART 1426—WOOD PRESERVATION AND PRIMARY FOREST PRODUCTS

[MPR 559,[1] Amdt. 3]

EASTERN POLES AND PILING

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 559 is amended in the following respects:

1. In section 2 (d) Definitions, subparagraph (3) is redesignated subparagraph (4) and a new subparagraph (3) is inserted to read:

(3) The term "stabilization poles and piling" means any round peeled or unpeeled section of a tree of any species, which is shorter than 14 ft. and is not to be used as fence posts.

2. Note 3 applying to Tables 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 in section 14 is amended to read as follows:

3. Orders calling for a specific quantity of any length are specified single length orders for that quantity, and an addition of $0.02 per lin. ft. may be made on shipments against such orders.

On all orders for specified length groups, the average of a specified length group (for example, 20' to 30') shipped against the order may not deviate from the average of the length ordered (25') more than 25 percent of the length spread in the group ordered (25 percent of a 10' spread is 2½'). In the example given, the average shipped must be between 22½ ft. and 27½ ft. long.

(a) For specified length groups of one diameter size and 20 ft. or more spread in length: No addition.

(b) For specified length groups of one diameter size and over 10 ft. but less than 20 ft. spread in length: Add $0.005 per lin. ft.

(c) For specified length groups of one diameter size and over 5 ft. but less than 11 ft. spread in length: For example, 48 ft. to 53 ft.—Add $0.01 per lin. ft.

(d) For specified length groups of one diameter size and not over 5 ft. spread in length: For example, 64', 65', 66', 67', 68'—Add $0.015 per lin. ft.

(e) On all orders for specified length groups where the average of the lengths actually shipped deviates from the average of the group ordered by more than 25 per cent of the difference between the shortest and longest lengths in the group ordered: No addition.

For random length orders, where the purchaser specifies restricted loading, and the seller loads in length groups (b), (c) or (d) above, the seller may add two-thirds of the proper specified length group addition.

3. A new section 15 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 15. Addition for less than carload quantity sales. (a) On sales by concentration yards, treating plant yards and distribution yards out of regular yard stock in less than carload quantities as established by railroad tariffs, where the invoice value at the maximum prices for the untreated poles or other round materials does not exceed $175.00 on items 50 ft. and shorter, or $250.00 where 50 per cent of the items are more than 50 ft. in length, the seller may add to the maximum prices set by this regulation a service charge of not more than 25 per cent of the total invoice value of the untreated or non-pressure preservative treated material. This percentage addition may be made only to the maximum price of the item sold, including any non-pressure and framing additions. No percentage addition may be made to the permissible transportation charges, which must not exceed those permitted in section 4 for transportation from the point of origin to the concentration, distribution or treating yard from which the sale is made. The percentage addition may be made only on sales f. o. b. seller's yard, with outbound transportation for the buyer's account.

(b) The percentage addition provided in the preceding paragraph for less than carload sales may not be applied where the material is to be resold as a pressure treated product under the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation 491.

4. Items (5) and (6), reading as follows, are added to paragraph (b) in section 11:

(5) Making the less than carload quantity sales additions when the sale is by a producer who does not operate a yard, or when the sale is not made out of stock which has been handled through a concentration, treating plant, or distribution yard in the regular course of business.

(6) Splitting up a single transaction or order into a series of smaller transactions or orders, where the total quantity involved exceeds in price the maximum prices set forth in section 15, in order to receive the benefit of the less than carload quantity sales addition provided in that section.

This amendment shall become effective October 30, 1945.

Production and Marketing Administration.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT ON HANDLING OF MILK

Notice of report and opportunity to file written exceptions with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and to a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Columbus, Ohio, marketing area.

Pursuant to the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders, as amended (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 900.1 et seq., 10 F.R. 11791), notice is hereby given of the filing with the hearing clerk of the report of the Assistant Administrator for Regulatory and Marketing Service Matters, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Columbus, Ohio, marketing area, to be made effective pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). Interested parties may file exceptions to this report with the Hearing Clerk, Office of the Solicitor, Room 1331, South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business on the 20th day after the publication of this report in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

The public hearing, on the record of which the proposed marketing agreement and the proposed order were formulated, was initiated by the Office of Marketing Services, War Food Administration (now Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture), following receipt of a petition filed by The Central Ohio Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc., and was held at Columbus, Ohio, January 23–30, 1945, following an original notice of hearing dated November 13, 1944, a postponement notice dated December 5, 1944, and an amended notice dated January 19, 1945. A notice of reopening was issued May 22, 1945, and the hearing was reopened June 20–22, 1945, for additional evidence.

The major issues developed at the hearing were concerned with: (1) Whether milk produced for the Columbus fluid milk market is in the current of interstate commerce or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk or its products; (2) whether marketing conditions justify the issuance of an order; (3) the proper size of the marketing area; (4) the definitions of "producer" and "handler"; (5) the classification of producer milk; (6) the level of class prices to be paid and the method for determining such prices; and (7) the type of pool to be employed.

The conclusions reached with respect to these issues, together with some of the supporting reasons for such conclusions are set forth below:

(a) Milk to be regulated under the proposed marketing agreement and order is in the current of interstate commerce or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk or its products.

The production of milk is among the largest of agricultural enterprises and is followed in varying degrees in every State. Of the total quantity of milk produced in the United States, over 50 percent is sold as fluid milk and fluid cream, largely through local markets.[1] This percentage emphasizes the importance of fluid milk markets to the welfare of the dairy industry as a whole.

Although individual fluid milk markets vary as to size, price plans, and health standards applicable to milk and milk products sold locally, they constitute, nevertheless, integral parts of a larger market for milk, and thus affect in varying degrees, depending upon relative market locations, the quantities and prices of milk in other fluid milk markets or that channeled into the manufacture of milk products over wide areas. Fluctuations in the consumption of fluid milk in any sizable urban market have reciprocal effects upon the amount of milk separated for cream or used for the manufacture of milk products in the vicinity of the market. This, in turn, has direct repercussions on the amounts of milk products moved to the local market from other areas or on the amounts moved from the local market or its vicinity to other areas. The failure of any sizeable fluid milk market to establish and maintain orderly marketing conditions with producer prices reflecting normal competitive circumstances makes available for manufacture into milk products a greater quantity of milk than would ordinarily be so marketed.

Although the administrative methods employed for bringing about better returns to dairy farmers and stability within the different branches of the dairy industry have varied, it has been consistently the purpose to coordinate the individual programs in such a way as to bring about general improvement for all segments of the industry. Because of the differences in, and the complexity of, the marketing systems for milk and its products, it has not been feasible to employ a single or uniform kind of program to deal with the entire dairy problem. Instead complementary programs of adjustment have been used.

In 1933, with the passage of the agricultural adjustment legislation, marketing agreements and licenses (superseded by marketing agreements and orders) were approved, along with production control and benefit payments, by the Congress as an integral part of the overall agricultural adjustment program.

It was early recognized in the administration of the adjustment program that the marketing agreement and order type of regulation offered great possibilities for bringing orderly marketing conditions to certain parts of the dairy industry. It has been considered particularly adaptable to fluid milk markets because the differences occurring among markets or regions in the marketing of fluid milk make it feasible to regulate fluid milk markets individually and because it makes use of the different mechanisms of price-making already familiar in principle to such markets. It has been employed also on a nation-wide basis with respect to evaporated milk and nonfat dry milk solids. Other complementary programs such as subsidies, central market price supports, production adjustment, and surplus removal have been employed where they could be used with greater facility.

Since over 50 percent of all milk produced in the United States is delivered to fluid milk markets, it is obvious that no comprehensive program for the dairy industry as a whole may ignore such markets. It has been envisaged over a long period that an harmonious adjustment of prices should be attained between fluid milk markets one to another, and between fluid milk markets generally and manufacturing milk markets as part of any program seeking to improve the economic position of all dairymen. Stabilization in fluid milk markets is necessary not only because of the immediate marketing difficulties which may be present in such communities but also because of the effect which disorderly marketing conditions there have upon the supplies and prices of milk disposed of for manufacture into milk products and upon supplies and prices in other urban markets. Instability in any sizeable fluid milk market results in price repercussions with respect to milk for other uses, creating unnecessary costs affecting dairymen producing within geographic reach of the particular fluid milk market and contributing materially to a general decline of milk prices to all dairymen. Therefore, it has been envisaged that a systematic price pattern should be attained as part of any program seeking to improve the economic position of all dairymen and that such a systematic price structure would be seriously hampered if markets, such as Columbus, Ohio, having their respective milksheds within a single State had to be considered outside of the sphere of specific regulation.

With this in mind marketing agreement and license programs were issued in 1933 and 1934 in a large number of fluid milk markets, many of which secured their respective supplies from milksheds located within a single State. Although these latter programs have been terminated, those which were in effect at the time of the passage by Congress of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, were ratified and affirmed by such act. Marketing agreements or orders have not been issued in every sizeable fluid milk market but they have been promulgated from time to time upon a showing that marketing conditions could be improved by such means.

Prices paid to producers for fluid milk used for fluid purposes are closely related to prices paid dairymen for milk used in the production of manufactured milk products. This results principally from the interchangeability of the supplies of milk for fluid distribution and of milk for manufacturing purposes, and because the milk produced for each outlet is subject to many of the same economic factors peculiar to the production and marketing of milk and milk products. Such relationships are especially pronounced in areas where milk is produced in quantity for both types of outlet, or where a portion of the milk produced for the fluid milk market actually is disposed of in the manufacture of milk products as the result of surpluses. Such close relationships are further illustrated by the fact that fluid milk markets have long used butter and cheese quotations, or condensery prices, as a basis for establishing fluid milk prices and butterfat differentials. Likewise, the "use classification" principle has been widely used in fluid milk markets because milk not needed for fluid use must compete with uninspected milk. The use of surplus inspected milk in the manufacture of milk products brings it into direct competition with similar products made from uninspected or manufacturing milk and requires pricing in line with that for the manufacturing milk. This principle has been recognized as necessary under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 with the pricing of surplus milk in regulated fluid milk markets in reference to the market prices of manufactured milk products or to the prices paid dairymen for milk utilized in such products.

The presence of a sizeable fluid milk market in a manufacturing milk area casts an economic shadow on the manufactured milk market which may be felt in different ways under varying economic conditions.

If an adequate supply of fluid milk is to be assured in any fluid milk market having quality standards which are higher than for milk used for manufacturing purposes, the prices paid producers must be sufficient, over a period of time, to create the incentive and to cover additional costs necessary to produce the quality and quantity of milk required by the community. An abnormally wide differential between the price of fluid milk and the price of milk for manufacturing purposes will cause dairymen to leave the market for manufacturing milk in favor of the fluid milk market. A differential which is too narrow will cause a reverse movement of supply.

The intimate relationship of the farm prices of milk for these respective outlets is of particular concern to all dairy farmers, particularly in times of surplus production, whether caused by declining demand or heavier production. In periods of plentiful supplies there is a strong incentive for destructive competition and price-cutting in fluid milk markets, at both the purchase and resale levels, with a consequent reduction in the producer price to a level lower than that justified by the local demand for fluid milk and fluid cream. These practices are encouraged by lack of uniformity in the cost of milk. They are usually found to exist in markets where producers are not paid on the basis of "use classification" and tend to depress prices for all milk produced in the area to a greater degree than the actual demand and supply situation would compel. The prices paid dairymen by manufacturing plants fluctuate within rather well defined price ranges. The upper limit of such ranges is determined primarily by returns from the sale of the products manufactured, the selling prices of which must be set with reference to national market prices, and the lower limit is determined by the degree of competition met in securing milk supplies. Therefore, a descent of prices in the fluid milk market results in an adverse effect on prices to dairymen delivering milk to manufacturing plants in the area since many producers of inspected milk become dissatisfied and there becomes immediately available to the manufacturing outlet a substantial portion of the fluid milk supply. This provides an incentive for the manufacturer to reduce the price paid for his total supply even though there may have been no reduction in the prices which he receives for his products in the national markets. As a result of increased supplies of milk available for manufactured dairy products made in the local area, there will be a depressing effect on the national markets for such manufactured dairy products which, in turn, will be reflected in lower prices to dairymen supplying other manufacturing plants and fluid milk markets.[2]

The Columbus fluid milk market although having its milkshed within Ohio, is geographically located so as to cause a substantial effect upon milk used for manufacturing purposes and thus to affect interstate commerce in milk or its products. Ohio is one of the leading States in milk production. Cash receipts to farmers in the State from dairying rank high among farm enterprises, and in 1938 amounted to $70,000,000 or 22.2 percent of all cash receipts from farm marketings. In 1943 the total cash receipts to farmers from dairying in this State amounted to about $136,000,000 or 19.4 percent of the total cash receipts from all marketings. With a total of 1,077,000 milk cows and a production of 4,976,000,000 pounds of milk in 1943, Ohio ranked eighth in milk production among the 48 States. Almost 700,000,000 pounds of this volume was used on the farms or made into farm butter. Approximately 55 percent of the milk and cream sold off Ohio farms was used in making creamery butter, cheese, evaporated milk, ice cream, and other manufactured dairy products. About 45 percent was consumed by the non-farm population as fluid milk or fluid cream. In the production of butter, cheese, dried whole milk, nonfat dry milk solids, and evaporated milk, Ohio ranked among the States as follows in 1943: butter—9th; cheese—11th; dried whole milk—4th; nonfat dry milk solids—7th; and evaporated milk—2d. Large quantities of milk products are shipped from Ohio to other States.[3]

The close price relationships between fluid milk and the various milk products existing on a national basis also prevail within the State of Ohio and the effects of fluid markets on manufacturing milk outlets in Ohio are similar to those occurring generally over the country as prices for the two disposal channels change relatively to each other.[4]

The cow population in the Columbus milkshed is heavy and dairying is a main contributor to gross farm income. Most of the milk produced in the milkshed is marketed (1) as whole milk to fluid milk handlers in Columbus (this milk would be regulated under the order proposed in this report), (2) as whole milk to manufacturing plants (Minimum prices to dairymen supplying milk to evaporated milk plants in the vicinity of Columbus, Ohio, and elsewhere are established pursuant to the Marketing Agreement and License for the Evaporated Milk Industry which became effective June 1, 1935. Returns to dairymen for milk used for other manufacturing purposes are supported by controls at central markets and by other Government programs), and (3) as farm separated cream to butter manufacturers, the skim milk being retained on the farm for animal feed (Returns to dairymen supplying cream to butter plants are supported by programs similar to those for whole milk used for other manufacture milk products. The area from which Columbus draws its fluid milk supply of 140,000,000 pounds annually includes all or parts of Champaign, Clark, Delaware, Fayette, Fairfield, Franklin, Knox, Licking, Logan, Madison, Marion, Morrow, Perry, Pickaway, and Union Counties, all in the State of Ohio. The farms of producers delivering milk for fluid use in Columbus are interspersed among those of other dairymen who supply whole milk to manufacturing plants or cream to butter manufacturers. In many instances milk is hauled to Columbus fluid milk plants and to manufacturing plants on the same trucks.[5]
